

THE CONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1894.

NOTICE.

The yearly subscription to the GLOBE is $1.00, if paid in advance. If not paid in advance, $2 will be charged. A blue pencil mark around the notice indicates that your subscription expires with this issue. Please renew promptly.

GLOBOSITIES.

Born, on Sunday, July 28th, to the wife of Oliver Ward near Condon, a son.

Rev. E. Curran will conduct services here next Sunday, morning and evening.

A Demorest contest will take place by the Sunday school scholars here on Aug. 13th.

Mrs. Herbert Halstead has been sick the last week or so, and is under the doctor's care.

The railroad is now open through to Portland and trains are running on time again.

Maggie Maddock is visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown on Snipion.

A fine baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Tom McMorris on Trailfork, Friday of last week, July 27th.

Mrs. Perry Ham and Miss Anna Clarke of Lone Rock have been visiting friends at Condon since Tuesday.

Little Nellie Smith has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wehrli on Beecher Flat the last week or so.

Goldie Darling and Jessie Smith visited several days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Danneman at Clem.

H. C. Strickland returned home this week from Oregon City, where he disposed of a bunch of horses at fairly good prices.

Heppner is beginning to put on considerable metropolitan airs lately, having had several prize fights over there within the last week.

Mrs. H. N. Fraser and children returned home Friday from a couple of days' visit at the home of Miss Kate Greiner, near Mayville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown of Snipion have about concluded to move to town to remain during the winter, in order to send their little girl to school.

The price of wool is coming up in jumps. It is now selling at The Dalles and Heppner for 10c a pound. This is very encouraging to our sheepmen.

John Wasson, who recently moved with his family from Middletown, Cal., to this section, last week purchased one of Manley Keizer's ranches 7 miles north of town.

There will be a great deal more litigation in the justice's courts than usual. The new law which obliges litigants to pay all fees in advance is the cause of it.—Headlight.

Mrs. Sarah Hanna and daughter, Miss Jennie, of Pendleton, are visiting Mrs. Hanna's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Palmer, near Condon, and will remain a couple of weeks.

Church services Sunday evening will be under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor. An interesting program has been arranged and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Darling are spending much time and money improving their splendid farm on Hay creek, and will soon have one of the best-improved and prettiest farms in the country.

Miss Sadie Parman returned home this week from Pine creek, where she had been teaching school. Miss Stella Johnson, who taught the Cottonwood school, is expected home tomorrow.

Mr. W. W. Kennedy, our new school superintendent holds his first quarterly teachers' examination for this term next week at Condon, commencing Wednesday, 8th inst. See notice.

Sheriff Wilcox desires us to inform the public that hereafter no bank checks will be received by him in payment for taxes. Nothing but cash and money orders on Condon postoffice "goes" from now on.

Joe Potter, our new jeweler, is now snugly located in the room over Smith's harness shop, and is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line very reasonably. Joe is a good fellow and deserves success. See his ad.

See Miller & Dunn Bros.' new ad. These enterprising gentlemen mean exactly what they say, so it is no use trying to get credit. What better can anyone expect than 20 per cent off from their already low prices?

"Why did you never marry, Tom?" "Well, you see, old man, when I was quite young I resolved I would never marry until I found an ideal woman. After many years I did find her."

"Well, then?" "She was looking for an ideal man."

Wool continues to arrive in large quantities at Moody's warehouse and we are pleased to state that prices are coming up. The increase will be thankfully received by our sheep-raisers. Wool is now selling for 10 cents a pound.—Times-Mountaineer.

L. W. Darling last week traded two lots lying just east of Johnson & Wilcox's livery stable to Sheriff Wilcox for two lots lying just west of the public square. Messrs. Johnson & Wilcox intend fencing in the lots, which will be used as a corral for the stable.

The O. R. & N. has notified the managers of the D. P. & A. N. that no transfers will be made after Aug. 1st, as the road has been opened through to Portland. The work of repairing the line has been pushed to completion in a remarkably short time.—Chronicle.

By advice of the Lane county legal advisor the county ruled that the sheriff cannot proceed against an estate in the hands of an administrator for the collection of delinquent taxes until expiration of six months and the personal property of the estate has been exhausted.

The editor and family and Lonella, Mary and Frank Maddock spent Sunday last at the Maddock ranch on Thirty-mile, fishing for trout. The crowd, including Joe Trevett and Jas. Poindexter, extracted some "whoppers" from the stream, and all of us ate trout for supper until we were black in the face.

S. B. Barker this week sold one of those excellent "Agitator" threshers to Messrs. Chas. Lillie, Wm. Wehrli and Sam McGilvray of Mayville. Mr. Barker has just ordered a car-load of Mitchell wagons, all sizes, and anyone needing a wagon will save money by seeing him before buying elsewhere.

Our respected friend, Geo. Coffin of 30 mile, treated the Globe outfit to a box of as choice clingstone peaches Thursday as we ever saw at this season of the year. Mr. Coffin says when it comes to raising large and choice fruit he can "skunk" ½ the fruit-raisers in this country, and we guess he's right.

While in Washington, D. C., recently, the editor of the News got a squint at the celebrated congress now in session. Our own representatives, Senators Dolph and Mitchell, and Hermann and Ellis, are working with their sleeves rolled up, and doing good service for the great state which they represent.—Grant County News.

At a recent meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. of Condon the following officers were elected: Miss Emma Meek, president; Howard L. Propst, vice-president; Miss Goldie Darling, Sec; Geo. Myers, treasurer. The new officers take hold of the work with enthusiasm, which insures interesting services in the months to come.

The largest man in the world, John Hanson Craig, died at Danville, Indiana, a few days since. He weighed 907 lbs, was six feet five inches in height, measured eighteen inches around the ankle, eight feet four inches around the hips. It required forty-one yards of cloth to make him a suit of clothes, and three pounds of yarn to make him a pair of stockings.

The Astoria Herald openly and continuously advocates the idea that there ought to be "about sixty first class funerals" in Clatsop county. The argument advanced is that there are that many mossbacks who will neither improve their property, nor sell it at reasonable prices to those who will improve it. The Herald is willing to write the obituaries if somebody will do the killing.

An exchange sensibly says: Defeated and disappointed strikers are taking advantage of cheap steamer rates to go back to Europe. This is really the most encouraging feature of the situation. If the strike shall rid the country of 500,000 undesirable population, it will be worth all it cost in destruction of property and loss of business. Steamer passage to Europe from New York is only $8.50.

The entire Globe force returns thanks to Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Stricklin of Rock creek for a box of the most delicious peaches and plums, which were brought to town Wednesday by Mrs. Stricklin. Frank has just returned home from the valley, after disposing of a band of horses. Mrs. Stricklin informs us that they will have doodles of fruit of all kinds for sale this fall.

We are informed that by the death of their uncle, John McCullough, who died on July 18th at his home at Weiser, Idaho, Billy Keys and his three sisters, Misses Alice, Mary and Maggie, of Mayville, fall heirs to $200,000, or $50,000 each. Mr. McCullough was worth about a half-million dollars, and not having any heirs of his own, he willed his entire fortune to his nieces and nephews.

The Ochoco Review and Prineville News have been consolidated under the management of Mr. J. N. Williamson, formerly editor of the News. This leaves Crook county with only one newspaper, and it has double the population of that of Gilliam. Too many newspapers has the same effect as has overstocked range—it not only starves the stock but kills the grass as well. No county having less than 5000 population can support more than one paper properly.

Late dispatches report widespread destruction of crops in Kansas and Nebraska by hot winds. Corn will have to be shipped into many counties in Nebraska to enable the farmers to live until another season. The highways are thronged with disheartened settlers, who have abandoned their homes and are moving away. No similar scene has been witnessed since 1873. If a few thousand of these people would come to Gilliam county they would never regret it.

An amusing incident recently occurred at Eugene, during the visit of a circus. One of the chief attractions of the show was a troupe of performing dogs, and, after they had gone through various feats, their trainer announced that Azor, the most accomplished of them all, would favor the audience with a piano-forte solo. Accordingly Azor mounted the chair and struck up the "Marseillaise." At this moment someone in the audience shouted "Rats!" and Azor made one bound in the direction of the cry. This created great laughter, which doubled when it was noticed that the piano went on playing, thus revealing the trick that had been perpetrated.

Miller & Dunn were agreeably surprised Wednesday upon receiving from the examiner in charge of the First National bank of Arlington, Mr. Carlson, checks to the amount of $480 which had been sent down just the day before the bank suspended, and which they thought was tied up. They are still "in" to the tune of about $500. J. E. Frick, we understand, says he will pay all the depositors dollar for dollar.

H. B. Hendricks and family and Arthur Brandenburg left Sunday for a month's outing on the Matoles river in the Cascade mountains. They went via Moro, and expect to live fat during August on fish and game of all kinds—providing they get any. In a letter to his wife, Arthur says they reached Moro on Monday evening, and that the only way they were enabled to keep their old wagon from going to pieces was by using about half the barbed wire between here and Moro in tying the tires on, etc.

Soon another change is to be made in the public school books, and parents will be obliged to buy another expensive outfit of books for their children. This frequent change of books, often for the worse, is an annoyance that severely taxes the patience of parents, and an expense that in these times many of them are not able to bear. The nuisance of these changes becomes far more odious when it is remembered that they are for the benefit, not of the children, but of interested publishers and book sellers, and officials who are in collusion with them.

A red-hot war is going on between China and Japan. So far Japan has the best of it, having defeated and sunk three of China's largest war ships together with several thousand Chinese. A terrific battle was fought at Yashan Saturday and resulted in a victory for the Chinese, the Japanese being repulsed with fearful loss. Fight it out, you almost-eyed devils; the Globe is patting you, both Japs and Chinese, on the back. The Japs and Chinese of the U. S. are sending back all the money they can get hold of to assist their respective countrymen in the deadly conflict. It is sincerely hoped they will keep on fighting until none will be left, even to tell the tale, on either side.

Another of Frick's Banks Closed.

A dispatch from Baker City, dated Aug. 1st says:

The door of the Baker City National bank failed to open this morning. Cashier Blake states that the suspension was brought about by the Chase National bank of New York applying funds on deposit to the amount due on a loan without notice, and an unexpected run of depositors who were alarmed over the failure of the Arlington bank, J. E. Frick being president of both institutions. The amount owing depositors is about $75,000, and bills receivable and securities reaching $160,000. It is confidently expected that business will be resumed within thirty days.

Arlington Items.

J. E. Frick is in town. Mose Kirby has a new bicycle. Doc Hawson is still a bachelor. Geo. Randall of Olex was in town last Saturday.

Mr. A. Smythe has been in town for several days.

Our merchants are receiving daily consignments of goods.

The Hatch Bros. have been bringing considerable fruit to town.

Our citizens resort to the lakes across the river, in which they bathe.

Miss O'Dale gave an elocutionary entertainment last Monday night.

J. H. Wood and son are building an addition to Mrs. Gager's residence.

Bank Examiner Carlson is in charge of the First National bank of this place.

Our small boys have taken to ba(w)l, which seems to be their chief amusement.

L. O. Ralston, the genial and energetic merchant of Olex, was in town last Saturday.

Alex Hardie was in town last week looking after some deposits in the defunct bank.

Charles Ebi was handling the lines on the stage route between this place and Fossil last week.

Mrs. Paul Jones returned home Tuesday morning. She is rapidly improving and will soon be herself again.

Trains are now running through to The Dalles. It will perhaps be several days before they run through to Portland.

Col. Thompson of Klickitat, an interested party in the First National bank, was here last week. He brought with him Atty. Brooks of Goldendale.

Hon. J. A. Thomas and family returned last Thursday morning after an absence of about two months. All were glad to welcome them home.

Sunday night the Salvation Army gave their last entertainment. An original (?) poem was one of the principle and almost never-ending features.

Dr. Geisendorfer spent several days in the metropolis last week. He is now in the Yakima country for a few days recreation. Dr. Stevens of Salem is here to administer to the sick during Dr. Geisendorfer's absence.

Cliff Patterson was taken quite sick last week, being confined to his bed for several days with typhoid fever. His sister from Walla Walla came down and took him home with her on Tuesday morning. The little fellow was carried to the train on a cot. It is hoped the change will prove beneficial and that he will soon recover. Ross Thomas and Chester Beardsley have been clerking in Wenner's store during Cliff's illness.

The National Game.

Forty-eight years ago the first game of base ball was played. This pioneer game took place at Hoboken, N. J., and the score was so big that the man who was keeping tally gave it up after the first inning and refused to look upon anything less than five runs in succession as worth considering. The game of baseball grew out of the old game of rounders, an English idea. In the fall of 1845 a number of New Yorkers organized a club which they called the "Knickerbockers." Later, a club called the "New Yorkers" was put into the field, and early in June, 1846, the two began to challenge each other. June 19th the first game was played. History says that it lasted but four innings, when the Knickerbockers were so far ahead that the other fellows went home and wouldn't play any more. Baseball grew slowly. It was not until 1860 that it became in any degree popular. In that year a number of clubs were organized, and in Philadelphia several really interesting games were played. Up to this time a rubber ball was used, but so much time was lost in going over into the next county for it after every hit that a harder and less energetic ball was devised. This reduced the time of the game and increased the size of the bumps on the catchers' hands. Up to 1871 ball playing was indulged in as an amateur sport, but in that year it began to take rank as professional. In spite of all sorts of dire predictions, baseball continues to be popular. There is no indication that it will soon cease to be the recognized game of the nation.

Don't Worry.

Worry is a baneful curse and source of untold evils. It sears the face with lines and furrows and has a most depressing effect upon that hypersensitive organ, the stomach, which at such times becomes a most unwilling and laggard servant. Indeed, it is safe to say that unless encouraged by a cheerful temper and bright, or at least hopeful thoughts, the stomach will play truant or sulk and do no work which it can shirk. The physiological explanation of this is the close alliance of the great sympathetic nerves, which are worse than the telegraph for carrying bad news; the worry and anxiety which depresses the brain produces simultaneously a semiparalysis of the nerves of the stomach, gastric juices will not flow and—presto! there is indigestion. One sign of mental health is serenity of temper and a self-control that enables us to bear, with equanimity and unruffled, the petty trials and jars of life, especially those arising from contact from scolding, irascible, irritating folk. It is well to remember such are our worst enemies, and a cultivation of the art of not hearing will help us very much. It is very useful art all through life and well worth some trouble to acquire.—Examiner.

Lone Rock Riplets.

Mrs. Wm. Snell and Miss Josie Snell of Olex were in Lone Rock for a few days last week calling on friends.

Grandma Ward is much improved in her late sickness, under the treatment of Dr. Hogan. We hope to see her up soon again.

There is a great deal of wool stored here waiting for the market to open up, which is looked for with much interest by the sheepmen.

Haying is in full blast just now, and everybody has a large crop. With such fine grass there should not be any loss of stock next winter.

People here have been in better spirits the last few days, caused by R. G. Robinson supplying them with sugar and coffee freighted from The Dalles.

R. G. Robinson's large new barn is nearly completed. Uncle Joe Robinson is chief when it comes to building barns. R. G. has now the largest barn in this valley.

Mrs. A. M. Crawford and son George returned from Teal springs this week. They report having had a good time and feel much refreshed from the six weeks' outing.

Somebody without principle and who cares little as to his abiding place in the next world, burned R. M. Johnson's sheep camp about two weeks ago. Perhaps the grand jury will have a case next term of court.

Teachers' Examination.

Notice is hereby given that the regular quarterly examination of candidates for teachers' certificates for Gilliam county, will be held at Condon, Gilliam county, commencing on Wednesday, August 8th, 1894, at 1 o'clock p. m. sharp. Applications for state certificates and state and life diplomas will be considered at the same time.

W. W. KENNEDY,
Co. School Supt.

So few cooks or housekeepers seem to know that every article of food should be kept covered until it appears on the table. Milk and butter, for instance, should be kept in airtight vessels and kept covered. They both take up every odor flying in the air and are positively harmful to take into the stomach after standing uncovered for an hour or two, for not only odors but the animalcules that fill the air are attracted to milk and butter. Uncovered jelly is a menace to family health. It is in gelatine jelly that expert bacteriologists imprison germs of disease to watch them propagate. They seem to thrive better on that kind of food than any other, yet in two-thirds of the pantries everywhere will be found half-used dishes or glasses of jelly standing uncovered.—New York World.
