

THE CONDON GLOBE.

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1896.

A. E. Johnson, a well-known steamship and immigration agent of an eastern company, makes the prediction that there will be not less than 100,000 new settlers brought into the northwest country by the time the summer comes. The expectation for immigration this year is that the best sort of results will accrue for the big immigration convention which was held in St. Paul in November. Immigration bureaus extending from the Dakotas to Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon, report an increased demand for information concerning the country, and the stimulated activity in this business cannot help but result in good to all. That at least, is the view taken by Mr. Johnson. The influx of new comers is not confined to foreigners, but there are a large number of easterners on the wing. The Great Northern reports having just landed some 18 Illinois families in Oregon.

A Salem man who has recently returned from a trip through Arizona and Southern California, thus writes his opinion of Oregon: "I have been in every state west of the Mississippi river except the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming and Nevada, and it is a fact that Oregon has more natural resources within the same area than any other state I have been in. What we need is less growing and more work. Little more pride about our house, chop up old dilapidated sidewalks for kindling, replace that old wooden fence with a hedge, plant flowers and have nice lawns, make the place attractive, 'all same California style.' Talk Oregon and advertise more."

Judge Dugro, of New York has declared that criticism of a public officer on the part of a newspaper was a public duty, and recently this declaration has been sustained by another judge in St. Louis. This is sound law and substantial justice; when the criticism is made without malice. Such declarations establish what is meant by the freedom of the press, and the freedom is of greater value to the public than it is to the newspaper, which invariably uses it to the sacrifice of business which would otherwise come to it. But a paper true to the public interest never allows business sacrifices to stand in the way of the performance of its duty.—E. O.

A dispatch from Washington, under date of April 22d, says: The senate committee on commerce now expects to conclude its consideration of the river and harbor bill tomorrow, or, at the least, Friday. The additions made will increase the total outlay provided for to the extent of about $10,000,000, and that for the next year to almost $2,000,000. Among the more important additions made under the continuing system are: About $2,000,000 for the boat railway at the dalles of the Columbia river in Oregon, with a small appropriation for the next year.

Japan is buying her steel rails at the Pennsylvania mills, finding them cheaper than in England and of better quality. At the same time our furnaces are shipping pig iron to the British market underselling the home product, to the amazement and consternation of the producer there, who would have smiled at such a prediction a few years ago.

Nine hundred thousand dollars is the price paid by the government for the water bureau. Of course this is a good thing, but we ought to get more good weather than we do for that price.

C. W. Fulton, of Clatsop county, has rendered an opinion in a matter relating to delinquent taxes, in answer to an inquiry from J. W. Hare, sheriff, as follows:

"In my judgment you cannot legally or safely for yourself or your bondsmen, permit the warrant issued for the collection of delinquent taxes to expire without making a levy and sale thereunder, of the real estate described in the delinquent list, unless the taxes thereon are fully paid. And I think this would be true even though the county court should agree that no levy need be made under the original warrant, because of the fact that it is a matter entirely beyond the power of the county court to regulate or control. It is a matter that is fixed and regulated entirely by the statute, and no officer or court is authorized or empowered under any circumstances to change the rule of the statute."—East Oregonian.

The Dalles Times-Mountaineer: Politicians who are in politics for revenue only have run Oregon long enough. It is time that those who pay the taxes take a hand. Let them consider the choice of officers as a plain business proposition, and the system of organized piracy that has prevailed in the state in the past will disappear.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.)
First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by druggists.
