THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

The county court of Josephine has been enjoined from having the county records expeted, and Judge Hanna has also decided that it can not compel the sheriff to publish the delinquent tax list in a certain newspaper, as he has complete jurisdiction in the matter and can use his own judgment.—Guard. [The above ought to serve as a pointer for our own county court, which imagines it has the power to repeal state laws and run all the county offices, regardless of the opinions of the various officers.]

The best-guarded tomb in the United States is the Vanderbilt mausoleum near New York City, which is guarded night and day by relays of men armed with Winchester, and connected by wire with local and metropolitan police, where they can obtain assistance and rouse the whole city of New York at any hour, at a moment's notice. The graves of nearly all the very rich and noted dead are guarded in a similar manner.

A member of the Kansas legislature is said to have saved enough out of his $150 salary (for the session) to lift a $1600 mortgage. That's nothing, some of the boys out here in Oregon are said to have done a good deal better than that, and the legislature didn't even get organized, either.

A leading horse dealer of Portland says that there is not one horse in the city market to where there were a dozen two years ago. He predicts high prices for horses on the ground that none have been bred for the last five years, and it takes that long to make a good salable animal.

President McKinley should by all means accept the invitation to visit the Pacific coast. He has never visited Gilliam county yet, which at this season of the year resembles the ancient garden of Eden. Come over and see us, "Mac." We'll send the band to meet you at Clem!

The man who won the prize offered by a New York paper for the best definition of money put it thus: "An article which may be used as a universal passport to everywhere except Heaven, and as a universal provender for everything except happiness."

All classes of business men are learning that whenever it becomes necessary to stop advertising in order to "save expenses" or because they "can't afford it," the time has about arrived to make an assignment, says an exchange.

Lillie Langtry has at last secured her divorce. But what does she want with it? The lack of it has never seemed to inconvenience her in the least. She is the mother of three "fatherless" children.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Are you sure these corsets are unbreakable?" asked the doubting customer. "I have been wearing one myself for a year," said the saleslady, "and it ain't broke yet; and," she continued, blushing, "I am engaged."

Mr. Jones—A man's heart beats 81 times a minute when standing, 71 times when sitting and 66 when lying. Mrs. Jones—I hope you'll be a little more careful, dear, about your lying now.—Judge.

The story of a New York girl selling one of her fingers for $1000 is probably a fake. Many a girl would give her hand for as much of that sum as would pay the parson.

The people of California are praying for rain, which is about as senseless a thing to do as to swear at a drouth—or to try to get business without advertising.

Some fellow who evidently had baby on the brain has figured it out that the yearly crop of babies in the world is 36,000,000.

Patronize people who advertise. If a merchant wants your trade he will ask for it. If he doesn't ask for it he doesn't want it.

At this time of the year such infernally cold mornings are enough to make a man hot.—Oregonian.

Ed Wineland is in town, which accounts for this editorial utterance.

JAMES W. SMITH

Desires to inform the people of Gilliam county that his business is running on full time at the old stand—Union Block, Arlington, Oregon; that the flashy, misleading newspaper advertisements and circular letters that are flooding the country have not affected his trade; but on the contrary, sales have been increasing. His many old friends and customers realize that no business man will give away something for nothing. What he loses on the "baits" he will more than doubly make up on the other goods he sells his customers. Look out for snares. One of our greatest statesmen 40 years ago truthfully said: "You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

James W. Smith's immense stock of goods will speak for him. Call and examine the largest stock of goods ever shown in Gilliam county. His stores are loaded from floor to ceiling, and as regards prices he will endeavor to keep in the "procession."

Many of the lines are bought direct from the East in large quantities for cash, which enables him to give his customers great inducements to favor him with their patronage.

He sells the Oliver Chilled plows and extras, including the New Departure two and three gangs, also the John Deere plows of all kinds, the Studebaker, Bain and Racine wagons, hacks and buggies, the Standard, Acme and McCormack mowers, reapers and hay rakes, the latest improved Pitts threshing machinery, the up-to-date old reliable Hodge steel-frame headers, Holt Bros. Combined Harvesters, Etc., Etc.

Camp and sheepmen's supplies a specialty. Highest prices paid for hides, pelts, etc.

When in Arlington call and get prices before closing deals elsewhere.
