The yearly subscription to the GLOBE is $1.00, if paid in advance. If not paid in advance, $2 will be charged. A blue pencil mark around this notice indicates that your subscription expires with this issue. Please renew promptly.

GLOBOSITIES.

Thanksgiving next Thursday.
Mrs. Wilcox has been on the sick list the last week.

Miss Maggie Keys of Mayville visited in our city Friday last.
Ball tickets next Thursday evening will be sold at Brandenburg's restaurant.

Remember the Thanksgiving services in the church at Condon next Thursday morning.

Mrs. E. L. Taylor is having a comfortable little residence built on her home-stand adjoining town.

The GLOBE man is agent for all the newspapers in the world. No danger of losing your money by this manner.

Charley Sears and wife are visiting their relatives at Portland and Vancouver, having gone down several days ago.

Wm. Keys and son Billy and Ed Couture returned home this week from Portland, where they had been on business.

A Woman's Christian Temperance Union was organized at Condon recently with a healthy membership. They held an enthusiastic meeting here Saturday.

Jack Glasgow returned home this week from Alberta, Canada, to which country he assisted a man by the name of Cochran to drive a band of horses last spring.

A young lady of Condon last week while hanging her back hair lost her grip on her curler and the hot iron went down her spinal column. Comment would be out of place.

We acknowledge receipt of an invitation and pass to the Portland Universal Exhibition, which opens at Portland, Saturday, Dec. 1st. It is going to be a very creditable exposition.

A public installation of the newly-elected officers of Order Eastern Star for the ensuing year was held in the Masonic hall here Saturday evening. A banquet was served after it was over.

The artistic sign painting on the lively stable here is proof that Geo. Gibbons is hard to beat on such work. He is painting and papering the barber shop and Clark's blacksmith shop this week.

Rev. M. Bramblet, Baptist minister, writes us from Lone Rock that he will preach at Condon tomorrow (Saturday) evening and on Sunday morning and evening. He will hold services in the Armory hall.

Married, at The Dalles on Nov. 19, 1894, Mr. Lanzo McWilliams of Waldron, Crook county, and Miss Isabella Butler of Juliette, Idaho. The young couple stopped in Condon Tuesday night on their way home to Waldron.

We are glad to note that A. P. Lacey is able to be around again. He had been laid up several weeks with a badly smashed foot, caused by a heavy wagon running over it, breaking several toes and tearing nearly all the skin from his foot.

All those owing the GLOBE on subscription have a very cordial invitation to settle the same, now that we have done our part by waiting until the dull season is past. You can not find an easier time in the year to pay than right now, nor a time that we need it worse.

Thos. Malanaphy, the well-known cattleman of Olex, was up to our city Wednesday on business. Tom is on the matrimonial market and it looks like some young lady of similar desires would take advantage of the excellent opportunity. Don't all make a rush at once.

Edgar Moore returned home several days ago from his visit in Portland. He brought with him a full line of choice confectionery, stationery, cigars, etc., and has opened up the neatest kind of a little store one door north of Barker's store. Call around and buy something.

Bob Fitzsimmons, the prize fighter, in a friendly boxing contest with Con Riordan at Syracuse, N. Y., struck the latter on the chin, and he died from the effects of the blow. Fitzsimmons has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter and placed under $10,000 bonds.

The murder of 10,000 Armenians by the Turks has awakened a thrill of horror throughout the civilized world. The governments of Europe and our own should notify the Turks that the next Christian killed because he was a Christian would cause Turkey to be wiped off the map, and then they should see that it was done.

The total amount of Fred Weatherford's defalcation from Holman & Co. is placed at $8239.41 in the indictment returned against him Tuesday. Weatherford was formerly bookkeeper and cashier for Holman & Co., and while occupying these positions embezzled the amount stated.—Portland Sun.

All of the four applicants who were examined at Condon last week were successful in securing teachers certificates. Misses Susan Dunn and Maggie Wilson and Mr. Alonzo Moore received first grades and Mrs. Moore a 3d grade. The standing of each is as follows: Miss Wilson, 96 per cent; Mr. Moore, 93.9; Miss Dunn, 92.1; Mrs. Moore, 78.7.

If you desire to win the $10,000 farm, subscribe for the Examiner through the GLOBE man, who is agent for this section. Subscription price $1.50 a year. This entitles the subscriber to the paper one year, a ticket to the large $145,000 prize drawing, also a beautiful picture. Don't delay; now is the time to subscribe.

Mr. J. R. Phillips of Rock creek was in the city Wednesday making arrangements for the building of sidewalks fronting his property on Summit and Main streets, as per ordinance passed by the city council recently. Mr. Phillips is a veteran of the Mexican war, and it is interesting to hear him narrate the hardships and trials during that terrible conflict.

Japan has declined the offer of the president of the United States as a mediator for peace in the war now pending between that country and China, and the bloody conflict continues with unabated fury. Let them fight it out. It will be all the better for China and the whole world if about 400,000,000 Chinese are made to bite the dust—instead of rats.

It is indeed encouraging to note the gradual rise of the price of wheat. At The Dalles it is 37 and 38c a bushel, at Grant 35c, at Pendleton 35c, at Heppner 34c. Just why it is only 30c at Arlington is a mystery, as Gilliam county wheat is of the best quality to be found on the coast. What kind of "corner" is on wheat down there, anyway? The price of wheat at Portland is 45c.

All county assessors of the state of Oregon will meet in convention at Salem on the 10th of December. The meeting is called for the purpose of discussing matters of interest to taxpayers and to formulate uniform methods of making assessment rolls. In fact all details of the work of the assessors will come up for consideration, and it is expected that much good will be accomplished by the convention.

Jas. and Val Wheeler returned home last week from the Siletz reservation, where they had been several weeks looking over the ground with a view to locating on some of that excellent land which is about to be thrown open for settlement. They are much pleased with the outlook and both expect to take a claim or two apiece. They are loud in their praise of the country generally down there.

H. B. Hendricks' assignee horse sale took place Saturday, as advertised. The nine head sold for $42.50 as follows: Pat Skelly, two fillies at $5 each; Herbert Stephenson, two mares and colt, all for $6; Joe Potter, two mares, one for $5, the other $6; Dan Rinehart, one mare, $10; John Knox, one gelding for $5.50. The demand for horses here evidently is not very great when such good horses will not bring more than the price of sheep.

In the state of Oregon they will have two new moons this month. There has been one already and there will be one on the 30th. This reminds us of the month of February 1866, which was in one respect the most remarkable month in the world's history. It had no full moon. January of that year had two full moons, so did March, but February had none. Do you realize what a rare thing in nature that was? It had not occurred since the creation of the world; and it will not occur again according to the computation of astronomers for—how long do you think? Two and a half million years.

A rumor is current on the streets today that the grand jury will find only one "true bill" against those implicated in the express robbery—that of Frank Klein, who confessed of the crime. As the grand jury has made no report today this "rumor" must be without foundation.—Times-Mountaineer, of Nov. 21st. Later. We learn that the grand jury failed to indict Ralph Gibbons and Otis Savage. Frank Klein will have to shoulder it all himself, although there is not the least doubt that others were implicated in the crime with him. Klein's turning state's evidence in this case did not "pan out" as he had hoped it would.

Reuben F. Kolb of Alabama, who was the populist candidate for governor, declares that the election was fraudulent and that he was elected, notwithstanding the fact that the democratic candidate was elected by 28,000 majority. This would not amount to much but he further declares that on the 1st day of December he will be inaugurated as governor and he calls upon the people to come and help seat him. He should be and perhaps will be indicted for treason. His chances for a striped suit and a cell in the penitentiary are far better than for a seat in the statehouse.

John Hogan, a well-known Oregon stockraiser and horseman, in an interview predicts a much better and encouraging future for wheat. He says: The farmers are sticking to it with commendable perseverance this year. They will have more grain than ever next year, whether it brings anything or not. I predict that there will not be a bushel sold next season for less than 40 or 45 cents, and I anticipate even a better price. There isn't nearly so much wheat in the United States as we thought there was, and people are finding it out. Then a great amount of the surplus will be fed this winter to cattle and hogs. The opening of the harvest season of 1895 will find a receptive market. Times will be generally better, and wheat will bring a good price. I mention 40 cents, not as the probable price, but as the lowest figure.—Portland Sun.

Arlington Items.

Wheat is going up—also the spirits of our farmers.

Geo. Chamberlain of Schottler Flat has moved to town.

Leester Coffin of North Yakima was in town last week.

George R. Hanna of Clem was in town last Saturday.

Judge O. N. Denney of Portland was in our city Wednesday.

The geese seem to be too wary for our ninnyrds to bag many of them.

Robt. Barfoot is clerking in Wenner's store. Bob seems to make a success of it.

A great many of our people are suffering from whooping cough and bronchitis.

W. E. Fowler spent last week and the fore part of this week visiting in Washington.

Dr. E. H. Griffin returned home last week after a prolonged absence in the country.

The furniture of the Jordan hotel was sold last week, S. D. Sennett acting as auctioneer.

Edgar Moore of Condon passed through Arlington last week on his way home from Portland.

Frank Farrier, who was severely injured by being thrown from a wagon is rapidly recovering.

Several of our citizens are building boats in which to ply the waters of the majestic Columbia.

Wm. E. Reed of Olex made final homestead proof before Commissioner Gurley last Saturday.

There is scarcely a vacant house in town. It seems like old times to have all of our houses occupied.

The Jordan hotel is rapidly disappearing. Mr. Pettys of Lone is hauling the lumber taken from the hotel to Mr. Jordan's ranch.

Mark Thompson of Baker City arrived here on this afternoon's local, and will visit with his sister, Mrs. W. O. Ziegler.—Eugene Guard.

Our two blacksmiths are doing a good business, and are working at greatly reduced rates. Horse shoeing, one dollar; sharpening plows, 15c each.

There was a protracted civil action in the justice court here this week in which J. O'Brien was plaintiff and N. H. Scoggins defendant. J. M. Johns and S. A. D. Gurley were the attorneys in the case.

Lone Rock Ripelets.

W. J. Edwards was in this place buying cattle the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Neel paid Heppner a visit this week on business.

Cash Ryehard has moved on a ranch near Mayville to reside for the present.

Wanted—A man with money to buy some good sheep in Lone Rock before the rains. Come quick.

Geo. Crawford has gone to Arlington to consult the California medical institute doctor in regard to his ailment.

Stock Inspector Miller is back from one of his rides and reports stock, especially sheep, in fine shape for winter.

The weather has been very fine here the last three weeks for this time of the year, although it is time to expect some snow along the foot hills.

Road Sup. Neel has had a gang of men at work on the ridge road between here and Condon cleaning the road of rocks, etc. lately. It did not get it before needing it.

Quite a band of Indians passed through Lone Rock from the mountains Wednesday from their fall hunt. They seemed to have plenty of venison as a result of their hunt.

There will be a hard winter, if we should judge from the amount of wood that is being hauled from the mountains just now—and that is as good a sign as we know of.

Some of Lone Rock's enterprising people have laid some new sidewalks and helped the looks of things thereabouts. They are actually getting some little style about them lately.

Wm. C. Brown started the first of the week with about 75 head of mules for Louisiana to sell to the cotton planters. One of the Sperry boys of Heppner is going with him with some of their fine mules. We hope Billy will bring back a lot of the southern "root of evil" with him. This section can stand a good deal of it before the market would be glutted. J. Doe.

Ed W. Copner, a well-known traveling salesman of this city, has just returned from a trip through Eastern Oregon and Idaho. Mr. Copner left Portland about April 1st, and has been traveling by team in the interior of Eastern Oregon and Idaho since that time. Mr. Copner killed a large bear at Austin, Grant county, Or., which weighed about 600 pounds. While traveling along the Malheur river he found an ox-shoe on the trail made by immigrants while crossing the plains in the hope of discovering the supposed Blue-Bucket diggings, which had been so hopefully sought for by so many gold hunters of early days and which never were found.—Portland Sun.

New Confectionery Store.

I have a full line of confectionery, stationery, cigars, etc. Am also agent for all newspapers and books. My prices are the lowest in town, and I respectfully ask for a share of the public patronage. Store one door north of Barker's store. E. W. MOORE.

Farmer's Accounts.

Keeping accounts is almost an absolute necessity to a farmer's success. If we ask a farmer the cost of raising 100 bushels of wheat or making 100 pounds of pork not one in a hundred can give an answer based on actual figures. They guess a bushel of wheat costs so much, but their guessing is often wide of the truth. The majority of farmers cannot tell the net income of their farms, and hardly know whether they are progressing, standing still or retrograding. If a merchant or manufacturer should conduct his business in this shiftless manner, we should expect him to fail, and the reason that farmers do not fail is that their business is comparatively limited. They live mainly within themselves. The farmer supports the family and the family takes care of the farm. They would find their interest in farming as well as their skill and profits to increase if they would adopt some mode of ascertaining how much this and that crop costs, and cultivate such crops and rear such animals as are found by actual calculation to pay the best. How are we to decide what branches of farming are the most profitable unless the figures of the farm accounts show us?

Whoever makes accurate experiments and keeps accurate accounts not only benefits himself but the public. The general principles of practical agriculture can never be established till we have more of these accurate experiments on which to base them and the practical methods of an Oregon farmer are of much more value to an Oregon farmer than those of a farmer in some other section of the country.

Many seem to think that it is a great burden to write down in the evening the results of the day. They can handle an ax or a plow for ten hours, but ten minutes work with a pen is Herculean labor. But this is a mere imaginary lion in the keeping of accounts. It only wants resolution to undertake the work, and a little practice makes it easy. Perhaps the task may be devolved on some young member of the family, whose fingers are not unused to the pen or stiffened by hard work. A general farm account should be kept, in which the farm is charged with all its expenses, and credited with all the receipts. Besides this general farm account a more minute record should be kept of each crop or each class of animals, charging with all the labor, etc., and crediting with all the returns, whether sold or used in the family. Such a book will prove a treasure of wisdom to every farmer who keeps it.

Good Joke on Sheriff Sears.

Portland Sun.

A very rich joke is being told at the expense of Sheriff Sears, who sometimes comes over to the East Side to enjoy himself. He was at a social function given in aid of one of the charitable institutions a few nights ago, and at the end of the feast there were about 30 rich-looking pies left untouched. Some one proposed to auction them off for the benefit of the fund and the bidding soon became spirited. Sheriff Sears succeeded in raising the bid on all others and each succeeding pie was knocked down to him for more than it was actually worth, but the supply seemed inexhaustible and the auction went on. It was cash every sale and the fund was growing at a very healthy rate when Mr. Sears bethought himself to see how many pies he was owner of and how many more he was likely to bid in. The pies on sale were as numerous as ever, but the sheriff didn't have very many in his own stock, which seemed to puzzle him very much. He then organized a committee of 100, lacking 99, and soon discovered that his pies had been stolen from him as fast as he bought them and had all been sold over to him several times. The stock of pies netted about 40 cents apiece, but the money went for a good cause, and the sheriff doesn't regret it.
