GLUCEOSITIES.

Sylvan Palmer returned home from The Dalles today.

Read the County Treasurer's notice in another column and learn when your warrants are payable.

As usual, the Roseburg Review issued an excellent New Year edition, which is a credit to Douglas county.

Miss Dora Downing returned from California last week and has resumed her studies again at Forest Grove.

Wm. G. Shepard, the popular horse-raiser of West Fork, was over to the county-seat Monday on business.

John Meek is visiting, Rev. E. Curran and wife, at Oakland, Cal. He is expected back to Oregon next week.

It is estimated that it will be necessary to levy a state tax that will raise $780,000 to pay the expenses for 1896.

T. E. Cruikshank writes us to send his Globe to the present to San Jose, Cal., where he is stopping at present.

"Uncle Jack" Caven was over to town the first of the week with a load of his fine apples, which he sold at 3c a pound.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandenburg sold out their confectionery store and phonograph at Moro, and have moved to Weston.

The New Year edition of the Oregonian is the grandest ever issued by that great paper, and is a credit to the entire state.

On Friday last, Utah was admitted as a state into the Union. It won't be long until Arizona and New Mexico will follow suit.

Judge Mariner and Commissioners Ralston and Clymer are holding a regular session of county court at Condon this week.

Some of the weather prophets predict that winter is over, but we predict that they will change their minds again next month.

John Madden was in town Tuesday on business. He expects to come back in a few days and make proof on his timber culture.

Miss Nettie Mayfield of Mayville left Saturday for Portland and Oregon City, where she expects to visit relatives a couple of months.

The school boys tell us that a pin properly inserted in a vacant chair makes as good a starting point as the general run of boys desire.

The Orientals organized a lodge at Mayville Friday night, with a charter membership of 16 names. Their lodge at Condon is growing right along.

Frank Stricklin of Rock creek brought his step-daughter, Miss Nora Miller, up to town Saturday, to remain this winter and attend school here. She is stopping with Mrs. Frazer.

The Antelope Herald publishes the following libel on Condon: "As if to give expression to his willingness to get his daughters married off, a Condon citizen has killed his two bulldogs and sold his gun."

A number of our people attended the burial of Mrs. Silas Brown on Rock creek Saturday. Mrs. Brown was a lady of sterling qualities and was universally loved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

We learn that T. C. Keizer has struck it rich in the Bohemia mines in Lane county, and has just had erected on his gold mines a new 10-stamp mill and other improvements. Cal is likely to wear diamonds yet.

A man by the odd name of Smith, who lives near Goldendale, is so enthusiastic over the war prospect that he announces that in case of war he will make Cleveland a present of 6000 head of good horses to be used as cavalry steeds.

The girl at Antelope who stole out over her mother's sleeping form to elope with her young man, is a wife worth having. If she could do that she ought to be able to get out and kindle the fire without waking her sleeping spouse.

Mr. F. A. Falkenberg of Denver, the head consul of the Woodmen of the World, will visit Oregon the latter part of this month. We have not learned whether he intends to visit Condon camp or not, but the chances are that he will.

Judge Bennett left Saturday for Washington, D. C., to argue two cases before the U. S. supreme court. He is attorney for plaintiffs Shortline and Mullen vs. the Oregon Short Line and Utah & Northern R. R. Co.'s, and Francis Conlon against the same.

Rev. Bramblet of Lone Rock will assist Rev. Drake with the revival here, from next Sunday until its close, which will not likely be for several weeks yet. This reinforcement will cause renewed interest in the meetings and much good is sure to be derived therefrom.

Charles Klumball, of Dayville, is in trouble. Last Tuesday, Constable Greenwell delivered him to the sheriff and Mr. Klumball is now in jail at Canyon City, in default of $500 bail, on a charge of the larceny of cattle, the property of the French-Gillman Livestock Company.

If you want to win a prize, subscribe for the F. F. Examiner through the Group agent. Among the $155,000 worth of prizes to be presented to its subscribers this year are: First prize, a $10,000 farm; 2d prize, a $5,000 gold nugget; 3d prize, the winner's weight in silver, worth about $1,500. Now is the time to subscribe.

Ray Henson and family left the first of this week for Westfall, Malheur county, where they will reside until next summer, during which time Ray will dispose of his cattle, which are ranging over there. They expected to visit relatives at Pendleton several days while on the journey.

Herman Wipper, one of the executors of the estate of H. W. Pentecost, deceased, was in town Tuesday on business before the county court. He informs us that the estate is simply able to pay all the claims against it in full, so that creditors have no occasion to worry about not getting their money.

After 20 days' confinement, Zed Harvey was liberated from the county jail Saturday last, having served out the amount of his fine and costs. It is hoped this lesson will be the means of keeping Zed on the "straight and narrow path" hereafter. It is a true saying that "the way of the transgressor is rocky."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Colwell of Arlington visited their old friends Al Henshaw and family at Condon over Sunday. Mr. Colwell attended a meeting of the K. of P. lodge at Lone Rock Saturday night. On Sunday they both united with the Congregational church at this place. They had been members of the Unitarian church.

As a beneficial insurance organization the Woodmen of the World have made an exceptionally good showing. The organization has been in existence 68 months and during that time has levied only 68 assessments upon its members. In 1895 there were only 10 assessments, and the order starts off with the new year with no assessments for January.

Reube Simon, formerly of Butte creek, who has been residing near Hillsboro for the last two years, is visiting his relatives in Gilliam county. He visited his son-in-law, Sheriff Wilcox, at Condon Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Simon says he likes Eastern Oregon much better than he does the valley, but they will stay down there awhile yet, in order to have the advantage of the excellent school facilities of Hillsboro.

San Francisco has a preacher with many woes. He has had one woman sent to jail for blackmailing him and he confesses that other women of his flock have made similar attempts. It is evident that he is convinced that his is the only reputation in San Francisco worth blackmailing and, persuaded that all the bad women in town are after him, has grabbed up his good name and retreated into the courts for protection.

Mont Ward's horse narrowly escaped death the other day. He was riding along the edge of a very steep hill, which was covered with ice. The horse slipped and as Mont jumped off, the animal slid and fell about 50 yds down the hill with almost the rapidity of a cannon ball. Fortunately just before striking the rocky bottom, the saddle horn caught on a fence post in such a manner as to break the force and the horse wasn't hurt very badly. Ralph May last week had a horse killed by just such an experience.

Mrs. Connolly, who left here Thursday of last week for her home in Portland, arrived there on Friday morning and was completely prostrated upon learning that her 14-year-old son George had died the night before. The boy was suddenly attacked with typhoid fever and his mother left here before the news of his sickness came, and consequently did not know of it until her arrival in Portland. It is a terrible blow to her and her daughter Petrenella, who have many friends here who sympathize with them.

The Dalles Chronicle says the greatest improvement in The Dalles within the last year is the fine new residence of Jas. Snipes. Where formerly was the bed of a lake, filled with water in winter and dry in summer, now stands the handsome new home of Mr. Snipes. The house is a modern two-story one, which can be seen from different parts of town and which itself commands a magnificent view. Inside it is handsomely finished and contains the most modern appliances for housekeeping. The cellar is blasted out of solid rock, a way of building cellars that is not very common. A commodious barn adds to the appearance of the property.

There will be a public installation of the newly elected officers of the Woodmen of the World lodge in their hall here this (Thursday) evening. A literary and musical entertainment will also be given by the members, for which an interesting program has been prepared. After these exercises a lunch will be served for all present and a general good sociable time is expected. A large number of guests are expected to be present, as each member is expected to invite as many of his friends as he chooses to. The initiation fee has been reduced from $7 to $5, to be in force until the 6th of next month, and the names of about 15 new members have been handed in, to be balloted on at this meeting. As it is not likely that the initiation fee will ever be as high as it is now, again, this is an opportunity to get into the best and cheapest life insurance in the world.

Death of B. D. Clarke.

As announced in last week's issue, the death of Barna Delino Clarke occurred at his home near Lone Rock on the morning of January 1st. The body was brought to Condon Thursday and buried in the cemetery here on Friday. Rev. Drake conducting the funeral services.

The deceased was born at Williams-town, Vt., on June 13, 1823, and at the time of his death was past 73 years of age. He always resided in New England until eight years ago, when he moved with his family to Lone Rock. His aged and feeble companion, three sons and one daughter survive him, one son and one daughter having preceded him to the other world. One son, Nathaniel, is residing in Minnesota, Colby in Georgia, and Myron and the daughter Mrs. S. B. Barker, at Condon.

The deceased was a model citizen, a man of wide knowledge and always held in the highest esteem by his neighbors and acquaintances. In the last few years he devoted considerable of his time to making collars, at which work he was very skillful, and the fine coffin in which his corpse was buried was made by his own hands.

Arlington Items.

Arlington has her fine brick reservoir completed, and now has the best water service in Eastern Oregon.

Owing to the sickness of the primary teacher, Miss Edith Young, there is but one department of our school running at present.

The Arlington Brass band met Monday night and completed their organization with 13 members. It will be run as a joint stock company.

Quite a lot of rain fell here the first of the week—something we can't get too much of. Only about two inches of snow has fallen here this winter.

Our farmers as a rule are in good circumstances and with a good crop next summer will give them some encouragement and also make this one of the best counties in Eastern Oregon.

Harry Clay was in town the first of the week. He tells us that he is feeding 3 1/2 tons of wheat to his mutton sheep every day, besides all the wheat hay they can eat.

The winter so far has been a very mild one, the ground having been frozen but very little two or three times. There has been quite a lot of moisture—in fact more than usual at this time of the year.

The June election bees are buzzing around here every day and several have got tangled up in the hair of some of our townsmen. We are afraid they will get stung by them next summer if they don't get them out before June.

Our hunters have played havoc with the geese here of late, having killed forty within the last week. The geese have made up their minds that there is to be no winter, so will stay with us till spring if they don't all get killed.

W. H. Colwell, who has just returned from his sheep ranch in Lone Rock valley, reports stock doing well in that section, so far this winter. He reports one band of sheep affected with scab—the first case of scab that has been in that section for several years. The owner, John M. Brown, will dip them at once.

Election passed off quietly last Tuesday considering the amount of talking that was done on both sides. There were two strong factions—one the citizens ticket, the other the people's ticket, called by some the A. P. A. ticket. The former was elected by a small majority. L. C. Edwards, Mayor; Dal Reed, C. S. Wener, A. C. Hawson and C. W. Shure, Councilmen. Only 104 votes were cast.

Lone Rock Riplets.

The quarterly meeting of the M. E. church was held here Saturday and Sunday by Elder Motor and was well attended.

W. H. Colwell came up from Arlington last Friday and was installed as Chancellor of the K. of P. lodge here Saturday night.

John Bolen moved his candy establishment away from the new hall to the Lone Rock hotel on Monday. He says high rent was the cause.

The weather is warm and pleasant and the grass is growing like in spring-time. Thus far this has been the most delightful winter for many years past.

A. P. A. council installed their new officers Tuesday night, but who they were is for them to know and us to find out, so they say. All is secrecy with them.

Notices are posted for a school meeting here on the 18th of this month for the purpose of voting a tax for school purposes. A school tax has never failed in Lone Rock yet, and we have good schools in consequence.

The many friends and relatives of Grandma Brown gathered together Thursday evening, Jan. 2, 1896, to listen to the preaching of her funeral sermon by Rev. Bramblet. Grandma Brown was born in Kentucky in the year 1813 and was married to her surviving husband, Silas Brown, in the year 1836. They were one of the pioneer families of Oregon and for the past nine years their home has been in the town of Lone Rock. The deceased had been a devout Christian and member of the church for over sixty years, and she lived and died a true Christian, always being self-sacrificing for the blessing of others. The most profound love from relatives and friends allowed her spirit to its eternal home of bliss. JOAN DUG.

Was Let Off Easy.

E. A. Crawford of Mayville was arrested at Athena last week on the charge of having in his possession counterfeit gold coin, to the amount of $80, which he tried to pass. He was taken to Pendleton, where he had a hearing before Justice Gillman, who bound him over to the federal grand jury in the sum of $1000, and was taken to Portland Thursday. Not relishing the idea of lying in jail there until the federal grand jury meets in June, Crawford concluded to plead guilty, and Judge Bellinger sentenced him to 3 months imprisonment in the Pendleton jail. This is the lightest sentence that can be imposed for such a crime, so Mr. Crawford may consider himself very lucky to be "let down" so easy. He claimed to have got the bogus coin from some confidence sharps in New York and says he was innocent of any intent to commit a crime by trying to pass it. He must have done some "tall talking" to the officers, as is evidenced by the following, which appeared in Saturday's Oregonian:

E. A. Crawford, charged with having counterfeit money in his possession and attempting to pass it, concluded to plead guilty in the United States circuit court Friday, and, as he expressed it, take his medicine and have it over. An information was prepared and filed, charging him with attempting to pass bogus coin, and he at once pleaded guilty to it. Assistant United States Attorney Schnabel put in a plea for leniency to Crawford, who, he said, had been imposed upon by some confidence firm conducted on the "green goods" plan. He had a wife and 9 children in need of support, which was enough punishment for any man. Although strictly original, the remarks were quite Shakespearean in style, and visibly effected the court, who let the trembling prisoner off with three months in Umatilla county jail, where he will be kept dry till the grass starts. This was considered wise, for a man who gets taken in by green goods fakes could not be expected to know enough to go in out of the rain.

Olex Explosions.

School began last Monday with Miss Claude Cooper as teacher.

Indications are very promising for a large wheat crop this year.

The A. P. A.'s seem to be taking in a good many new members of late at this place.

Some of our nimrods were out on the Flat goose hunting last week and came home with full bags.

Miss Nora Weatherford of Milton, Or., spent the holiday vacation with her parents on Shuttler Flat.

Joe Budd and a lady friend were visiting at William Weatherford's on Shuttler Flat Saturday and Sunday.

We have preaching here every Sunday morning at 10:30 in the little white church, by Rev. Green of Arlington.

There was a dance at Bunker Hill school house on New Year's night and a spelling match on the following Saturday night.

All the old maids are hustling around here preparing to take advantage of Leap Year. It is "now or never" with some of them.

Debate at Bunker Hill school house Saturday night. Question, "Resolved, that steam power has done more for man than the printing press."

The young folks have all returned to their places of schooling, after a short vacation, leaving our part of the country almost destitute of society.

A social dance was given Wednesday night at the Ward residence for the benefit of children who wish to learn to dance. A. A. Backus was instructor.

"We" started into the new year at the "hall" at Bunker Hill school house, which proved to be a pleasant affair, the only trouble being a shortage of floor room to accommodate the large crowd of dancers, there being about 80 in number. It's a cold day when Bunker Hill people can't have a dance, or anything that they wish to have.

With H. J. Nott as teacher at Bunker Hill, they have the best country school in the county, with 32 pupils enrolled and so many coming from other districts that they have been compelled to enlarge the seating capacity of the house. A six months' term began Monday last. They could not have made a better selection in the county for a teacher, as he is well liked by all and an able instructor. SKEELIX.
