GLOBOSITIES.

"Rah for the 1/4!" Miss Carrie Danneman is teaching a term of school at Clem. Ernest Seekamp sold his wool to "Little Phil" Heppner for 7 1/2 cents a pound. The entire program of exercises for the celebration will be published next week. Tomorrow is the longest day in the year. See if you can notice the difference tomorrow.

Rev. W. H. Zellers of Fossil has consented to deliver the oration at Condon on the 4th. Our school will commence Sept. 2d, with C. J. Morey and Mrs. E. L. Taylor as teachers.

Mrs. T. A. Brassfield of Clem left last week on a visit to the home of her childhood in Illinois.

Joe Trevett is having his saloon painted outside and inside and papered this week by W. A. Goodwin.

Last week Alex Hardie sold to Mrs. Kate Russell of Matney Flat, 500 head of yearling ewes at $1 a head.

Dr. Nott, the dentist, is in town and will remain until July 1st. Those needing such work should hurry up.

Frank Shannon made proof on his homestead Saturday, with J. C. Cooney and D. B. Trimble as witnesses.

Hugh Medlock, the horse thief, was sentenced to three and one-half years in the "pen" from Umatilla county last week.

Scroggins, the California foot racer, broke the world's 230-yard record at Champaign, Ill., last Friday. Time: 21 2-5 seconds.

Condon always has the best celebrations in the whole country, and from reports the crowd this time will be larger than ever before.

Chas. B. Sears and wife spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Al Henshaw. Mrs. J. H. Hudson accompanied them home for a couple of days' visit.

The Moro Brass Band, 11 pieces, has been engaged to furnish music at Condon on the Fourth. It is one of the best bands in Eastern Oregon.

S. B. Barker and Tom Johnson left Tuesday for Portland on business. While below, Mr. Barker will purchase a large stock of choice goods for his store.

Mrs. Wm. Scribner and brother, Ed. Meek, of Condon, departed Friday for the McDuffie springs where they expect to spend the next month.—Heppner Gazette.

Ed Copner, the well-known drummer, has quit the road for the present and has secured a position as clerk in the Holton House, one of the best hotels in Portland.

Atty. H. B. Hendricks has just received from Chicago a fine Edison typewriter with a mimeograph, and is so well pleased with it that "plays" on it almost day and night.

As it is beyond question that the United States is the greatest and richest nation in the world, we might as well take the lead in settling the financial question.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Parman next Wednesday. All the members are requested to be present and bring all their friends who can come.

B. K. Searey's wheat always commands the highest prices. Monday he sold 80 sacks of Blue Stem wheat at Arlington, which weighed 12,028 pounds, making a little over 200 bushels.

E. Martin, ex-county clerk, was convicted in the circuit court at The Dalles last week for issuing fraudulent warrants, and Judge Bradshaw sentenced him to four years in the penitentiary.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thompson of Matney Flat came up from California last week on a visit to her parents. She has been residing with her uncle and had not seen her parents for eight years.

The dozen or so of Condonites who visited Portland and the valley last week have all returned except Ray Henson, who will arrive here about tomorrow, accompanied by his wife's sister from McCoy, Polk county.

Now whatever the outcome of this season's crop in Oregon may be there is one crop in this county that was never known to fail—that is the crop of political office hunters. They are just beginning their clod-mashing.—Grant County News.

Everybody who enjoys a really first-class celebration and good time are coming to Condon on the 4th. Some of the fastest horses in Eastern Oregon will be here for the races, and the other exercises of the day will also be highly entertaining. No one can afford to miss it.

If women still continue to increase the size of their sleeves, by the next season it will be impossible to get near enough to whisper, says an exchange, while another adds the prediction that "if the coming woman cuts her trousers in proportion to sleeves, man, poor man, will have little standing room on the planet."

About the only laboring some people do is laboring under the impression that men should do no work. Work is the essential for success in everything, even from raising a good wheat crop to having an interesting and profitable prayer meeting.—Ex.

The two postoffices in the United States most widely separated from each other are those at Key West, Fla., and Unalakpa, Alaska. They are 6271 miles apart, and yet a two-cent stamp will carry a letter to the other as readily as from New York to Brooklyn.

Col. T. S. Lang, formerly receiver of the land office, died at The Dalles Tuesday. The deceased was a great politician in his earlier days. In 1856 he ran on an independent ticket in Maine against Jas. G. Blaine for Congress and lacked only a few votes of beating him.

Ex-Collector Quin, of San Francisco, says that in the last forty years the Chinese have sent $1,400,000,000 of money out of this country. He believes that this drain has had a serious effect upon the finances of the United States; that the Chinese represent a live danger today, and are likely to become still more dangerous under the operation of a new treaty.

Mr. N. W. Wallace, the hotel man, while working on his barn at Antelope last Friday, fell from the door about eighteen feet to the ground, sustaining a very serious fracture of his leg. He is a very heavy man, and when on a high round of the ladder it broke and he fell over backwards. Fortunately he did not strike on any vital part; but it may take some weeks before he will be able to be around.

At the called meeting of the school board last Saturday, the directors of district No. 1, Heppner, selected the following teachers for the ensuing year: F. M. Overacre, of Illinois, principal; Misses May Bailey, Addie Jones and Addie Conlee, same positions as held last year; Miss McIntosh, of Pendleton primary. The principal will receive $100 per month and the assistants $50 each.—Heppner Gazette.

The Condon Stockmen's Protective Union was organized Saturday afternoon by the stockmen of Condon and vicinity. W. S. Myers was elected chairman and L. W. Darling secretary. A special meeting will be held tomorrow, 22d, at one o'clock, in the office of L. W. Darling, and every stockman is earnestly invited to be present. The union wishes every one owning stock to become a member.

Henry Perry of Lone Rock made proof on his Hd. Monday before the county clerk, with Nat Scott and G. H. Neel as witnesses. Mr. Perry came out about eight years ago from Pittsburg, Pa., where he "held down" one job in the iron works for nearly fourteen years. He is greatly pleased with this country, and says if a man can't make a living and do well here he can't anywhere in the United States. This section needs many more such men as Mr. Perry.

The Weston Leader has the following to say about Dick Gerberding, who formerly lived near Fossil: Last Wednesday, on the Weston mountain, Dick Gerberding had a rather disastrous runaway. He was cutting wood, and had tied his team to a tree. He cut down another tree near the horses, and the fall of it frightened them. They broke loose and started pell-mell through the timber, finally running against a tree. One horse's leg was broken, and the animal had to be shot. The other was severely hurt, and the wagon was badly demolished.

Pennsylvania has recently adopted a law which provides that those owning and using draft wagons with tires not less than 4 inches wide for hauling loads of not less than 2,000 pounds, shall receive a rebate of one-fourth of their road tax. Michigan has had for about fifteen years a similar law, and the effect is very apparent. Roads are more easily built, and they keep themselves in repair, except the removing of loose rock. We believe in view of the light soil of this portion of the country, the farmers would find it economy, even without legislative encouragement, to use such wagons. This state could well afford to follow the example of Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Tuesday evening Mr. David Zachary of Shuttler Flat met with an accident which will perhaps terminate fatally. While returning home from Arlington the horse came off of one of his horses, causing a runaway. Mr. Zachary was thrown violently to the ground and run over, breaking both legs and one arm and injuring him internally. Dr. Geisendorfer was summoned and he was taken to his home, where he lies in a critical condition. As he is 68 years old his chances for recovery are doubtful. It is a singular coincidence that near the same place his neighbor, Dan Cameron, was almost killed in a similar manner a few days ago. Both are directors of that school district.

All Are Invited To the preaching services in the school house next Sunday. Morning subject, "The High Calling." In the evening, "The Battle With an Ox Goad." The morning discourse will be preceded by a short sermon to the children.

The O. R. & N. will give round-trip tickets for the price of a single fare on July 2d, 3d and 4th, good until the 8th.

1000-mile tickets for $30, good for one year, for sale by the agent at Arlington.

Small Farms.

One of our most prominent farmers (who prefers his name withheld from publication) offers the following sensible argument to show why a small farm in this country can be made to pay better than a large one. He writes: It has seemed to me for several years that the great trouble with the farmers of Gilliam county has been they are trying to farm too many acres and as a consequence are farming too poorly. And especially is this true of the last few years. As the prices of farm products have gone down they have farmed more acres in order to keep their incomes up to what they were in former years, not realizing that the more acres farmed the more one's expenses are bound to be. It is being asserted by practical farmers all through the east that ten acres of land properly cultivated to vegetables or fruit will make a good living for a family. If this is true surely eighty or even forty acres here will do the same thing. I believe there is more money made in farming eighty acres than one hundred and sixty, provided the same amount of work is put on each. To prove this let us take the following example:

Suppose A & B begin with 160 acres apiece and A farms 80 acres and B his whole 160, putting it in wheat. A plows 80 acres at $1 per acre $80.00 Harrowing, seeding, at $1 per acre 80.00 Heading at $1 per acre 80.00 Threshing 2400 bushel at 5c a bushel 120.00 Total $320.00 Twenty-four hundred bushels at 25 cts per bushel equals $600.00. From this take $360.00 and he will have $240.00 for his work.

B plows 160 acres at $1 per acre $160.00 Seeding, harrowing, at $1 per acre 160.00 Heading at $1 per acre 160.00 Threshing 3200 bushels at 5c a bushel 160.00 Total $640.00 Thirty-two hundred bushels at 25 cts per bushel equals $800.00. From this take $640.00 and he will have $160.00 for his summer's work, or just two-thirds as much as A has made on his 80 acres.

In the above example I have reasoned A's crop at 30 bushels per acre and B's at 20, but I believe the difference in the yield will be far greater than this.

Now suppose that A rents his other 80 acres to a neighbor, who farms it as well as he does his own, and gets one-third for rent. He will receive 400 bushels more from him, which, at 25 cts per bu., will bring him $100.00 more. This will bring his income up to $340.00 while B's will only be $160.00.

Now there may be some who will say that a man cannot raise 30 bu. per acre without summer-fallowing; but I know a man not far from here who threshed 56 bushels per acre, and another one who sold 18 tons of hay from 12 acres besides putting up several tons for himself, and this on bunchgrass land and not a summer-fallow.

It is said that there is more waste land from an agricultural standpoint in this state than in the Mississippi Valley.

All the land capable of cultivation in this county should be in small holdings and made to produce to the limit.

Small farming means much. It means better roads, better schools, nearer neighbors, and better markets. It means companionship, sociability and touch with the world.

Our climate invites outdoor life, it invites people from more rigorous sections to come and prolong their lives and usefulness.

Lone Rock Ripets. Crops need rain in this section again, which we hope to see before long.

A great deal of wool has been sold at Heppner within the last ten days. The price has been from 6 1/2 to 8 1/2 cents per pound, mostly bought by Eastern buyers.

The Lone Rock girls will celebrate the Fourth at Condon in grand style. Some of them are giving up their jobs of work so they can get ready for the occasion. We sincerely wish them a good time.

People in the lower Willow creek and Eight mile country make a great deal of complaint about squirrels being worse this year than usual. They are doing more damage in this vicinity this summer than for years. It is caused by the grass getting too dry for them, so they have to eat grain and garden truck or starve to death, poor things.

One of the Carson boys of Haystack shot one of his fingers almost off last Monday with a .38-calibre rifle. He was pulling it out from under his bed at his sheep camp to shoot a coyote and did not know it was ready to go off so soon. The doctor thinks he can save the finger but cannot tell for a few days yet. The ball carried away part of the bone.
