Evicted Tenants' Bill.

LONDON, July 24 .- In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Chamberlain resumed the debate on the evicted tenants' bill. He denied that there was any necessity for exceptional legislation. There were no districts in Great Britain in which the annual number of evictions did not far exceed in proportion the evictions which the House is called upon to deal with in Ireland. The bill originated in the Irish system of clamor, and was forced from the government, not by social, but by political and parliamentary exigencies. It might re-establish a small minority of tenants, while it would induce the rest to demand further legislation. He suggested that the measure be withdrawn and the evicted tenants in Iroland by relieved through the respect Ireland be relieved through the re-enactment and extension of the thirteenth clause of the land act of 1891.

NEW YORK DAILIES

Give the Opinions of Washington Correspondents

CONCERNING THE TARIFF BILL

parrel Between the President and His to the country with a record of Demo-Party Friends in the Senate Has Aroused the Bitterest Feeling Among Democratic Factions.

They have only to remain obstinate to bring the House to their terms, or to force it to go back to the country with a record of Democratic promises left lamentably unaccomplished and Democratic pickes cyvically violated and ignored. Quarrel Between the President and His Democratic Factions.

New York, July 28 .- President Cleveland's letter, Senator Gorman's bitter attack upon the Chief Executive and Hill's reply have so entirely changed the aspect of the tariff bill's chances of passage that there is a diversity of opinion among the Washington correspondents of the more influential New York dailies as to the ultimate fate of that measure. The majority, however, take a gloomy view of the situation. The following are some of the expressions of opinion:

The World: The quarrel between the President and his party friends in the Senate has aroused the bitterest feeling among the factions of the Democrats in among the factions of the Democrate in and out of Congress, and is generally re-garded as the greatest misiortune that could have happened to the Democratic party at this time. What its effect will be upon the tariff bill cannot be determined yet. It seems almost certain, however, that, if any tariff bill is to be passed at this session, the House must yield to the Senate. This must necessarily be so in the Senate, for three or four Democratic Senators can defeat any measure which they do not care to sup-port, and in view of Gorman's announce-ment that, if the Senate amendments are materially changed, the bill will be defeated, there seems to be no way in which the differences between the two Houses can be reconciled. The failure, moreover, of the President's attempt to conciliate Gorman and induce him to bring about a peaceful settlement of the controversy on some other basis than that of the adoption of the Senate bill serves to indicate that the prospect for harmony between the two Houses is not

The Times: If the sugar trust would take its hands off of this Congress and take its hands off of this Congress and release the Senators who are now disabled by it from discharging their duties as the constitution calls upon them to do and as the people demand they shall, the tariff bill would be agreed upon by the conference committee in a few days, and it would be a bill free from any suggestion that its leading schedules were shaped by corrupt influences. It is useless to caucus, for, whatever the caucus less to caucus, for, whatever the caucus may do, the potent few, who are under-stood to be hopelessly tied up and in danger of being utterly disgraced if they do not persist in remaining bought, cannot accept any conclusions reached by the majority.

The Recorder: There is scarcely member of the House who is not convinced that the Senate means what it says; that it will accept no bill but the compromise measure that was passed there. In the House side there is discouragement and a foreboding of defeat. The members say it will probably be a short fight now, that the House will yield, but the President is not ready to give up the struggle yet. It looks to-day as though the House is almost willing to yield, and that the contest may come to an end sooner than has been expected. There is uncertainty about the Senate's position, and Gorman's shrewdness in throwing upon the House the responsibility for no tariff legislation, if such is be well filled with settlers, who was the outcome of the struggle, is bearing glad of an opportunity to claim their homes. the outcome of the struggle, is bearing fruit. The courage of the members of the House has sadly weakened since last week. They have all listened to the Senate oratory, and have been deeply impressed by it; and the Senators claim to-night that the end is in sight, and the end will be the Senate bill.

The Herald: Dangers from open foes and pretended friends surround the conference report on the tariff bill in the Senate on every hand, and it will require there is an abundance of white pine and cool brains and steady hands to steer it cedar timber. The surrounding mountback into the conference committee again without total shipwreck. The friends of the bill are very much alarmed. The tremendous racket the Senate has stirred up over the conference report has frightened some of the members of the other House who have heretofore been in favor of holding out. They are afraid that the Senate may vote to indefinitely postpone the tariff bill and thus deal a death blow to tariff reform by this Congress. There has been talk emanating from high Democratic sources in favor of calling the conference report to the House, so that the Senate's amendments could be agreed to at once and the measure could be sent before the country with at least the title of "A Bill to Reduce Taxation." What these men are afraid of is that the Senate will adopt some sort of a motion to instruct the some sort of a motion to instruct the conferrees to yield on some pet item of protection that some individual Senator esteems more highly than party principles. Many members of the House are not at all frightened by the noise in the Senate. They say it is simply the last "bluff" of the Senatorial conspirators, and if the House stands firm, it can win a complete victory. It is searcely probable that either side will win a complete victory under the cirwin a complete victory under the circumstances, and present indications seem to point to a compromise. The compromise talked of contemplates lower duties on coal and iron ore and a remodeling of

The Tribune: To-day's developments have made it more apparent that the fate of the tariff bill is held firmly in the hands of a little knot of Democratic Senators who are holding out for no surrender to the House or President. With the aid of Republicans they can at any time defeat or postpone the pending measure, and against their determined will the edicts of a Democratic caucus or of the Democratic President cannot have the slightest avail. They have only

This grows out of the recent trip here of Assistant to Chairman Frick, and who had been in charge of the armor-plate departments, testified that he had no personal knowledge of the frauds. Mr. Hunsicker furnished a statement of the number of armor-plates made from the beginning of the old contract in December, 1889, to June 1, 1894. This showed a total of 1,506 plates, of which 905 were shipped, 153 condemned and 448 were on hand. Of the 905 shipped 662 were regular armor-plates and the remainder were small plates.
