THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER, 22, 1895.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Senator John H. Mitchell has gone to the national capital to be in attendance at congress which convenes next month. On Saturday before leaving he received a telegraphic inquiry from the Chicago Inter-Ocean asking an expression of his opinion as to his construction of the Monroe doctrine. As this question is certain to be one of the first to come up in the senate after congress convenes, the views of the senator will be of special interest and significance to his constituency in Oregon. His answer is: "There must be no attempt on the part of European powers, or any of them, to extend their system of government to any portion of this hemisphere; nor any interposition on their part under any pretense whatever, for the purpose of seizing, or, without our consent, acquiring any territory therein; or in any manner interfering with, or controlling, or attempting to control, the destinies of any of the independent governments of this hemisphere. And any such act or acts must be regarded as unfriendly to the United States; as an invasion of our political rights, and as our national peace and safety. This doctrine, moreover, is not confined in its applicability merely to the mainland of this hemisphere, but extends to all proximate and adjacent islands in surrounding waters. To the maintenance of the integrity of this doctrine in its most comprehensive sense, this nation is devoted, and by its very terms stands irrevocably pledged. And if necessary to enforce this doctrine, so absolutely essential to our national safety, our government is not only justified in resorting to offensive war, but is impressed with a duty of the most exalted character to do so."

A business man from The Dalles, who lately returned from Tacoma, said the "City of Destiny" shows the result of overbooming in a lamentable degree. Blocks of elegant buildings are standing tenantless, and "for rent" and "for sale" signs are too frequently seen. Tacoma grew faster than its resources justified and its present condition is one that could be foreseen had cooler judgement prevailed. The future is not at all hopeless, however, for when things are reorganized on their proper basis the city will progress at a satisfactory pace. It seems, though, that Tacoomans must be content to acknowledge that Seattle has passed them in the race, and instead of striving to be the metropolis of Washington must work to maintain second place. And even then the city will have a lousy rival in Spokane.—Chronicle.

The recent elections indicate a strong discontent with the present condition of things. The existing administration is always held responsible for the good or bad times that prevail, sometimes justly, but as often otherwise. Maryland and Kentucky, which have been democratic strongholds, went republican because the democratic masses would not be coerced or controlled by would-be political bosses, such as Gorman, Blackburn and Hardin. As the years go by there is getting to be more political freedom, the people refusing to be pulled around after the whims of the leaders.—Dallas Itemizer.

An exchange sensibly remarks: If the people of Oregon would for one year only buy Oregon flour, Oregon baking powder, Oregon butter, Oregon eggs, Oregon wagons, Oregon cheese, brooms, hams, bacon and matches, Oregon made soap, Oregon made clothing and Oregon lumber, we would hardly know what to do with this vast amount of money. It is outrageous to think of the many millions of dollars we each year send out of the state to pay for what we can just as well produce at home.

The Michigan supreme court has decided that "having the jawbone fractured while getting a tooth drawn is not an accident," the Pennsylvania supreme court has ruled that "beef stew is not soup," the United States supreme court has handed down a decision that "the tomato is a vegetable," and the Oregon supreme court has held that "a mortgage is real estate." Our high tribunals do great things for us, says the Oregonian.

Sensible subscribers to newspapers are not going to be offended at little things. No paper in existence can please everybody, and reasonable people appreciate the fact.—Review.

An exchange, commenting on the war prospects says: "Yes Uncle Sam could lick a good many people, but he doesn't want to. There is a great deal more fun drinking cider and cracking hickory nuts before a winter fire than there is in tent life and munching hardtack with sowlbelly accompaniment."

England is proposing a pretty big contract in building an 800-mile railway into the heart of Africa. It was proposed years ago and a survey made, but has never met with any large public favor until now. Tours to the Victoria Nyanza are likely to be more common in the near future than in the past.

Rev. Grannis, a Salem minister, makes the statement, "that 999 out of 1,000 are born of lust, and that the marriage relation is little better than legalized licentiousness." For this the Salem papers are after his scalp with a vengeance and he will perhaps be fired out of the church.

James C. Matthews, colored, was elected last week on the democratic ticket to the office of judge of the recorder's court of Albany, N. Y., which office carries with it the powers of superior court judge. It is the highest judicial position ever held by a man of his race in this country.

Ex-Governor Campbell of Ohio says that, in his opinion, Cleveland has no more idea of seeking a third term as president than he has of becoming queen of England. The president is treating the silly rumors with the contempt they deserve.

A heavily loaded electric car went through the draw of a bridge at Cleveland, Ohio, Saturday, falling 101 feet. Twenty of the passengers were killed. The motor-man was arrested and found guilty of criminal carelessness.

Claus Spreckles, the sugar king, was visited by an insane man in San Francisco Saturday, who demanded $500,000 in gold. He got it. That is, he got arrested and jailed with a charge of insanity hanging over him.

It is literally true that cut rates have made it cheaper to travel back and forth continually between Portland and San Francisco by steamer than to live at a good hotel.—Oregonian.

T. A. Starrh, who was register of the United States land office at Hailey, Idaho, under the last administration, has been arrested for the embezzlement of $2161 while in office.

The $500 night shirt of a one-time U. S. senator wasn't in it with Consuela Vanderbilt's gold-clasped and diamond-bedecked corset.—Exchange.

The Kentucky legislature will be a tie, 68 republicans and 68 democrats. The two populist members will hold the balance of power.

A Corvallis woman has given birth to five bouncing boy babies. Very much was expected of the "new woman," but this exhibition of her capabilities amazes, even if it does not terrorize her most ardent admirers.—Times.

Mrs. W. B. Meek, who resides at Camptonville, Cal., says her daughter was for several years troubled at times with severe cramps in the stomach, and would be in such agony that it was necessary to call in a physician. Having read about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy she concluded to try it. She found that it always gave prompt relief. It was seldom necessary to give the second dose. "It has not only saved us lot of worry and time, she says, "but also doctor bills. It is my opinion that every family should have a bottle of this remedy in the house." For sale by all druggists.

To The Public.
