

Congressional candidates are "bobbing up serenely" in all corners. R. S. Smith of Josephine, B. F. Alley of Lane, E. Hofer of Marion, and others of the first district are understood to have their "shingle" out for the place. But listen: If Binger Hermann isn't re-nominated one year hence, the honors will lie about equally between Hon. C. B. Moores, late speaker of the house of representatives of Marion county, and Hon. Thos. H. Tongue of Washington county. Both of these gentlemen are rustlers and either would make a lively campaign and an active congressman.—Dallas Transcript.

Another bill passed the last Washington legislature and approved by the governor is one providing for voluntary insolvency. Whenever the court having jurisdiction shall be satisfied that an assignment was made in good faith, and not to defraud creditors and upon final report of the assignee chosen by the creditors, he shall discharge the assignee from further liabilities on account of any indebtedness existing prior to the assignment. This measure passed both houses almost unanimously and was urged by thousands all over the state.—Goldendale Sentinel.

Corvallis Times: The late legislature enacted no law providing that taxes might be paid half in April and half in October. Such a plan would have made tax-paying easier to many taxpayers, especially among farmers, where the sale after harvest of a lump of wheat would have made the raising of money for their taxes a minor matter. The law was asked for from many quarters, but the requests were lost sight of in the bushwhacking warfare carried on over the election of senator, and in the piratical raid on the state treasury for special appropriations.

McMinville Telephone-Register: If we ever have a war, it will be with England, and it will be over the encroachment of England on this continent. Slowly, but surely, English diplomacy is gaining ground in the Southern countries, and the Monroe doctrine will have to be demonstrated by force of arms. England can hardly afford a war with us, or with any other nation. War would mean her dissolution, if long carried on. So long as it is bound to come, why not have it now over the Nicaraguan matter?

The tendency of wheat is upward, and the impression seems to be pretty general that the price this year will not go below 50 cents per bushel. The Japan-China war has made a market for large quantities of Pacific coast flour, and this demand will probably be not only continued, but increased as the Japs and Chinese get accustomed to using it.

A clear headed farmer says he has known fellow farmers who had pretty good family backs to buy better ones just in order to be ahead of their neighbors, regardless of their financial ability to do so, and he thinks the idea has had much to do with the hard times of some people.—Exchange.

The state of Washington appropriated but $8,400 for militia purposes. In Oregon $100,000 is squandered in this way that a few fellows may wear uniforms and military titles. This is the most useless appropriation made by the legislature.—Roseburg Review.

It is with extreme regret that we chronicle the fact that John L. Sullivan is again on the fight. It was hoped that Sullivan was out of date as a pugilist. The name is becoming exceedingly wearisome, had even as a chestnut.—Albany Democrat.

Governor Holcomb has signed the bill just passed by the Nebraska legislature appropriating $200,000 for the purchase of seed, grain and food for drouth-stricken farmers of Western Nebraska. The law becomes immediately operative.

The San Francisco Examiner, the Evening Post, the Chronicle, and the Evening Reporter have all ordered type-setting machines. This move will put about three hundred printers on the turf.

An exchange says that "Col. Bob Ingersoll has come out flat-footed for Senator Allison for president." We were not aware that such matters were left to the dictation of Ingersoll.

A bill has been introduced in the Texas legislature providing for the levying of a $50 annual tax upon all unmarried men of 30 years of age who under oath swear that they have not exerted due diligence in trying to get married. He shall be exempt from the tax, however, if he can produce evidence to show that he tried to get married. To be exempt from this act, however, if he remains single, he must produce the affidavit of some reputable woman that at least once a year he has made a proposal of marriage to her.

South Dakota, at the recent session of its legislature, did away with the grand jury system.

Of Interest to Shippers. A train load of sheep left Elgin, Oregon, on the 15th of March en route to Chicago via Spokane and the Great Northern R. R. In order to take this route they had to come from Elgin to La Grande, from La Grande to Pendleton and from Pendleton to Spokane, thus virtually starting in a backward direction. In spite of this the train arrived in Minneapolis stock yards at 6:55 p. m. on the 20th of March and in Chicago the next day. Shippers expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the service and the way in which they had been handled. This is a run which has never been equalled or even approached by any road in the country and should be sufficient guarantee to shippers of stock that the Great Northern can be relied upon to give the best satisfaction of any transcontinental road in the country, in addition to which is the fact that the Great Northern route affords the finest feeding and watering facilities obtainable, their advantages in this line being universally acknowledged as equalled by none. You will notice that only five days were consumed in making the run from Elgin to Minneapolis and six days from Elgin to Chicago. This is as quick time as can be made by passenger trains. F. C. HINDLE, Agt. O. R. & N. Co.

Midwives Will Pay, No Attention to the New Law. The midwives of Portland are not at all pleased with the new state medical law, by which they are practically debarred from practicing their profession, and believing they are grievously wronged they will no doubt carry the case to the supreme court as soon as one of their number is arrested and convicted for practicing in violation of the law. The new law does not recognize midwifery at all, and consequently leaves this profession without standing before the community. In order to practice legally midwives, under the new law, are required to pass the same examination as a physician and in all the branches of medicine and surgery. This examination few, if indeed any, can pass, and in consequence the new law, as to them, is prohibitory.

In contemplation of the new medical law midwifery, the same as obstetrics, is construed as a branch of surgery. This brings midwives within the law regulating the practice of medicine. The contention of the midwives is that midwifery is not a branch of surgery any more than is nursing and that, consequently, the new law should have no jurisdiction over them. They claim that they practice their profession without the use of instruments, and that whenever instruments are required the services of a physician are called into requisition. It is also contended by the midwives that the law should have been so constructed as to prescribe the qualifications of midwives. They are willing to undergo examination in midwifery the same as trained nurses, and believe that such a law, in weeding out all incompetent practitioners, would be productive of much good.

At all events it is the intention of the midwives who claim to be qualified for the profession, to continue their practice without regard to the new law and, if need be, ask for a ruling by the supreme court. Similar laws to the one in effect here have been knocked in the head in New York and other states, and Portland midwives are confident of securing the same ruling in this state.—Portland Sun.
