THE CONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, APRIL 2, 1897.

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

County Judge Magers of Yamhill will not order the county treasurer to withhold the state tax. County treasurers are not heeding the orders of the judges in this matter. The law clearly prescribes the duties of the county treasurers, who give bonds for faithful service, and so far as heard from the treasurers are going to act according to law, regardless of the wishes or commands of the county judges.

England spent $80,000,000 in punishing the king of Abyssinia for imprisoning eight Englishmen who visited Abyssinia in spite of the express orders of the English government. Spain paid us $1,000,000 in settlement of the Mora claim, and apparently in payment for a license from our state department to do with American citizens exactly as she pleases forever.

For over a week now, a terrific blizzard has been speeding over the states of the Mississippi valley, and as yet the storm shows no sign of abatement. The wonder continues that people should go on living in that inhospitable region when Oregon is so close to them, and so easily accessible. Come to Gilliam county—the land flowing with cream and apple sass.

"What is home without a newspaper?" asked an exchange. "It is a place where old hats are stuffed into broken windows; where the wife looks like a bag of wool with a string around the center; where the husband has a tobacco panorama painted on his shirt front, and the neglected children wipe their noses on their jacket sleeves.—Ex.

It is reported ex-president Cleveland will write his "reminiscences" for a New York magazine. They will be interesting reading. The people are particularly anxious for full information regarding the plan by which Cleveland contrived to save $6,000,000 during his two terms of office.

When some people stop their home paper in order to save the munificent sum of 2½ cents per week, it means that they will wear out $5 worth of shoe leather in a year running across to their neighbor's to borrow the GLOBE—whether the subscriber is through reading it or not.

Fitzsimmons earned $50,000 by winning the fight, or about $1250 a minute, which leads an exchange to remark: "Mrs. Fitzsimmons had speculation as well as fire in her eye when she nagged her husband to "smash the cur in the wind," "kill the dirty brute," etc.

The big prize fight at Carson was a failure financially. Only about 500 people from the East attended it, and California furnished less than 1,000. So after all it was almost a local affair. The proceeds from tickets amounted to $105,000.

Corbett stood before Fitzsimmons only one round more thon did Jack Dempsey, the Portland middleweight—a world-wonder in prize-ring contests. Dempsey, however, never recovered from the punishment Fitzsimmons gave him.

It has been all figured out. Corbett struck Fitzsimmons just 221 blows and Fitz struck Corbett 142 blows. The New York World of the 18th gives pictures of the two men in each round with the exact location of every blow.

Man (to dentist)—I want you to kill this nerve. I'm expecting some money next summer and then I'll call around and pay you. Dentist (sarcastically)—I can't kill such a nerve as you've got.

The season is now open for spring poets and book agents, and it will not be a misdemeanor to kill them at any time from now until July 1st. For further particulars see Oregon game laws.

The great powers would willingly consent to the dismemberment of Turkey if they could agree on the very important question as to who should get the choice bits of the bird.

An exchange has made the startling discovery that the reason Corbett lost the big fight, he had a severe case of "Fitz" while the fight was going on.

A noted weather prophet claims that the winters are growing milder. Possibly; but how about the springs?

CONSUMPTION

An Explanation.

ARLINGTON, March 27th.

It being known to some that I had refused to grant a permit to Mr. S. B. Jones, and afterwards did, I in this way explain the matter, as it is due Mr. Jones as well as myself.

Mr. Jones mailed me his third grade certificate granted in Washington county, Nov. 14, 1896, and which I deemed of recent date so that I might grant the permit without an examination, but it was not accompanied by any recommendation. Mr. Jones was unknown to me, so I telegraphed to the superintendent of Washington county, asking of his knowledge of the applicant. He replied: "Jones had permit here on Texas certificate, but failed in examination." On this information I wrote Mr. Jones and two other parties that as he had held a permit once before in the state that I could not grant him another. He then came to see me, bringing his recommendations. These stated that he had never taught, and he also stated that the superintendent of Washington county had mistaken him for one C. B. Jones of the same county, although I had specified the particular Jones in my telegram. On these recommendations and his statement to me I have granted him a permit.

I sincerely regret this occurrence, and I would urge all school boards who hire teachers from outside this county that they ask for their recommendations, and when applying for a permit or other certificate, that, if unknown to the superintendent, they send or present their recommendations.

I can get plenty of good teachers, well recommended, who hold good certificates, if such teachers are needed in the county. Teachers in the county out of employment and school boards wanting teachers will confer a favor by addressing me. E. W. DAGGETT, Co. Supt.
