GLOBOSITIES.

Mr. Geo. Coffin has somewhat recovered from his severe illness.

S. B. Barker requests us to announce that he is handling school books for this place this year.

The little infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Moore died last week, only a few hours after its birth.

Miss Birdie Downing made final proof on her homestead, one mile east of town, today before the clerk.

Miss Birdie Henshaw visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dannerdian at Clem several days this week.

Will Barker and family of Matney Flat are moving into their town residence, in order to send their children to school.

Little Alvin Wilcox is also down with the measles, and it is likely the disease will go the rounds of the town while it is on its job.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith, Miss Jennie Ebi and A. J. Coe arrived home to Arlington Wednesday from their outing on the Matoles river.

Young Billy Keys of Mayville has concluded to go into the cattle business again and has already bought over 200 head with that object in view.

We are pleased to note that Mr. J. C. Cooney, who was sick with appendicitis, is able to be out again. It was not necessary to perform an operation upon him.

Ed Copner and his wife have "made up" again and are living together in Portland. Ed is still holding down the position of traveling salesman for Wadham & Co.

Jas. S. Stewart and wife and child, of Fossil, visited Portland this week, leaving Sunday. Before returning, Mrs. Stewart will visit her old home in Josephine county.

Pat Skelly intends to go into the saloon business here again this fall. He will build on the corner lot opposite the Armory hall, which is an excellent location for that business.

Bert Brown, formerly of West Fork, has also broke out with the drummer craze, and he and his wife have moved to San Francisco, where Bert has a position as traveling salesman.

Henry S. Portwood, the drummer, arrived here last Thursday on a brief visit to his brothers and friends in this section. He is again on the road, going from here to Heppner via Fossil.

Tom Stricklin, a forner Condonite, has a race horse at the Salem races. Monday he thumped the whay out of A. White, his stable keeper, for which fun he was fined $50 and costs, which he is boarding out in jail.

The editor of this great family paper thankfully acknowledges receipt of a complimentary season ticket to the Oregon Industrial exposition which opens at Portland on Sept. 19th and lasts one month. It promises to be the best ever held there.

Our public school will begin next Monday, 31st, with Prof. Morey and Mrs. Taylor as teachers. These same teachers had charge of the school last winter and gave excellent satisfaction. A great many outside pupils will attend the school this term.

The Weston Leader says: Arthur Brandenburg is back from Granite breezy and genial, on a short visit for a little rest. Granite is lively, and hundreds of people are daily fed in the hotel where he is now employed. Three bartenders are employed in the saloon.

J. H. Downing has moved the old saloon building and butcher shop from the east side of Main street to the corner of Oregon avenue and Spring street, near the Armory hall, and is having additions built on both sides, with a view to putting in a stock of merchandise this fall.

Miss Frankie Parsons, a school ma'am of Gilliam county and a graduate of the O. A. C., arrived in Corvallis Sunday, and was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Henderson. Monday she took the train for Newport that she might attend the State Teachers Association, now in progress in that city.—Corvallis Times.

Rev. E. Curran and wife visited relatives and friends at Fossil the first of the week. On Friday of this week they will go to Heppner and after one day's visit there they will leave for their home in Oakland, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Curran both like Oregon better than California and will likely return to this state in a year or so.

Mrs. C. A. Dannerdian and three daughters of Clem expect to move to Condon this fall to remain until June, in order to have the advantage of our excellent school facilities. There are yet several vacant houses in town, but not enough to accommodate the large number of families who want to move here for school advantages.

E. M. Shutt, of the Antelope Herald, makes a flat denial that triplets, twins or anything else came to his home recently to claim him as daddy. He says there's nothing in it—and he ought to know. He also says that he is at a loss to know how the report originated, as there are no points about him to indicate that he has the ability to do a job like that.

Hoke Smith, secretary of the interior, last week resigned that position, owing to his views on the money question being antagonistic to Mr. Cleveland. Ex-Governor David R. Francis of Missouri has been appointed to fill the unexpired term.

Frank Edwards of Mayville left again last week for the Agricultural College at Corvallis, where he has attended school for several years. He now has a position of assistant teacher in one of the departments, which proves that he has made splendid progress in his studies. Tommy Livingston and Walter Golden expect to enter the same college this fall.

Johnnie Y. Dunn, formerly of Mayville, but for the last five years a merchant of Kelso, Wash., has turned drummer also, and this week visited the business men of this county, also his relatives and friends at Mayville. He was married two years ago, and a 9-month-old girl already adorns their home. His half sister, Miss Arizona Shockley, also of Kelso, is up here visiting relatives and friends.

A private letter from Austin, Grant county, says: There has been very little trouble here between the settlers and sheepmen. Several things rode up to Lewis Barker's camp on Burnt river the other night and fired a volley of about 50 shots into his hand, killing two sheep and wounding several others, and also scared the boys out of several years' growth. Lewis lost no time in moving out of that, and we don't blame him.

Ed Stephens of Rock creek is "warm under the collar," and has a good reason to be. One night last week several half-grown boys belonging to a camping outfit raided his melon patch and after snipping all they and the campers could eat, like crazy fiends they fell onto about 50 of the largest melons and slashed them to pieces. Ed knows who they are and says he will make an example of this case, and they deserve to be jerked out of their boots for such cussedness.

The marriage of Mr. Abraham Moyer and Miss Lydia Thompson was solemnized on Wednesday of this week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Thompson, on Matney Flat. Rev. E. Curran officiating. Only the relatives and a few immediate friends were present, and all were treated to a very fine wedding dinner after the wedding. The bride and groom are among our most industrious and highly respected young people and have a host of friends who join the Globe in hearty congratulations. They will reside on Mr. Moyer's excellent farm on Matney Flat.

In these days of political changes, history is being rapidly made. A new political party is now in the field and its name is the National Democratic party. It proposes to repudiate the doings of the Chicago convention, and to declare for a gold standard. It is said that Cleveland is in sympathy with the movement. Their convention will be held at Indianapolis on September 2, 1896, and candidates regularly nominated. Cleveland, Carlisle, Whitney and others are mentioned as possible candidates. Verily it is a wise man who knows where he stands politically at the present time, and just think of the strain that it is on the regular politician.

A dispatch from Shelbyville, Indiana, says that the double-headed notice of a bet in a Cincinnati paper wherein one John Egan, supposed to be the late general passenger agent of the late Big Four railroad, offers to bet $20,000 to $10,000 that McKinley will carry Indiana by 60,000 majority; $5,000 to $500 that Bryan does not get as many votes as Horace Greely got in 1872, has caused intense excitement in political circles there. William Sherman Pousha, who represents a syndicate of capitalists hunting for just such snags, has telegraphed that he will take all the foregoing bets, and offers to bet $20,000 to $10,000 that McKinley does not carry one state west of the Ohio river, and $20,000 to $10,000 that McKinley does not carry five states in the union.

Olex Explosions.

W. W. Weatherford finished threshing last week. A number of young people enjoyed a social dance on the platform in the grove here Saturday night.

James Redmond and family have moved onto the Short farm on the road between here and Clem.

Our blacksmiths have been working almost night and day lately, owing to the numerous header breakdowns. There are thousands of Calcutta sacks at Olex, but we presume some of them will be left over for another season.

A huge windmill is being erected at Olex to quench the thirst of traveling tourists and fill the tanks of the hill residents.

The county court ought to look after the bridges at Olex or a damage suit may be the result of carelessness in letting the bridges get shabby and go down.

A large crowd is expected out to hear Rev. Bryan preach here next Sunday at 11 o'clock. Mr. Bryan is a cousin of the democratic presidential nominee—but of course he is not to be blamed for that.

Threshing is booming and cheaper than ever. It is poor policy for threshers to keep underbidding each other and spend their time and wear out their machinery for nothing. They ought to consider what a hard time they have in paying for the machinery and other debts. But such rate wars are pleasing to those who have to pay for the threshing.

Arlington Items.

W. B. Ewing and family were in town Friday.

S. U. Hawson has returned home from the coast.

S. P. Shutt, the Globe man, was in town last week.

A fine load of Chamberlain's peaches were sold in town Tuesday.

The small lake across the river is becoming a very popular bathing resort.

Charley Shurte and Rae Larsen spent several days in Washington last week.

W. A. Maxwell and family returned home Tuesday from their visit at Columbus.

Elder Motor and Rev. Bryan conducted the quarterly conference here last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Edehman of Mayville visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cahill and other friends here this week.

Two Scotchmen arrived here Monday, fresh from across the frog pond. They will locate in this county.

Rev. Bryan will preach at Olex next Sunday at 11 o'clock. A large congregation is expected out to hear him.

Shurte Bros. have a variety of new and popular books at their postoffice store, which they are selling very cheap.

W. S. Farr spent Sunday in the Blacklock country. Constable Sweetin presided in the butcher shop during his absence.

Our school begins next month. Many people intend to move to town to remain during the winter to send their children to school.

Mrs. Hasford, of the W. C. T. U., lectured here last Thursday evening, on temperance, to a large audience on the street in front of the grande hotel.

F. C. Hindle, delegate to the Bend Camp, W. O. W., which recently met at Heppner, Mont., returned home Sunday. He reports having had an excellent time.

Lone Rock Riptlets.

Born, to the wife of Dr. Hinckley on Aug. 19th, a fine little son.

Mrs. Crawford has returned from Teal Springs, after a month's outing.

Miss Emma Harer has gone to Haystack to take charge of the school there.

About 1/2 of the pines and plums have fallen off of the trees, from some unknown cause.

The fall term of school here will begin the first Monday in September with Charley Roysse as principal.

Ira Reed contemplates moving his residence building from where it now stands to the lots where his hotel stood and use it as a hotel.

Seven head of stray horses passed through here the other day, going in the direction of Fossil. They are probably on their way to Webfoot.

It would surprise some people to see the big rick of wood that Morgan Ward has cut with the McKinley wood saw for his own use this winter.

Mrs. W. C. Brown returned home the first of the week from Creswell, Lane county, where she spent the summer at her old home. Her sister, Mrs. D. S. Brown returned home at the same time.

We have just learned that Mrs. Carson of Haystack lost her house and all its contents by fire the first of this week. It was occupied at the time by her son John and the loss will fall heavily upon them both.

A Girl's Idea of Marriage.

A young girl's ideas of marriage are very nebulous and undefined, writes Mrs. Burton Kingsland in the fifth paper in the series, "A Daughter of Sixteen," in the Ladies' Home Journal; She rarely looks beyond the "prestige" of being "engaged," the trousseau, the wedding festivities, the novelty of being the mistress of a house, and the adored being whose perfection are the constant theme of the ideal young husband. Her imagination rarely carries her farther than the first year or two of married life, when the novelty having passed, she must fall back upon the character of the man she has chosen to build her happiness upon.

Parents know how fleeting the passions of youth sometimes are, and how they fall in inharmonious conditions. They know that where the girl loves the ideal she creates, rather than the reality that exists, there will come a time of awakening, and her love may die, though the bond remain.

Worldly considerations are stronger with the old than with the young, and the most common parental objections are on the ground of insufficient means. "All for love, and the world well lost," has always been the lovers' creed, but the parents foresee that when a man feels the weight of a family upon him, whom he can barely support, depressing influences set in. His health fails, perhaps; care and anxiety rob him of the youthful attractions that won her heart; he may become querulous and exacting, and love itself have a hard struggle for existence.
