GLOBOSITIES.

County court meets next week. J. W. Blake and family visited Portland this week.

There is only one black man in The Dalles, and his name is White.

One of J. A. Richmond's little children is sick this week with measles.

Miss Frankie Schott visited her sister, Mrs. T. G. Johnson at Condon this week.

Keep your eye on the adv space on the opposite page—you'll see something interesting soon.

A fine little daughter was born to School Supt. Daggert and his wife at Arlington on April 16th.

Mrs. J. Fagan, who had been visiting her sister, Mrs. S. S. Grider, returned to her home in The Dalles last week.

Get your county warrants cashed at the Globe office. We pay the highest cash price for them. Don't forget it.

J. G. Potter, the Wasco butcher and a brother of our jeweler Joe, was married at Wasco Sunday to Miss Lela McCoy.

Rev. Johns of Fossil informs us that Rev. B. L. Davison will preach at Condon next Sunday, morning and evening, in his place.

Geo. Gibbons is repainting and repairing Sheriff Wilcox's residence this week. Nobody in the state can beat George at this kind of work.

An exchange remarks that Gen. Sherman was always coolest when on the point of attack. Most people are hottest when on the point of a tack.

Rev. Father Newell lectured every evening so far this week to large audiences in the Catholic church. He is an eloquent and brilliant speaker.

A hungry Missouri editor has just broke the record by eating 50 scrambled eggs in 50 minutes—and it wasn't a very good day for eating eggs, either.

A dozen or more of our people attended the I. O. O. F. celebration at Mayville Monday and the ball at night and report a grand time for all present.

Mr. Geo. Bowley of Pine creek, who owns one of the finest orchards in Eastern Oregon, was over to the county seat Monday on business, paying taxes, etc.

W. O. Minor, a Heppner merchant, advertises in the Gazette that he is the father of 26 children and needs the trade of the public. Very few minors can boast of such a record.

An Antelope man recently got religion and confessed some of his past sins "right out in meetin'." The result is a suit for divorce by his wife. Next time he will think more and talk less.

Get onto this, from the Goldendale Sentinel: Don't miss the entertainment by Mose Kirby, the great violinist, acrobat and ventriloquist, at the skating rink Friday night. Admission free.

We learn from the Weston Leader that Mrs. Arthur Brandenburg has just had her millinery store at that place closed out at sheriff's sale. Her friends here will regret to learn of her misfortune.

Fourteen saloons have closed in Portland this month, says the Oregonian, and others have a hard time to pay their license. The advance agent of prosperity evidently has not reached Portland yet.

The California wool clip sells this spring at an advance of 3c over 1896, which is better than in Oregon. Why is it that? Oregon wool surely ought to command as good prices as that of California.

Evidently the editor of the Myrtle Point Enterprise has been getting worried some lately. In his last issue he says that "before a man gets married he swears to love; after marriage he loves to swear."

Mrs. Helen Propst, near, Clem, presented us with a magnificent bouquet of flowers Saturday. She has one of the finest flower gardens in the state, and nearly every variety that can be grown in this climate.

The Ontario News makes the following wail: Poor woman! Over in Idaho where they have just received equal suffrage the women, before they vote, have to take an oath that they are a "male citizen 21 years old."

A dispatch from Washington says that among the army of office-seekers there working for the position of governor of Alaska, is J. N. Brown. Holy Moses! Can it be possible this is our Lawyer J. N. Brown of Heppner?

Durrant's attorneys say the young murderer will not hang for at least two years more. How would it do to hang a few of those attorneys who devote their talents to defeating the ends of justice?—Tacoma News.

A medical paper asserts that in Wayne county, Ohio, there is a cancer belt—a strip of country 30 miles long by 12 wide, in which five out of every six women have the dread disease. That is an excellent belt to stay out of.

A short time ago one of Hilton's ewes gave birth to a lamb that resembled one of the herders. It had the form of a sheep and the head of a human being, and had no wool on its body. It lived but a short time.—Fossil Journal.

Judge Bradshaw will leave for Prineville May 1st to hold the regular spring term of court. He was appointed May 1, 1891, and left the next day for Prineville, his first term of court being held there.—Times-Mountaineer.

Alvah W. Patterson, manager of the Heppner Gazette for the last six years, left last week to visit his old home in Indiana, after which he will enter a law school at Indianapolis. After graduating he will return to Heppner again.

This being the busy time of the year, and not feeling overly "horny" anyway, our band boys have concluded to postpone their practice meetings until next September, when they will likely engage a teacher and go at it with renewed energy.

The editor of one of our exchanges, who had evidently just had a law suit and won, shrieks out: "The legislatures should make it a felony for one man to bring suit against another. It is a game where both lose and only the lawyers win."

Among the bills just approved by the governor of California is one allowing anyone to take up an estray animal and sell the same at a constable's sale, deducting from the proceeds enough to pay expenses, the balance going to the state.

The title to the town of Centerville, across the river from Arlington, is now being threatened by the rights vested in the homestead filing of H. H. Campbell. All of the property-owners of Centerville visited Goldendale Tuesday and gave evidence before U. S. Com. Dunbar.

Harvey Scott, of the Oregonian, has gone to see what in thunder is the reason his friend Corbett is not given a seat in the senate at Washington. He and his wife left for the East last week. Governor Lord and Banker Bush are also in Washington for the same purpose.

For six years Judge Bradshaw has presided over our courts, and no other man has filled that position and given the satisfaction that he has. The people of Crook county will never retire him from the bench.—Prineville Review. [The same sentiment prevails in Gilliam.]

The Heppner Gazette credits an item to the Globe that never appeared in this paper—concerning the unpopularity of H. W. Scott, of the Oregonian. The Globe has always admired Mr. Scott for his wonderful ability as an editorial writer and successful newspaper man generally.

Salem Statesman: Adelbert Zachary, aged 16 years, was brought to the reform school Friday from Douglas county. The commitment was made upon the complaint of his father, Robert Zachary, on account of the incorrigibility of the boy. This makes 134 boys in the school at this time, and 286 registered since the school was opened five years ago.

The people of Eastern Oregon will be delighted to learn that the O. R. & N. Co. has put on an extra train between Portland and Spokane, making two trains each day, instead of one, as formerly. The two trains going west are due at Arlington, one at 11:07 at night, the other at 6:33 in the morning; going east, one at 8 in the evening, the other at 3:25 in the morning.

All of the teamsters complain that the new road from Condon to Thirtymile is in a horrible condition. They say it is full of rocks ranging in size from 1 to 500 pounds, causing the freighters to curse till the whole gulch smells of brimstone. They are wondering if the road supervisor thinks that no other roads in the county need working, except those about Olex. Get a move on, Mac.

Here is another instance of "go away from home to hear the news." The Moro Observer says: A drove of 100 horses in Gilliam county will be killed and burned to prevent the mangle, with which they are afflicted, from spreading. This band of neglected brutes belongs to a "humanitarian" in Portland, who doesn't believe a sheep owner should be allowed to graze his flocks on the public domain.

J. H. Downing came up from California last week on a brief business visit to Condon. He came out from Arlington Friday with Sheriff Wilcox, and coming up the hill above Clem, the back seat on which Mr. Downing sat, tipped back, throwing him out behind on his head. As he weighs only about 225 pounds, "great was the fall thereof," but he crawled on again and was none the worse for his tumble, except a stiff neck for several days.

We received a long communication this week, which we can not publish, owing to our limited space. The author of it mildly condemns our city council for not putting to better use the $600 or $700 city money now in the hands of the city treasurer. He thinks the city might as well have it out on interest as to allow any one individual to use it for speculative purposes and to go into business with. It might be well, perhaps "vellet" for the council to look into this matter.

Arthur Sewall of Maine, late democratic candidate for vice president, is in San Francisco, on his way to Japan to look after some ship-building contracts. He says the ship-building industry in this country is dead, and that business throughout the east is greatly depressed. Unless the conditions change, the silver forces will sweep the country in 1900, is the opinion of Mr. Sewall. His son Harold, a goldbug republican, has just been appointed minister to Hawaii by President McKinley.

The Wasco Warehouse Co. has wool sacks, fleece twine and sack twine for sale at Arlington.

Despite the fact that there is no appropriation to pay their expenses and that Secretary Kincaid has refused to file their claims, the railroad commissioners are holding onto their offices with the tenacity of a bulldog, and have just started on their semi-annual tour of "inspection" of the Southern Pacific. That is, they are out on one of their customary junketing tours, riding on free passes and attempting to draw salaries from the state.

The N. Y. Journal, within the last year, has cut a frightful gash in the business of the World, whose subscription list has fallen off 110,000 in that time. Young Hearst, of the Journal, is making those old mossback publishers get in and hump as they never humped before, and has already started out a half-dozen or so of the big papers of that city. Hearst is now making preparations to build in New York the finest newspaper office in the world. As he is worth only about $100,000,000 he can afford it.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good—war in the old world will make good prices for the products of the new world. Greece and Turkey have been in deadly combat for the last two weeks and are still fighting day and night with the desperation of demons. So far the honors are about even. As half a dozen or more of the European countries are just itching to fly at each others' throats, it will not be long before some of them are dragged into the fight. The old Russian bear is watching them like a hawk, and the first one that bats an eye will cause old Bruin to let out a roar that can be heard clear to America. And then the hair and teeth will fly in earnest.

Rev. Frank Spaulding, at one time presiding elder of this district, accompanied by his family, has returned from Brazil and will henceforth reside in the United States. Mr. Spaulding went to Brazil as a missionary about four years ago and has been laboring in that field until recently. Mr. Spaulding and family reached New York on the 15th of this month and at once started for their old home in Oregon, and are now in The Dalles. As yet Mr. Spaulding has not yet determined where he will locate, but no doubt will at once be assigned to some pastorate by the conference. There is one thing certain, he will not return to Brazil, the climate there having proven very injurious to his health. The Times-Mountaineer says he looks like he had been living entirely on anti-fat.

Not satisfied with a salary of $2,500 a year for supporting the title of sheriff of Umatilla county, Zoeth Houser, whom the people have elected twice to that office, is suing Umatilla county for expenses of himself and deputy. Sheriff Houser contends that it was the intention of the lawmakers to give him $2,500 a year clear profit for his services, and that all expenses should be paid. The outcome of the case he has begun in circuit court, and which will be carried to the supreme court, will be watched with interest, for if it is decided against the county, every sheriff in the state will be asking for expenses above his salary. They are only human, and when they get to feeding at the public trough, want to eat their fill.—East Oregonian.

Arlington Items.

The river is coming up. So is wheat. Supt. Daggert is recovering from his recent illness.

The numerous shade trees are in leaf and present a fine appearance.

Lord & Co will begin to fill their new store with new goods in a few days.

Charley Shurte's new residence, which will soon be completed, is one of the finest in town.

The two additional trains on the O R & N are a great convenience to the traveling public.

Mr. Shurte, a prominent business man from Chicago, was here last week visiting his cousins.

Rev. Barnhart is now one of the deputy postmasters at this place, and he makes a good one.

C D Sennett, a prominent farmer and fruit raiser of Rock creek, was in town Monday on business.

Our band boys have received their new uniforms and are justly proud of them. The band was out last Sunday and played some fine pieces.

Arlington is making a steady and substantial growth. Nearly everybody is improving their property; new people are coming in daily and the outlook is indeed encouraging.

Our justice court was grinding last Saturday, Geo Taylor being plaintiff and L O Ralston defendant, in a civil suit. Atty Gurley appeared for the piff and the debt conducted his own case. The piff recovered the full amount sued for and about $40 costs.

The Arlington National has been moved into the building formerly occupied by the 1st National bank, which is more central and a great deal better location than the other. The building has been painted, papered and fitted up in elegant style. It is doing a tremendous business for a small bank.

F C Hindle, our popular O R & N agent, returned last week from California, bringing with him a bran-new wife, Miss Edith Young, a former school teacher here and a most estimable young lady, whom he wedded while he was away. Mrs. Hindle is now visiting her parents at Gooseberry, and the happy young couple will soon begin housekeeping in the W H Colwell house. May their sorrows be few and their pleasures many, is the wish of their many friends.

Lone Rock Rumbings. Lambing season is drawing to a close, with a large crop of lambs to gladden the hearts of the sheep owners.

Bill Snell has been gathering horses in this vicinity for some time, and reports plenty of grass and fat stock everywhere he goes.

Assessor Clarke is in this section this week ascertaining how everybody is fixed for worldly goods. His wife and her sister Mrs Wm Snell are visiting old friends here.

ED Wineland and family moved to their saw mill this week and Ed expects to begin sawing before long. The snow is about all gone and the roads will soon be in fine shape for hauling.

We have had more warm weather this month than usual for this time of the year, causing vegetation to grow rapidly. Crops are very promising and with ordinary weather the yield will be large.

Our people are wanting one of the county road machines to show up here just now, as the roads need repairing and many of them want to work out their tax. The ground is in excellent condition for working and some of the roads are in terrible shape.

The Lone Rock shearing crew will start to the John Day country the first of the week, where a big lot of work awaits them. Although very few of them gave the old man a "lift" last November they have not neglected to put on a McKinley raise of one cent per head for shearing.

Olex Explosions.

Dr Tate is still at Olex, but will go to Clem in a few days.

H J Nott is trying a Canton Clipper gang from Olex this week.

A road-working crew is at work in Wolf hollow this week scratching gravel. The crop prospects in and around Olex are splendid. Good reports also come from Morrow county.

Dan Cameron has moved onto the D L Zachary farm. Mr. Zachary and family have moved to near The Dalles.

Irrigating season will soon be on hand again and the ditches along the creek are being put in shape for it. We might add that they are "laying for" the job.

Wm Phillips' team ran away Sunday and smashed his rig up badly, upset his load of alfalfa seed on the McKinley bridge and lost about half of it. He had just bought the seed at Olex for $30, and expected to sow it where it would take root quicker and do more good than it will in the creek.

The Wasco Warehouse Co. has wool sacks, fleece twine and sack twine for sale at Arlington.

Teachers' Examination.

Notice is hereby given that for the purpose of making an examination of all persons who may offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the schools of this county, the school superintendent thereof will hold a public examination at Condon, Oregon, May 12-14, 1897, beginning on Wednesday at one o'clock p. m. Examinations for state papers will be given at the same time and place. Teachers who have never taught the required number of months in this county to entitle them to state papers should present a certificate from the county superintendent or board of directors from the county in which they last taught, stating how much time had been taught in that county. This will also apply to college graduates holding state diplomas who apply for state life diplomas.

Dated this 26th day of April, 1897. E. W. DAGGERT, County School Supt.

A Dangerous Practice.

EDITOR GLOBE: If the gentleman in charge of the drug store at Condon will explain through your paper by what right he has to fill physicians' prescriptions (other than his own) when he has never complied with the law in regard to securing a druggist's license, he will relieve the anxiety of a great many people in this county. Only registered druggists can legally fill prescriptions, and the question is, why does he persist in openly violating the law in this matter? He boasts that he will "get around the law" if he has to copy prescriptions sent in by physicians on his own blanks—which is even a more dangerous practice, both for the patient and "druggist."

INQUIRER. The Butte Creek Land, Live Stock & Lumber Company has 250,000 feet of seasoned lumber at its mill six miles above Fossil. The roads are good clear to the mill. The company will give larger discounts for cash trade than formerly. The lumber, the roads and the prices will suit you. Chas. McKenzie, manager.

Patronize home industry and build up the resources of our state. Buy the Salem Woolen Mills clothing. See P. H. Stephenson for samples and prices.

Edwards at Arlington will pay stage charges on all orders from his drug store except patent medicines. As he charges only the price printed on the wrappers, you can save money by sending to him for patent medicines also.
