IS MARRIAGE A FAILURE?

Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

No more stupid question is propounded than the current inquiry, "Is marriage a failure?" You might as well ask, "Is business a failure?" Men embark in marriage as they do in business from a variety of motives; have a vast variety of methods, a vast difference in ideals. If we knew nothing of business except from the records and testimony of bankruptcy cases, prosecutions for misfeasance or malfeasance in business, we conclude that no man ought to embark in a commercial career; so of marriage, if we knew nothing of it save the records and testimony of divorce suits or of those notoriously unhappy marriages that never seek the relief of divorce, but either take to flight, lead lives of infamous infidelity within wedlock or sullenly "grin and bear" the consequences of their mistake until death puts asunder what God never joined, we should think "marriage a failure," but we all know that it is the wounded birds that always flutter; we all know that there are thousands of successful, upright, honest men of business who are not obliged to go into court to confess the failure of their methods or their incapacity for a commercial career; we all know there are thousands of married folks who never trouble the divorce courts because they have no cause for serious dissatisfaction. Marriage is a failure just as a commercial career is a failure which is subordinated to low motives, sharp practice and immoral ideals. If a man or woman marries without affection, for a home, for social advantage or for some equally mercenary thought, what business have they to pronounce "marriage a failure" if they get exactly what they bargained for? If they get more than they bargained for and a mercenary, worldly marriage becomes by happy evolution a true marriage of affection, conjugal loyalty and felicity they surely have reason to congratulate themselves, but if they married from low motives and got only what they bargained for, what business have they to be denouncing "marriage a failure" because they find no spiritual sweetness in it?

The Connecticut supreme court has permitted an appeal by the state in a murder case, where the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty," notwithstanding the constitutional provision that a man may not be put in jeopardy twice for the same offense. The court holds that an error in the lower tribunal in excluding certain evidence which might have changed the result, so vitiated its proceedings that the trial stand incomplete, and the constitutional provision, therefore, does not apply. This, it would seem, is a reasonable view to take of the matter. It has always seemed one-sided justice to allow the defense the right of appeal while the state has been barred.

The dreadful holocaust at Silver Lake on Christmas eve was simply the springing of a death-trap, thousands of which are set all over the country in the form of assembly halls without proper means of exit in case of a panic. Any large assemblage of people is subject to fright in case of fire, and then human beings act like sheep—rushing and crowding over the weaker in their insane attempt to escape. If the majority of that ill-fated assembly at Silver Lake had kept cool and set about smothering the fire instead of frantically attempting to get away from it the large death roll would not be appalling the people of Oregon today.

There is no country in the United States blessed by a more healthful climate than Eastern Oregon. The climate possesses two distinctive qualities, one a marine, the other a mountain, there is no other such climate to be found in America. Chills and fever are unknown. It is a country where tornados have never yet been known to visit, neither does the blizzard's blast chill one to the marrow, nor does the furious hurricane lay waste the country or destroy life and property, but it is one continual balmy sameness and one can scarcely realize that the season changes.

Governor Sylvester Pennoyer of Oregon has endowed Williams college with a scholarship of $3,450 in memory of his son, who died there last term. The money is to be used for the support of needy and deserving students, preference being given to Oregon students, when such are in the college.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair Highest Award.

EVERY-DAY LAW.

Herewith are the most important laws, succinctly stated, that touch the needs of the average business man. An observance of them will enable one to avoid many mistakes that may be serious, and steer the innocent from many pitfalls that may be calamitous. They contain in few words the essence of a large amount of legal verbiage, not always very intelligible:

Each individual in a partnership is responsible for the whole amount of the debts of the firm, except in cases of "special" partnership.

Contracts made on Sunday cannot be enforced.

A contract made with a minor is void.

A contract made with a lunatic (or with one who has a general reputation for weak-mindedness) is void. The latter case must, however, be clearly established.

The act of one partner binds all the other partners.

It is a fraud to conceal a fraud.

No consideration is sufficient in law if it be illegal in its nature. Many "failures" are upset because of this law.

A receipt for money is not always conclusive.

An agreement without consideration is void.

The law compels no one to do impossibilities. (This must be liberally construed).

Ignorance of the law excuses no one.

Note especially the following, as affecting the giving and taking of notes:

A note made on Sunday is void.

A note made by a minor is void.

A note obtained by fraud from a person in a state of intoxication cannot be collected.

Notes bear interest only when so stated.

If a note is lost or stolen it does not release the maker; he must pay it if the consideration for which it was given and the amount can be proved.

Signatures made with a lead pencil are good in law.

The maker of an "accommodation" note (one for which he has received no consideration, having lent his name and credit for the accommodation of the holder) is not bound to the person accommodated, but is bound to all other parties, precisely as if there was a good consideration.

If the maker of a check or draft has changed his residence the holder must use "due diligence" to find him.

Checks or drafts must be presented for payment without "unreasonable delay."

Ignorance or oversight of or willful inattention to these fundamental injunctions is the frequent source of annoying and expensive litigation.

The amount of money sent to Europe from the United States by those who continue to help friends in "the old home" is enormous.

During the three weeks preceding Christmas there were sent from the New York city postoffice alone 131,960 money orders. The amount they carried to Great Britain was $735,500, to Germany $370,877, to Sweden $145,475, and to Italy $51,064. These remittances, though specially large at Christmas, are going on all the time.

The little town of Vesley, Minn., is sore afflicted. Since November 28th, fifty-four deaths from diphtheria have occurred. The disease is not confined to the village, but has spread all over the surrounding country. There have been fifty deaths in a settlement three miles west of there. Aside from this, there are sixty critical cases, and, worst of all, there is no doctor in the place, nor is there a board of health.

No office of any kind should be created by the legislature this session, but a good many should be abolished and the pay of many others reduced.—Oregonian.

An exchange truthfully remarks: "This is a country of the finest natural resources in America, dead for the want of capital and enterprise to develop them."

With yesterday's issue the Record turned its toes to the daisies, and in its farewell notice of almost a column it proceeds to upbraid, reproach, censure, condemn and bewail the citizens and business men of Heppner because of lack of patronage and non-support. There is not room enough in Heppner for two legitimate newspapers, consequently "the fittest shall survive." The Gazette is no foreign importation, but one of the permanent establishments of the city. It owns property, office, presses, material, etc., and ranks well among the tax payers of Morrow county. While the Gazette may err, as "to err is human," yet it shall always be its desire to labor for the best interests of our section, county and city; to give the reader a legitimate paper, and the advertiser good returns for the investment.—Gazette.

Sam Jones' Revival Methods.

Hartwell (Ga.) Ban.

An amusing incident occurred at the close of Sam Jones' sermon at Pulaski the other day. Stepping down from the pulpit, folding his hands across his breast and looking solemnly over the audience, the great revivalist said:

"I want all the women in this crowd who have not spoken a harsh word or harbored an unkind thought toward their husbands for a month past to stand up." One old woman, apparently on the shady side of 60, stood up.

"Come forward and give me your hand," said the preacher. The woman did so, whereupon Jones said: "Now, turn around and let this audience see the best-looking woman in the country." After taking her seat, the revivalist addressed the men:

"Now, I want all the men in this crowd who have not spoken a harsh word or harbored an unkind thought toward their wives for a month past to stand up." Twenty-seven great big, strapping fellows hopped out of the audience with all the alacrity of champagne corks. "Come forward and give me your hands, my dear boys," Jones gave each one a vigorous shake, after which he ranged them side by side in front of the pulpit and facing the audience. He looked them over carefully and solemnly, and then turning around to the audience, he said: "I want you all to take a good look at the 27 biggest liars in the state of Tennessee."

The condition of a place may always be gauged by the appearance of its newspapers. When the local journal has a poverty-stricken look, and live advertisements are scarce, it is safe to say that the town is either on the down grade or never got very far up. When a sensible man is thinking of settling in a new place the first thing he does is to get hold of a paper published there. Unless that shows signs of prosperity he looks somewhere else. What a front gate off the hinges is to a house, a poorly supported local paper is to a town.—S. F. Examiner.

One feels sorry for the second wife of the widower "H. S.," who writes to an English paper to ask if it will be suitable to use at the ceremony the same ring with which he married his first wife. There are a few things, toothbrushes and wedding rings, for instance, of which a woman likes to be first and sole owner.—New York Times.

A Legislative Session. provokes more newspaper comment than almost any other subject of public interest. The last two Oregon law making bodies afforded much material for interesting discussion, and the next general assembly will be no exception to the rule. Whatever occurs the public knows that the DAILY and WEEKLY CAPITAL JOURNAL of Salem will give correct reports of its work as well as intelligent discussion of the same. If you want to know what is done, how it is done and why, you should read the CAPITAL JOURNAL. It is the first ONE CENT DAILY published on the Pacific coast, and is conducted in the interest of the people. The DAILY will be sent you a year for $3.00, four months for $1.00 or one month for 25 cents. The WEEKLY has been reduced to $1.00 per year. Like the DAILY it is payable cash in advance, and no paper will be sent after your time expires. Positively "no-pay-no-paper." The JOURNAL is a modern newspaper run on modern methods. It is conducted in the interest of the people editorially as well as in a business sense. Its editor being a member of the lower house his editorial work will be doubly interesting this winter. Order it at once.

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. BROCKWELL, Harris, Tenn., says:

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is

No Better Medicine, and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 50 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."—H. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.

Say, Look Here. If you need any new boots or shoes, come to my new boot and shoe store at the upper end of Main street, Arlington. I keep only the choicest stock and all kinds, and my prices are the lowest in the county. It will pay you to come or send to me when you need anything in this line. Repairing also done at the lowest rates. JOHN RODGERS.

When the hair has fallen out, leaving the head bald, if the scalp is not shiny, there is a chance of regaining the hair by using Hall's Hair Renewer.

"A snake in the grass" is all the more dangerous from being unsuspected. So are many of the blood medicines offered the public. To avoid all risk, ask your druggist for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and also for Ayer's Almanac, which is just out for the new year.
