

THE CONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1896.

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

We met the enemy and we are theirs. Wm. McKinley has been elected president by one of the largest electoral votes ever given and by the popular vote. He is a pure statesman and we hope that he will give us an administration under which the country will prosper. As is well known to our readers we disagree with him on the prominent question at issue, but still we hope for the best. He is the president of no party. He is the president of the American people. If our political opponents prosper under his administration, so will we. If time does not bring the prosperity promised by the victorious party, the American people will arise in their might at the next election and hurl them from power. This is one of the blessings of a free and independent country.—Guard.

The American doctrine that every man is the equal to every other man, will finally result in serious trouble. The loafer is not the equal to the industrious man, and there is a difference in the intelligence of men, but the American doctrine says that all are equal. Americans bring up their boys with less ambition than the people of any other country, and as a result, a large shiftless class is growing up, with whom industry and thrift will finally be a crime. These shiftless people, refusing to take care of themselves, want the government to take care of them, saying it owes them a living. This is socialism and anarchy, and the very worst doctrine that could get a foothold in America.—Dalles Dispatch.

The democratic Eugene Guard pays Mr. Bryan this compliment: "William J. Bryan is as grand in defeat as he was in battle array. No candidate ever made such a fight single handed. He asked for no quarters from the aggregated wealth of America which fought him so bitterly, but denounced them from every platform. Nearly every leading paper in his party, the administration at Washington, and the heretofore leaders bolted. Still he made a remarkable showing for a new national issue. The fight will continue for the next four years, and we believe will win. If it does, it is likely that William J. Bryan, the patriot, will be the occupant of the White House."

Indianapolis Journal: She—Talk about women talking! If they are any worse than you men are when there is a campaign, then I don't know a thing. He—But you must bear in mind that we only get that way once in four years.

During the great political contest, Durrant, the notorious murderer, appears to have been "lost in the shuffle." Better hang the fellow now during the lull.

If the people had voted directly for president the result would be the same. On the popular vote there is a million majority for McKinley.

Spain is reported as "getting out of patience." She has already got out of money and in a short time she will be getting out of Cuba.

Colonel Ingersoll favors gold, but he is certainly not on the right track to reach the city whose streets are said to be paved with gold.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed." Such is what the ladies find in the New Home Sewing Machine. Ask for catalogue and prices at Shurtz Bros., Arlington, Oregon.

Good advice: Never leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by L. W. Darling.

How to Prevent Croup. Some reading that will prove interesting to young mothers—how to guard against the disease.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easy and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by L. W. Darling, druggist.
