

The dispatches recently stated that Governor McKinley had said that if the republican party put a free silver plank in its platform that he would not only not accept the nomination for the presidency, but that he would leave his party. It is not at all likely that Governor McKinley said anything of the kind, or that he said anything at all on the subject that he could avoid. Governor McKinley is a politician, and does not take the trouble to express an opinion that will only serve to make him enemies. He is like Reed or Allison, or any other politician, and would take the nomination for president no matter what the platform contained. Mr. McKinley would like to climb into the presidential chair, and he will not be particular as to the kind of stepladder offered him.

Somebody said the other day that the O. R. & N. Co. was destined to soon go back under the same management with the Union Pacific. However, that is not its destiny. It will soon pass out of a receiver's hands into the hands of a superb general manager and that general manager will be no other individual than Edwin McNeill. This is good news for Portland and Pendleton, and for Eastern Oregon and Oregon, and for all other towns and valleys making use of the road's facilities, which are to be improved while rates will be reduced. The O. R. & N. Co., under this management, will encourage industry and enterprise and do much to assist in developing our latent resources. There is a good time coming.—E. O.

A New York minister declares it his conviction that it is more important to lift men out of the ditch than to get them into his particular church. There is something in the idea. The greatest service any man can do for the religion of Christ is to help his fellow men, like Abou Ben Adam, whose name lead all the rest. This is a growing sentiment in the best element of the church as well as the outside world, that the best religion is that put into effect in every day life, in business and in society—a seven-day religion. The more this idea is put into practice the faster will the church grow, in a healthy reliable way, without any of the forcing process in it.—News.

Oregon will never be a good corn country, but it has been proven that almost any farmer can profitably raise an acre or two of some early variety. It would be excellent for feeding pigs at the beginning of the fattening season. Wonder how many families eat the old-fashioned lye hominy? It is both palatable and healthy. Nor is cornbread to be sneezed at. Your horses and your cows would thank you for the cornstalks and fodder. Fellow-Missourians and Kentuckians, do not go back upon the staff of life upon which you were principally raised.—Portland Sun.

It is now reported that it will take the United States supreme court five years to catch up with the docket. It may be that the machinery of the law has a fixed limit to its capacity, but to the practical western mind it seems that if the members of our most dignified tribunal would take a reef in their gowns, shorten their sleeves with rubber bands, and defy precedent by working a little harder and a little longer, they could overhaul the docket in half the estimated time. Justice still clings to the gait, it had in stage-coach times.—Exchange.

The campaign for diversified farming is having its effect. Reports from all parts of the state indicate a decreased wheat acreage and a largely increased acreage of hay, fruit, vegetables, etc. Considering the actual and inevitable increase in the area sown to grain by some growers where new land has been brought under cultivation the showing is sure to be very favorable.

The richest man in the next congress will be Mr. Sorg, of the Third Ohio district, whose wealth is estimated at $15,000,000 and income at $1,000,000. He is one of the democrats elected from the Northern states to the next house. Mr. Sorg will soon hand in his check for $20,000 to meet the income tax required by a democratic law.

Germany collects $29,000,000 income tax, only those having less than 900 marks ($214) a year being exempt.

The Pembina (North Dakota) Express says: North Dakota has been doing without grand juries for a long time, and we haven't missed them, either. In fact, the grand jury, when run by the county attorney, as it always was, was a useless, expensive and cumbersome body. The county attorney really did the indicting when we had the grand jury just as much as he does now without the jury. Of course, it is a good idea to have the statute so worded that if deemed necessary a grand jury can be called, as our statute does, but we don't believe that there have been half a dozen grand juries in the state since our law was adopted in 1890.

There cannot be a healthy and substantial betterment of the conditions of trade and commerce until the people settle down to work and stop talking politics and discussing hard times. If every one will attend strictly to his own business, practice economy and make the most out of that which offers, the desired improvement and stability will come.—Dispatch.

In Missouri it is proposed to levy a tax upon bachelors as follows: Those between the ages of 30 and 35 are to be taxed $10; between the ages of 35 and 40, $15; between 40 and 45, $30; between 45 and 50, $50; between 50 and 55, $75. Bachelors over 60 years of age are required to pay 25 per cent of their taxable wealth.

The income-tax law is working better than was expected, both as to the collection of the tax and the receipts, which already amount to over $15,000,000. It may, therefore, be expected that opposition to the law will decrease, and that it will become, for some years at least, a feature of our revenue system.

James W. Smith has 20 lines of carpet to select from in prices from 35c to $1.50 per yard. When you have a dollar to spare go to James W. Smith's and see if it won't go further and spread over more goods than anywhere else in Eastern Oregon.

Mayville Mutterings. Miss Emma Edwards returned to her home in Eugene, Lane county, last week. Born, on Friday, April 5th, to the wife of Herman Wipper, a fine daughter.

Mrs. Ella Rinehart and Miss Nettie Mayfield visited the Rebekah lodge at Fossil Tuesday evening and report having passed a pleasant evening. Miss Lydia Duncan was initiated into the mysteries of the degree at that place.

E. E. Smith of Condon, Fin Thomas and Geo. Taylor of Rock creek, B. Gaffney and Joe Morris of Fossil came over Saturday evening and assisted in butting into membership William Ramsay. The Rebekahs gave a fine oyster supper, to which all did due justice—the old bachelors especially.

Mrs. E. A. Stinchfield and Mrs. Allen McConnell were summoned Monday to the bedside of their mother, Mrs. Caleb Perrin of Pine creek, who is very low with heart trouble. I. D. CLARK.

Good for Hogs and Sheep. CLEM, OR., April 2d.

EDITOR GLOBE: I have solved a very important question for hog-raisers. For about two years I have raised here on my bunch-grass ranch "Jerusalem artichokes," and must say it is a "howling success." It is most excellent for fattening hogs and sheep. They yield over 1500 bushels to the acre, and do not freeze in the ground over winter. When they are in blossom I cut the stalks for fodder—like corn fodder, and in the winter I feed it to my horses. They like it and fatten on it. Now is the time to plant them. I have lots of it for sale. When I first planted them old settlers told me that it was nonsense; that they would not grow on the bunch-grass. They grow wherever potatoes grow. Yours truly, CHAS. DAHLKE.

Dissolution Notice. The firm of J. H. Miller & Dunn Bros. has this day been dissolved by mutual consent, J. H. Miller retiring. The business will be continued by Dunn Bros., who will assume all debts contracted by said firm. Parties indebted to this firm are requested to settle at once. J. H. MILLER & DUNN BROS. CONDON, OR., April 4, 1895.

Lost—A Cow.

About 2 years ago a roan cow, 7 years old this spring, branded NO on right hip, right ear cropped, strayed from my place near Hay Creek Butte. When last heard of she was ranging on Five Mile, this county. I will pay a suitable reward for her return to my place, or for information leading to her recovery. Z. T. DODSON.

"We take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is praised by all who try it," says J. W. Cox & Son, druggists, Marshfield, Oregon. No one afflicted with a throat or lung trouble can use this remedy without praising it. It always gives prompt relief. It is especially valuable for colds as it relieves the lungs, makes breathing easier and aids expectoration. A cold will never result in pneumonia when this remedy is taken and reasonable care exercised. For sale by L. W. Darling, druggist.

Say, Look Here.
