

THE CONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, APRIL 16, 1897.

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

"What is the matter with Oregon?" This is a common question. There is nothing in the world the matter with Oregon. But with a very large part of her people there is much the matter. They are lazy and improvident. They don't like to work, and will not work, if they can help it. Then, in their idle hours their heads are filled up with stuff mischievous and notions foolish. They want to make "good times" by reform of society and government. Their thought is centered on this folly. So yesterday, a citizen of Portland, who said he had a call for eight men, to be sent to work out of town on a job where the wages would give them $22 to $24 a month clear, declared that it was a troublesome commission, for he didn't know where the men could be had, nor how to get them. Of course, he wanted workmen, not hobos. This one thing is the matter with Oregon, or rather with a very large portion of the people of Oregon. They do not want to work, but they do want to reform society and government; and meantime they want society and government to support them.—Oregonian.

This country went republican last fall largely for the restoration of the McKinley duties, and this policy is not likely to be reversed, as long as the present generation can remember the hardships of the past four years. And then the protection idea is growing in this country and elsewhere. We are going to have a twelve-cent duty on wool and it will stand for an indefinite length of time.—Salem Statesman.

A Kansas City Journal says: A dozen expert doctors testified that an Emporia woman had been so injured by a railroad accident that maternity must be to her a thing unknown. She got damages on this testimony, and the railroad appealed to the supreme court, where, after years of waiting, the decision of the lower court has just been affirmed. Meantime the Emporia woman has given birth to four children.

At Circle city, Alaska, recently, some beef was packed in from Forty-Mile, a distance of 250 miles, and ruffed off for the benefit of the hospital being erected by Bishop Rowe. The meat was the first seen by some of the old-timers for years and the first fresh beef brought to the camp. Tickets ranged from 50 cents to $2.50 each and the 10 1/2 pounds brought $480, nearly $48 a pound.

"No matter what a girl's accomplishments may be, her education is incomplete if she has not some knowledge of bakeology, boiology, roastology, stichology and mendology. Even if she should never be required to do the work herself she ought to know whether it is done in the right way." This is from the sermon of a New York clergyman.

Though we have now scarcely more sheep than we had 30 years ago, the fleeces are better. There has been much improvement both in quality and weight, and we get now 275,000,000 pounds of wool from about the same number of sheep that yielded 160,000,000 in 1867.—N. Y. World.

Insurance rates are being slashed numerically. A San Jose agent now advertises to insure dwelling property favorably situated for 25c on the $100 for three years. This will enable a person to insure his property for $1500, at the small cost of $3.75. The rate war threatens to break out again.

A Linn county justice of the peace, being angered by the remarks of an attorney during the trial of a case, exclaimed: "This court is adjourned. Now, Mr. Attorney, you are a d— liar. This court is in session again, and anyone insulting this court shall be fined for contempt."

An intelligent newspaper man hits the nail square on the head when he says: "Patronize the merchants who advertise. You do not visit your neighbor unless asked to call, and you do not attend a party or a wedding without an invitation, then why should you intrude on the privacy of a storekeeper without an invitation? Buy of the live business man who not only asks you to call and see him every day, but educates and keeps you posted as to what is new and popular in his line of goods. Advertisements and advertisers are the greatest educators of the age, and he who never reads an advertisement lives in the backwoods, fastens his suspenders with a shingle nail, and has never had a shave or hair cut since Coley was a pup."

There is more truth than poetry in the following from an exchange: Take the enemies that any well conducted newspaper makes in the course of business, and stand them up in a row, and the rest of the community will say the editor ought to be proud that they are his enemies.

Don't pay much attention to stories about the purpose of Kansas to pass sumptuary laws against wearing corsets and the like. Such stories are all issued by the Sound Money League of New York, as the only arguments that can be found against bimetalism.—Vale Advocate.

A newspaper says: Chicago detectives are hunting for a girl to whom a large fortune has been left. We know several men, who are not Chicago detectives, who are doing the very same thing.

The Gazette has interviewed a number of our sheepmen and all seem to be willing to meet the sheepshearers in their demands for 6 cents per sheep. This is fair.—Heppner Gazette.

A California newspaper estimates that about 1,175,000 men have gone to work since McKinley's election—working for the job of postmaster.
