

IT IS WAR.

The news from the Orient today is more encouraging. War has been declared between China and Japan and active hostilities are now in progress. It may be a blood-thirsty way of looking at it, but this is really the best news we have had in a quarter of a century. It will be a destructive war, but the more destructive the better. It will be an expensive war, but the more expensive the more profits do we realize. It promises to involve some of the European nations, but the more of them that are involved the better it will be for America. The prospective benefits to this country resulting from this war are almost incalculable. First of all it will check Mongolian immigration more effectively than the Geary law. In the next place it will open a market for our grain products, and if the war continues six months wheat will go up to something like the old prices. This is particularly true in case England and Russia become involved in the quarrel. Then it is going to stimulate our manufacturing industries, for while the Orient and Europe are fighting the United States will be busy making goods for the rest of the world. Already the agents of the Chinese government are placing orders with our American gun factories. But it seems to us the greatest benefit to this country and to the whole commercial world will be the advance of silver, and the more general use of the white metal that will be necessitated by this war. The Orient is a silver-using country, and the expenses of the war will be paid in the white metal. There will be so much rivalry between nations for supplying the Orient with war material they will readily take silver in exchange for their goods. This may be a selfish view to take of it, but after all humanitarianism counts for very little after war has been declared. We are taking the situation as we find it, and propose to make the best of it.—Telegram.

The truth is, the country is exceedingly tired of that fossilized gang of purchasable thieves known as the United States senate. It is no longer a body of statesman, but a gang of corporation henchmen fattening on the public crib, selling the rights of a citizen to private corporations, and turning the American laborer over to the Havemeyers, Searles and Pulmans to be plundered. We care nothing about the merits of the fight. If the democratic brethren want to pull each others hair because neither of them know what else to do, they are welcome to do so. It is not our fight, and while they are fighting one another the country is safe. The senators, however, want to crawl down off the perch, and instead of posing as a dignified body, learn that the great mass of American people have more respect for an Indian or a Chinaman than for the venal and corrupt body known as the United States senate. There is one consolation in dwelling on the subject, and that is that in the near future either the senators will be elected by the people, instead of by the corporations, or else there will be no senate.—Dallas Chronicle.

Discouraging reports come from Nebraska and Kansas, where the hot winds are baking the growing crops which were already suffering from drouth. This will be severe upon the farming people of that section. It will still further delay them in the sale of their farms, so they cannot come to Oregon probably for several years. But we want them just as soon as they can come and bring some money with them. We don't want any flood or drouth sufferers, but industrious people who have a little means are always welcome, for they will be prosperous and contented citizens here in the edenic garden.—Salem Statesman.

When Eugene V. Debs, an unnaturalized Englishman, attempts to assume power superior to that we have given to the president of the United States, to make himself dictator, and stop industries of this country at his own command, it is time for patriotic Americans and our government to take some action. This country does not want any foreign dictators.—Forest Grove Times.

Press and people continue to agitate the question of government ownership of railroads without profit either to the country or to the railroad corporations. It is useless agitation, for the simple reason that it cannot be done. The whole proposition is what the late Governor Allen, of Ohio, would call "a barren idealism." There is no way by which the government can acquire ownership of the railroads except to buy them, and it takes two to make a contract. The railroads are not for sale, unless at a fancy price, and the government is in no condition for paying fancy prices for property that it doesn't need. The government is bothered to meet current expenses, and the people are in no mood to have the burden of taxation increased. The whole business and tax-paying community cry out against the proposed government ownership of the railroads. The advocates of the proposition are mainly theorists who contribute very little to the expenses of government.—Telegram.

Horace Greeley hit the nail on the head when he said: "It is strange how closely the men read the papers. We never say anything that anybody don't like but we soon hear of it. If, however once in a while we happen to say a good thing, we never hear of that—nobody seems to notice it. We may pay some man a hundred compliments and give him a dozen puffs, and he takes it as a tribute to his greatness and never thinks of it—never thinks it does him any good. But if we happen to say anything this man doesn't like, or something that he imagines is a reflection on his character, see how quickly he flares up and gets excited about it. All our evils are duly charged to us, but we never, apparently, get any credit for what good we do."

Attorney-General Chamberlain is of the opinion that under the constitution women cannot hold an elective office in Oregon. If he is correct those ladies who were elected county school superintendents at the late election will be ineligible.

It must be a surprise to Debs, the drunken anarchist, to find our government so well organized. The next time he starts an insurrection he will have to hunt for a weaker spot than the United States.

A citizen of Forest Grove has put up a telephone line to connect the church with his home in order that his aged mother may have the benefit of the Sunday service. It is a success.

According to an estimate furnished us by the secretary of agriculture, Mr. Morton, the wheat yield of the country this year will be something like 500,000,000 bushels.

A student of Bradstreets who has been investigating failures finds 80 per cent of business houses that go to the wall, are those that do not advertise.

To Make a Happy Home.

A clergyman preached a sermon not long ago upon the subject of "Woman." The best way for a woman to be appreciated is to be away from home for a little while. "We never miss the music till the sweet voiced bird has flown."

Still a happy wife, who knows she can fully trust her husband, willingly acknowledges him as the head in deciding matters for the good of the household if their opinions are not quite in unison. She easily yields this or any other important point, not through authority or government, but through her love and confidence.

Those who are to walk through life together should be slow to notice faults; but both should be quick to see, and gladly, openly recognize a deed well done, however simple, for love's sake. If this course of action is not adopted from the beginning and scrupulously adhered to there must be heartaches and bitter repentance "for their reaping by and by." Repentance that comes too late must be a lifelong torture because it comes too late for atonement.

"We vex 'our own' With look and tone We may never take back again. We have gentle words for the stranger, And smiles for the transient guest, But oft for our own With bitter tone, Though we love our own the best, Ah! lips with the curl impatient! Ah! brow with the look of scorn! 'Twere a cruel fate Were the night too late To undo the work of the morn."—Exchange.

During the dog-day season, the drain of nervous and vital energy may be counteracted by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In purifying the blood, it acts as a superb corrective and tonic, and enables the system to defy malarial and other climatic influences.

Ayer's Aque Cure never fails to neutralize the poisons of malaria, and eradicate them from the system. This preparation is purely vegetable, contains no harmful ingredients, and, if taken according to directions, is warranted to cure fever and ague. Try it!

"I know an old soldier who had chronic diarrhoea of long standing to have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Edward Shumpit, a prominent druggist of Minneapolis, Minn. "I have sold the remedy in this city for over seven years and consider it superior to any other medicine now on the market for the bowels complaints." 25 and 50 cent bottles of this remedy for sale by all druggists.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is inclosed. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. ROACH, J. P., Primroy, Campbell Co., Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

Kenneth Bazemore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to Geo. W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewiston, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus, give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all druggists.

A Little Daughter

Of a Church of England minister cured of a distressing rash, by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mr. RICHARD BIRKS, the well-known Druggist, 207 McGill St., Montreal, P. Q., says:

I have sold Ayer's Family Medicine for 40 years, and have heard nothing but good said of them. I know of many

performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. I am sure, were he here to-day, he would testify in the strongest terms as to the merits of
