

THE GONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1897.

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

The Tillamook Headlight, having the largest bona fide circulation of any paper in that county, was, as required by law, designated the county official paper, in which all of the county printing must be published. The county court of Tillamook county, imagining they were running the state, "repealed" the state law last January and awarded the county printing to one of the other county papers, whose bid was the lowest. The Headlight editor carried the matter into circuit court to compel the county court to comply with the law, and last week won the case, we are pleased to note. The circuit judge, in his ruling, said: "The taxpayers have a right to know what is done by the men they elected to office, and that is the intention of the law in having county printing done in the paper of largest circulation, that the greatest number of people may see what is being done. It is not a question of 'how cheap' the work can be done, but 'how well' it can be done at a reasonable figure."

The Malheur Gazette and Vale Advocate are having a warm discussion over the matter of county printing. The Gazette heretofore has been allowed by the county court $180 for publishing the financial statements of the county officers twice a year, or $90 each time, which is the statutory legal rate for such advertising. The Gazette sensibly says: "The law fixes the maximum price for legal advertising, and if the lawmakers are willing to pay that price, what harm can there be in charging and getting that price." In Gilliam county the charge of the GLOBE (the official paper) for this same work was only $20, and still our county court thought it was too much, and are, we believe in violation of the law, having the work done by another paper, that has scarcely any bona fide subscribers in this county—that is, subscribers who are not having the paper forced onto them against their will.

The success of the United States in material development is the most illustrious of modern time. The American nation has not only successfully borne and suppressed the most gigantic and expensive war of all history, but immediately afterward disbanded its army, found employment for all its soldiers and marines, paid off most of its debt, given labor and homes to all the unemployed of Europe as fast as they could arrive within its territory, and still by a system of taxation so indirect as not to be perceived, much less felt. Because it is my deliberate judgment that the prosperity of America is mainly due to its system of protective laws, I urge that Germany has reached that point where it is necessary to imitate the tariff system of the United States.—Bismark.

Colorado has abolished capital punishment.

A wise and witty woman once remarked that there were three supreme follies of men that always both puzzled and amused her. The first was to climb trees to shake fruit down, when if they would wait long enough the fruit would fall down itself. The second was going to war to kill each other, when if they would only wait they would die natural deaths. The third is that they should run after women when, if they did not do so, the women would run after them.

The latest estimate of the population of the globe is that made by M. D'Amfreville, who places it at 1,479,729,000. The number of inhabitants per square mile in Asia is 48; in Africa, 15, in America, 8; in Oceania and the polar regions, 3, and in Australia, 1. The yearly increase of the population of the earth is about 5 to every 1,000. At this rate the population of the globe will double every 139 years.
