A decision was handed down by the Supreme Court last week affirming the famous case of Raymond vs. Flavel, de-cided by the lower court in favor of the defendant some time ago. This case in volves the title to a large tract of land now included within the city limits of Flavel, and the opinion of the Supreme Court confirms the title of the Flavel estate, which was attacked by the plaintiff, Raymond. C. W. Fulton represented the Flavel heirs, and both he and his clients are being congratulated on the favorable termination of the case.

At Chicago, in connection with the State and municipality, it has already brought peace out of the condition of war which prevailed last week. At San Francisco, Sacramento and Washington, where the unruly are creating havoc, it has let loose the dogs of war in token of its intention to have and Washington, where the unruly are creating havoc, it has let loose the dogs of war in token of its intention to have peace, even if it has to fight for it. In this city the military arm has accom-plished its purpose; the judicial arm has taken up the orderly course of its duties, which include the fixing upon the guilty parties the measure of their crime and the fitting of the punishments thereto.
The first step in this procedure was the assembling of the Federal grand jury and the delivery of a charge to it by Judge Grosscup.

That it is the intention of the national authorities not to be turned aside from an exhaustive inquiry into the questions which it has undertaken to pass upon which it has undertaken to pass upon by mere technicalities was evinced at the outset by the brusqueness by which it swept aside the plea of privacy and privilege which the Western Union Telegraph Company, with a due regard for the privacy of the messages of its clients, was forced to put in, when the jury called for the messages from President Debs to the members of his order which had been transmitted over its lines. The court held that public safety was paramount to private right, and so ordered that the dispatches be produced. That it is the intention of the government not to be too long about the work in hand was shown by the fact that the footsteps of the telegraph official who brought the was shown by the fact that the lootsteps of the telegraph official who brought the dispatches had scarcely ceased to echo along the corridors leading to the grand jury room when the body filed into court and announced it had found a true bill of indictment. Pending the arrest Washington, July 10.—The naval ap- of the persons thus put under indict-Washington, July 10.—The naval appropriation bill was passed in the Senall its conclusions from the premises and ate to-day with very little friction or such preliminary data as it had at hand, delay. There was one amendment of-

to-day's dispatches were almost uniform in tenor to the effect that normal conditions had already been restored, or that they were rapidly approaching that state, and there seems to be no reason at this writing to suppose that the progress to-wards a complete resumption of trade and traffic will meet with any serious check as the coming days shall succeed each other. In other words, it does not seem possible, with all the forces of law and order, as now arrayed, with their leader put to his own defense at the bar of justice; with their ranks beginning to be depleted by desertions, and with the strain which they have already endured, that the American Railway Union can rally its forces for a struggle which must needs be long and discouraging at best. Apparently, therefore, their only hope of final triumph lies in aid which they hope to get from union labor outside of their organization. As this is being written, the order for all classes of labor in Chicago to go on strike to-morrow morning is being promulgated, and it is said that that of Grand Master Workman Sovereign of the Knights of Labor, calling on all members to strike and all who sympathize with Pullman strikers all over the country to come out with them, is expected to follow quickly. How generally the order will be obeyed is problematical. To a great extent the effect has already been discounted by the stagnation of business, and it is known that some of the longest heads among the labor leaders believe the action has been postponed too long to be effective. At sunset the nation will probably know whether the situation is one of crisis or collapse.

WHAT SOVEREIGN SAVS.

Text of the Manifesto to the National Knights of Labor.

CHICAGO, July 11 .- The manifesto of General Master Workman Sovereign to the Knights of Labor was issued to-night. It is as follows: "Chicago, Ill., July 10, 1894. To the Knights of Labor of America - Greeting: A crisis has been reached in the affairs of this nation that endangers the peace of the Republic. Every fiber in our civil structure is strained to the breaking point. The shadow of factional hatred hovers over our fair land with terrible forebodings. The arrogant lash of superiority is being CHICAGO, July 11.—Slowly but stead- applied by the corporations with relentless fury, and the chasm between the ing out of the recent strike of the Pullman palace car employes; and you are further requested not to return to your usual vocations until a settlement of the pending troubles is made known to you through some authentic source.

"In the present strained relations between corporations and their empoyes is involved a principle near and dear to all true American citizens—the right of labor to present its grievances to owners and representatives of corporations and capital. The Pullman Palace Car Company refuses to arbitrate the differences between itself and its employes on the ground that cars were built below cost, and, therefore, there is nothing to arbitrate. But the conclusion of every un-prejudiced mind must be that, if such were the facts, it could have nothing to fear at the hands of an arbitration com-mittee. But the Pullman Company goes further in its autocratic policy than a refusal to arbitrate. It has refused to join with the business men and the Board of Aldermen of Chicago in a committee to discuss the question as to whether there is anything to arbitrate or not, and behind this autocratic policy stands the General Managers' Association of the railway corporations, backed by the United States, as the aiders and abettors of this social crime.

"Suppose the Pullman Company had invited organized labor to arbitrate and organized labor had declined the invitation and refused to discuss the question as to whether there was anything to arbitrate or not? It is needless to say a wave of popular indignation would obliterate every labor organization from the face of the country, and no more could be formed during the next fifty years. The stigma of such a position would follow every man connected with organized labor to the grave. But in the present crisis the corporations, whose wealth has been created by labor, take the position that they are prior to and above their creator. Like the brigands of old, they rob the laboring masses and employ the sword and h'udgeon and set up a throne on the bones of the van-quished and hold their divine right to rule over the remainder. Pullman claims that, notwithstanding the wages of the employe were reduced to starving point, there is nothing to arbitrate because cars have been built at a loss, yet neglects to state that the stock of the company has been watered three times over, and that the company has been able not only to pay its regular dividend on water and all, but its stocks have long been and at the present time are at a premium on the stock market.

"Pullman cries poverty to his starving employes, and then retreats to his princely summer mansion on the St. Lawrence river, and wires the business men of Chicago that he has nothing to arbitrate. Like Nero, he laughs in luxury, while his devoted martyrs burn. If the present strike is lost to labor, it will retard the progress of civilization and reduce the possibilities of labor to ever emancipate itself from the thrall-dom of greed. The dignity of labor and all the victories won in the past are at stake in this conflict. I beseech you in your obligations in this hour of trial. Court the co-operation of a generous public, stand firm and united in our common cause, and the victory will be one of peace and prosperity for the faith-ful. (Signed) J. B. Sovereign, General Master Workman."

Ex-President Harrison's Views, Indianapolis, July 11 .- Ex-President

Benjamin Harrison, having been quoted as saying President Cleveland has established a new precedent in sending Federal troops into a State without a request from the Governor of the State and over his protest, said to-day: "I have never said what I am quoted as saying as to the use of United States troops by the President, nor do I think the President has transcended his powers. On the other hand, I believe there is no spot in the United States where United States troops may not go under such orders without asking anybody's consent, and that the enforcement of the laws of the United States is the sworn duty of the President, and the army is an appropriate instrument to use in the enforcement of these laws where they are violently resisted and the civil officers are unable to deal with the situation. If the posse comitatus law limits the President's constitutional power at all, which is very doubtful, it only requires the proclamation to precede the use of troops."
