

THE CONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, APRIL 23, 1897.

NOTICE.

The yearly subscription to the GLOBE is $1.50. If paid in advance, if not paid in advance $2 will be charged. A pencil mark around this notice indicates that your subscription has expired. Please renew promptly.

GLOBOSITIES.

Coos county has just begun the erection of a $12,000 court house.

Circuit court adjourned about 10:30 o'clock Friday morning.

A first-class photo gallery will be at Condon about April 27th.

Salem Statesman: Mrs. John F. Steiner, of Jefferson, is in the city visiting friends.

F. C. Buffington and daughter Ethel of Fossil visited friends in town the first of the week.

Miss Lora Taylor, a school ma'am, arrived here yesterday from Liberal, Mo., and is on the lookout for a school.

We learn that Judge Mariner had been sick for the last two weeks in Walla Walla. He has returned home to Blacklock again.

Mervin Swartz, the fake money loaner, is still doing business in the Long Creek country. At least his ad is still running in the Eagle.

Last Sunday was Easter and as it rained that day, according to an old superstition, it will rain every Sunday for seven weeks.

Geo. Gibbons of Mayville has been drawn and subpoenaed as a juror in the U. S. district court at Portland, which convenes May 4th.

Joe Lieualen and family moved last week from the Burton ranch on Matney Flat to the Byron Murch place in Ferry Canyon, which he has rented.

By mistake our type made it say last week that Doc Brown was sick with tonsillitis. It should have read Doc Moore, who is now able to work again.

One of The Dalles photo company's traveling galleries, operated by Clay Folsom, will be at Condon next week and can remain only a few days.

Judge Bennett succeeded in clearing young Goetgen of Sherman county, indicted for cattle stealing, whom he defended at North Yakima last week.

Golden-dale Agriculturist: O. D. Sturgees and family have moved to Arlington, where Mr. Sturgees has secured a position in the new store of the Wasco Warehouse Co.

Dr. J. T. Tate writes us from Olex that he expects to visit Condon next week for two or three days. He requests those desiring dental work to make early appointments.

"Grandpa" Stroud of Portland, state grand lecturer for the A. F. & A. M., delivered several lectures to the members here the first of the week. He left yesterday for Fossil.

At a forthcoming wedding in this county the groom will promise to love, honor and obey his wife, who is a woman sufragist and made her "feller" agree to this proposition.

Mrs. J. R. Clark left yesterday for the St. Vincent hospital in Portland, where she will remain while under treatment for lung trouble. Her husband accompanied her as far as Arlington.

The farce case of the City of Condon against Joe Trevett is still on, at the city's expense, and has been postponed until the fall term of court. This is getting monotonous to the taxpayers.

Next Monday, 20th, is the anniversary of the I. O. O. F., and the Odd Fellows of Gilliam county will celebrate the occasion at Mayville on Monday afternoon. All members are invited to be present.

A lady teacher recently from the East wishes to secure a district school for the summer. She can furnish satisfactory recommendations, and is stopping for the present at Maddock's hotel, Condon.

The soothing click of the sheephears will soon be heard in the land again, and there are thousands of the muttons in this section that will get terribly fleeced within the next couple of weeks.

The Independence (Polk county) paper says: W. J. Kirkland writes to a friend here that he is well satisfied with his business at Olex, Gilliam county. He says money matters are easier there than here.

The wives of two brothers in Medford presented their wives with babies on the same day recently and some of the papers are making a great fuss about it, just as though the babies are to blame for it. Let them alone.

Edwards at Arlington will pay stage charges on all orders from his drug store except patent medicines. As he charges only the price printed on the wrappers, you can save money by sending to him for patent medicines also.

John Connelly, a former partner in the sheep business here with his brother Tim, but who has been at his old home in Ireland for the last ten years, returned to Condon recently and will embark in the sheep business again.

Dodson Bros. and Wester, of Clew, will soon ship a bunch of good horses to Polk county, where they expect to sell them. Henry Doulson, who recently had a cancerous tumor cut out of his throat, is recovering his health and will soon be as well as he ever was.

Condon needs a drug store and a drug-gist about as badly as any town on the Pacific coast. There is a splendid opening here for one just now. A county-seat ought to have the best-appointed and largest drug store in the county.

A suit has been commenced in Eugene to test the constitutionality of the law allowing women the right of franchise at school elections. It will be carried to the supreme court and the matter definitely settled, as it should have been done long ago.

Two clips of wool were sold at the Heppner Monday, one for 7c and the other for 8½c. This wool was sold on the sheep's back, and will be delivered in May. The same clips last year brought 5½ and 7c. Frank Lee of San Francisco was the purchaser.

There are people who think—or pretend to think—that a newspaper should never give an account of anything that ought not to have happened. Fortunately, for the freedom of the press and the welfare of society, there are others who do not think that way.

The GLOBE force feels very grateful to Mrs. C. A. Danneman and family of Clew for a large box of fine Easter eggs, some of them colored. It is a pleasing sight to see the editor of this great family paper eat a few dozen of them raw, shells and all, while holding his breath.

A mission will open in the Catholic church at Condon next Sunday and will be conducted by Rev. Father Newell of Portland, a very able and brilliant speaker. Everybody, regardless of their religious beliefs, are cordially invited to attend the meetings, which will last a week or so.

One of A. J. Moore's cows gave birth to twin calves the other day and one of them is a freak, having but one nostril, and that is in the middle of a long sharp nose. It will have some advantage over the other calves when it runs across anything disagreeable to smell, such as skunks, niggers, etc.

The Pendleton East Oregonian truthfully says: The bad boy of today is sent to the reform school, where he is educated to become a criminal. The old way of turning him over the knee and applying "strap oil" is a better remedy for his vices than a term in the reform school at the expense of the people who pay taxes.

Jack Parker, who killed Budd Howard at the same time the latter killed Tim Glaze at Burns, Harney county, has been pardoned by the governor, after serving two years of the 7-years' sentence. A strong petition was sent in his behalf, and his own good conduct while in the pen had much to do with the pardon being granted.

Owing to the probability of a war in Europe, the price of wheat has already begun to come up in jumps. At San Francisco there was quite an advance this week, also throughout the East, it having jumped up 5c at Chicago Monday. With the outlook for an abundant harvest and good prices, our wheat raisers may well look cheerful.

Cooke Bros., three miles east of town, will raise a number of young mules this spring. The other day one of their mares gave birth to two of the long-eared beasts and, strange to say, she refused to own one of them. The boys have concluded to play it for a "sucker" by letting it suck a bottle until it is old enough to make its own living.

Senator McBride has introduced a bill in the senate to allow persons to make claims upon public lands and make proof thereof before any officer qualified to administer oaths in homestead cases, whether the lands are in the county or not. At present the making of such proofs must be before an officer in the county where the land is situated.

The Columbia is coming up rapidly and steadily, but we are not like the people along the Mississippi, who get drowned out with a 26-foot rise. It is not classed as high water here until it passes the 42-foot mark, and in '94 it went within a foot of the 60-foot mark. It made some of us move at the latter figure, but anything under 50 feet is all right.—The Dalles Chronicle.

Owing to some fancied grievance, old man Irwin, Supt. of public instruction, is trying to get Gov. Lord and Secretary Kincaid to oust Bob Hendricks from his position of Supt. of the state reform school. But all the satisfaction the governor and secretary gave Irwin was to tell him that Hendricks is attending to his business and giving a great deal better satisfaction than he (Irwin) is. Bob is an ideal officer.

The people of Eastern Oregon will be delighted to learn that the O. R. & N. Co. has put on an extra train between Portland and Spokane, making two trains each day, instead of one, as formerly. The two trains going west are due at Arlington, one at about midnight, the other at about 6 in the morning; going east, one at about 9 in the evening, the other at about 3 in the morning.

Murderer Durrant was fondled and petted so much by some "ladies" and reporters while he was in jail at San Francisco that when he was taken to the state prison at San Quentin the other day he felt terribly insulted when the guards compelled him to don a suit of striped clothes and have his mustache shaved off. He became so abusive that the guards were obliged to cuff him into insensibility, and when he "came to" he got even by saying that he thought they were "real mean."

When a boy becomes unmanageable now-a-days he is hustled off to the reform school, where in the majority of cases he is, through the contaminating influence of association with other bad boys, educated to become a criminal. Formerly he was turned over to the paternal knee and given a lesson in leather tanning. The old way evidently is the best, for it is more effective as a reformatory measure and considerably cheaper, says the Times-Mountaineer.

Governor Lord and Secretary Kincaid are locking horns in a manner that will probably lead up to a law suit. The governor went after his warrant for his salary the other day and the secretary refused to give it. Hot words followed and the governor threatened mandamus proceedings to compel Kincaid to pay the quarter's salary. The secretary informed his excellency that he would keep him mandamusing for every quarter to the end of his official term. Kincaid "has it in for" the governor for the part he took in the legislative holdup.

L. W. Darling was appointed referee in the divorce case of Whyte vs. Whyte. Hendricks Bros. were counsel for the plaintiff and S. A. D. Gurley for the defendant. Taking testimony was begun last Friday before the referee in his office here and continued until yesterday noon, when the case was postponed until May 17th. The testimony for the plaintiff is not all taken yet, and none at all yet for the defendant, but the attorneys cannot remain away from home any longer at present. Divorces sometimes prove to be troublesome and expensive luxuries.

Evidently some one has been "stuffing" the editor of the Times-Mountaineer. Read what he says: "Two criminal cases were tried at the recent term of circuit court in Gilliam county. Jack Glasgow was tried on a charge of larceny of cattle and was acquitted, and Wm. Kenny, indicted for larceny of two calves, was convicted and fined $100. The latter case was somewhat complicated, the jury deciding that Kenny had stolen one of the calves, and rendered an opinion that the prosecuting witness had stolen the other. This will probably furnish a case for the next grand jury."

Judge Bradshaw Friday morning sentenced Andrew Harper, who plead guilty to burglary and wheat stealing, to a term of two years in the penitentiary. The jury found Wm. Kenny guilty of stealing one of C. Schott's calves, on condition that he receive the lightest penalty provided by the statute in such cases, and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, which he paid. Upon complaint of his mother, Billy Stephens, an unruly boy, was sentenced to a two years' term in the reform school. Sheriff Wilcox, assisted by Gene Smith, left for Salem Saturday morning with Harper and Stephens.

This is the season when the "trunk merchants" make their semi-annual raids in this vicinity, says the Baker City Democrat. Many of them are nice fellows, but our citizens should not so far forget themselves as to purchase their goods. Patronize the men who pay taxes to the county, who contribute to our schools, who head the subscription papers for public celebrations or private misfortunes, and who have an interest in the county's welfare. The home merchants "carry" you when you are pinched—give them the benefit of your cash. Too many people "stand off" the home merchant and spend their money with the sample carrier or send it to some distant city.

The Eugene Guard in its last issue burns Dr. Chapman, president of the state university, into a crisp, having literally roasted him alive. The Guard says that instead of the doctor minding his own business, for which the state pays him $5,000 a year, he noses into everybody else's private affairs, local politics, public school, etc. In such an offensive manner as to make himself extremely obnoxious. Although the doctor has been drawing a $5,000 a year salary for years, the Guard says he pays taxes on the magnificent sum of $220, and suggests that instead of wasting his time trying to lecture on subjects he knows nothing about, it would suit better for him to make a specialty of lecturing on "How to bulldoze the assessor and avoid paying taxes." The doctor shocked the Guard for the other day by telling them to "stop the paper." When they "came to" and began to wonder what they had better do with the presses, material, etc., they learned that the doctor meant to stop only his copy of it, so they continued its publication, as usual.

A Workmen of the World lodge was organized at Antelope last week, with a healthy membership to start in with. We notice that all of the Workmen lodges in the country are constantly receiving new members and that each member takes a personal pride in doing all in his power to make his lodge prosperous and enthusiastic, except our own home lodge, which, we regret to note, appears to be on a stand-still, with more of tendency to go down hill than upward. Too much small, childish spittlework is allowed to interfere very often with not only lodges but business interests of the town, and, as we have said many times before, nothing is more ruinous or fatal to a town's interests. Two or three spiteful, small-minded men in a town this size can retard the progress of the whole town, to say nothing of lodges, etc. It is like the "dog in the manger." They won't do anything themselves but sulk and act the baby, and try to keep others from doing anything for the good of the town or community. Is it much wonder that every other town in the country is leaving us behind in the race for supremacy? Be men, not mice.

Lone Rock Rumbings.

W. H. Colwell and family are back onto their farm again, for the summer at least.

Mrs. Hogan is expected home next week from her visit at Canby, Clackamas county.

Cattle buyers here are paying $12 for ones and $20 for twos, which is not so rocky, after all.

Our farmers are busy putting in their spring grain, and the prospect for a bountiful harvest is very bright.

Last week was the warmest spell of weather ever felt in this locality during the month of April, consequently the gentle rain showers of Monday were just what was needed.

The sheep men seem delighted at the prospect of good prices for wool. The low prices for the last few years have made the sheep business a hard row to hoe, but prosperity now stares them in the face like a full moon, we are pleased to note.

The quarterly meetings of the M. E. church here Saturday and Sunday drew large congregations. The services conducted by Elder Warner were highly appreciated by all who attended. Gene Gillman brought Rev. Warner over from Heppner Saturday and attended the meetings. They returned to Heppner Monday.

The Wasco Warehouse Co. has wool sacks, fleece twine and sack twine for sale at Arlington.

Olex Explosions.

Dr. Tate, the dentist, is in Olex for a few days. From here he goes to Clew and Condon.

We are having delightful rains now, which are very beneficial to the growing crops. Gilliam will be strictly in it this year.

Our blacksmiths are overrun with work, which shows that our farmers have not given up hope of ultimate success in farming.

Earl Weatherford's house narrowly escaped destruction by fire the other day. He came over to Olex and laid in a supply of terra cotta, to take the place of the stovepipe.

A road-working crew is at work this week on the Cunningham hill and the terrific blasting sounds from here like the distant roar of heavy artillery. We doubt they make more noise with their cannons in Cuba and Crete.

Subscribe for the Examiner at this office and win a $10,000 farm in California, a $5,000 gold nugget or your weight in silver. Remember that about all who ever won prizes from this county subscribed through the GLOBE agent.

A Dangerous Practice.

EDITOR GLOBE: If the gentleman in charge of the drug store at Condon will explain through your paper by what right he has to fill physicians' prescriptions (other than his own) when he has never complied with the law in regard to securing a druggist's license, he will relieve the anxiety of a great many people in this county. Only registered druggists can legally fill prescriptions, and the question is, why does he persist in openly violating the law in this matter? He boasts that he will "get around the law" if he has to copy prescriptions sent in by physicians on his own blanks—which is even a more dangerous practice, both for the patient and "druggist."

A Man Hung

Some of that fine wall-paper Al Henshaw keeps in stock and pronounced it the best paper for the price ever brought to the country. Buy some.

The Wasco Warehouse Co. has wool sacks, fleece twine and sack twine for sale at Arlington.

A beautiful 1200-pound cow, 6 years old, fat enough for beef, for sale or will trade for a fresh cow. Inquire at this office.

The Butte Creek Land, Live Stock & Lumber Company has 250,000 feet of seasoned lumber at its mill six miles above Fossil. The roads are good clear to the mill. The company will give larger discounts for cash trade than formerly. The lumber, the roads and the prices will suit you. Chas. McKenzie, manager.

Dr. J. T. Tate, one of the leading dentists of Portland and the Pacific coast, expects to make a tour of Eastern Oregon this spring and will be in Condon some time in April to remain a few days. This will be pleasing news to those needing first-class dental work. Dr. Tate is a graduate of the New York College of Dentistry and has held high positions in the Portland Dental Society and the Oregon State Dental Association.

Patronize home industry and build up the resources of our state. Buy the Salem Woolen Mills clothing. See P. H. Stephenson for samples and prices.

LANDS.

All persons desiring to acquire title to any lands under the laws of the United States, or under the laws of the State of Oregon, will do well to take their business to United States Commissioner S. A. D. Gurley, at Arlington, Oregon.

Good Advice.

Don't let whisky get the best of you, but if you want the best of whisky, wines, beer, liquors and cigars, the place to find them is at the Summit Saloon, in the old drug store building, a fine pool and billiard parlor in connection. Drop in and see for yourselves. The finest line of "wet goods" in the city.
