GLOBOSITIES.

Read the new ads of J. W. Smith, Lord & Co. and Chas. Habesohn this week.

A large crowd attended the ball here Friday night, which was a very enjoyable affair.

A number of people are in town this week on road business, etc., before the county court.

Geo. Taylor and family, of Rock creek, visited their relatives at Condon several days this week.

Mrs. Ella Rinehart, the postmistress of Mayville, visited relatives at Condon yesterday and today.

Mayville now has a full-fledged saloon again, license having been granted this week to Chester Fortna.

Mrs. Mary Brown made arrangements this week to prove up on her Rock creek homestead before the clerk.

Murderer Durrant will be hanged on Friday of this week, unless he succeeds in cheating the gallows some more.

A large number of young folks enjoyed a dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Duthie on Matney Elat Friday night.

Conrad Schott Jr., of Olex, is stopping at the home of his sister, Mrs. T. G. Johnson, at Condon and attending our school.

Henry Hartman left Monday for a business trip to his former home at Wheatland, Cal., and will be absent about a month.

The K. P. lodge here held a public installation Tuesday night. Tonight, Thursday, the Woodmen will have a public installation and banquet in their hall.

Four or five of the boys in this section added to the weight of the city's weasel skin by paying fines during the last week, the result of imbibing too much fighting whisky.

Dr. Lannerberg left Condon Sunday for Clem and Arlington, after which he will return to his home in The Dalles. He fitted a great many glasses for parties in this section. See his ad.

Judge Mattingly, of Beecher Flat, was in town yesterday. He is taking orders for a most excellent washing machine, of his own invention. He has sold about 20 of them already at $8 each.

Married, at Condon on Dec. 30th, Mr. Guy L. Cooper and Miss Martha Fortna, both of the Mayville country, by record-er Hendricks. They have many friends who wish them much happiness.

A lazy man in Coos county has hit upon a novel way of grubbing out stumps. He makes holes under the stumps, fills them with wheat and the hogs, in trying to get the wheat, root the stumps out.

A merchant at The Dalles advertised, stating that he wished to engage a small boy. Within 24 hours his wife presented him with two small boys. He is now firmly convinced that advertising pays.

John Ferrin, of Pine creek, guardian of the McConnell heirs, and his sister, Mrs. E. A. Stinchfield, of Mayville, were over to town Tuesday on business before the county court, which is in session this week.

The continued good prices for all kinds of cereals, and the promise of still further advances in cattle, sheep and wool make the outlook for next year still more encouraging for the farmers, stockmen and everybody else.

Stockmen, don't waste any time and money hunting for your lost stock. For only a few cents you can find them by advertising in the Globe, which has never yet failed in finding lost stock, or anything else that was lost.

Mike O'Shea, who was liberated last summer from a 3-years' term in the Salem penitentiary for horse stealing, was convicted last week for making counterfeit money and sent up for one year in the same institution of learning—trades.

The mammoth New Year edition of the Oregonian, with its 63 pages of valuable descriptive matter pertaining to the Northwest and Alaska, is a wonderful achievement for our great daily, and has not been excelled by any other paper on the Pacific coast.

Judge Bradshaw has rendered his decision in the divorce case of Isabella Whyte vs. Jos. Whyte, granting the plaintiff a divorce and custody of all the children and one-third of all the real estate. The plaintiff sued for one-half of the real estate.

Bert Piersol, the popular young sheepman who came over to this section from Long Creek last summer, won a $40 set of harness, raffled off here by John Reischer Saturday, on a dice throw of 44. Mr. Jordan, of the Delmonico restaurant, and Geo. Fletcher each won a gold watch by raffling last week.

Frank Moore found the lost cape of Miss Ads Jones, which was advertised in this paper two weeks ago, and left the same at this office Monday to be forwarded to the owner. It pays to advertise in a paper that is read by every man, woman and child in the county, besides 1/2 of the people of the neighboring counties.

ARLINGTON GEMS.

The weather is still balmy and spring-like.

A Crawford of Lone Rock spent several days in town this week.

The telephone company has put in a central office here, with Miss Fernberger at the switch board.

Mrs. V. E. Houston of Condon has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Propst, at this place for several days.

Wheat No. 1 Red, 64 to 65c; Club No. 1, 63 to 64c; Bacon, 9c; eggs, 25c; chickens, $2.25 a doz.; Butter per roll, 50c.

H. D. Sanders, the piano tuner, passed through town Monday on his way to Walla Walla. He intends taking in the Condon country in the spring.

Some Blalock people came up here Sunday and got married, but they made themselves so scarce that we did not get their names. Good luck to them, anyway.

Bob Watkins packed up his jewelry and watch-making outfit the first of the year and will soon leave for Montana. He expects to travel and sell eye-glasses next summer.

A Smythe and wife returned last week from the East, where they had been visiting old acquaintances for a month. He says the eleven thousand sheep that he is feeding in St. Paul are doing fine and he will put them on the market soon.

The report of the condition of the Arlington National bank, published last week, must be very gratifying to the stockholders of that institution. It shows a splendid line of deposits and that the bank is in a very healthy and prosperous condition.

The New Year's edition of the Oregonian of sixty pages reflects great credit on not only the Oregonian but the whole Northwest. It is a wonderful feat in newspaper work. It will pay any one to read it who contemplates going to the Klondike in the spring.

The Heppner Gazette learns that J. P. Lucas is a candidate for the appointment of register of the U. S. land office at The Dalles. No man in the state could better discharge the duties of register, as he is thoroughly posted on all matters pertaining to land, and is eminently qualified for the position.

The following officers were installed in the Artisan lodge of this place last Tuesday evening: Master Artisan, S. G. Hawson; superintendent, Mrs. E. B. Frum; inspector, W. H. Colwell; secretary, Miss Mollie Haribart; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Maguire; M. C., Joe Ward; S. C., Mrs. Charles Shurte; J. C., George Biggs.

W. C. Brown arrived here from Kansas City the first of the week on his way home. The carload of mules he shipped from here he sold back there and bought some larger mules and brought them back as far as Pendleton and sold them there. Probably by doing business both ways made the mules come cheaper at both ends of the road.

There was no special entertainment here on New Year's day, every one enjoyed themselves according to their own idea, a large number having played at the bowling alley all night; a few sat up until midnight and rang the old year out and the new in, to the delight of those that were up, and dislike of those who were waked up from peaceful dreams.

The drama "Among the Breakers" was played here on Wednesday night to a crowded house by the home talent company. The seats were all sold last week as soon as they were put on sale. All of the different characters performed their respective parts to perfection, and very few of the traveling theatrical companies could do better. Arlington talent is not to be sneezed at.

Death of Mr. Fletcher.

After a lingering illness with paralysis, the death of Thomas D. Fletcher occurred last Friday at the home of his son Steve, on Matney Flat. The burial took place in the cemetery here Sunday, the funeral services being held in the church by Rev. F. L. Johns.

The deceased was 71 years of age the day before his death, and leaves an aged wife and eleven children to mourn his death. He was born in London, Canada, resided in Michigan about thirty years and then came to this coast, residing for a number of years at Walla Walla and on the Sound.

A New Marriage Service.

They are telling a joke on a Gilliam county justice of the peace who recently performed his first marriage ceremony. He is credited with proceeding thusly: "Wilt thou take her for thy part, for better or for worse; to have, to hold, to fondly guard till hauled off in a hearse?" "Wilt thou let her have her way, consult her many wishes; make the fire up every day and help her wash the dishes?" "Wilt thou give her all the 'stuff' her little purse will pack; buy her a monkey, bike and muff, a little seal-skin sacque?" "Wilt thou comfort and support her father and mother, Aunt Jennima, Uncle John, thirteen sisters and a brother?" And his face grew pale and blank; it was too late to jilt; as through the chapel floor he sank, he sadly said, "I wilt."

A Portland man invited some friends to dinner; and as the colored servant entered the room he accidentally dropped a platter which held a turkey. "My friends," said the gentleman in a most impressive tone, "never in my life have I witnessed an event so fraught with disaster to the various nations of the globe. In this calamity we see the downfall of Turkey, the upsetting of Greece, the destruction of China and the humiliation of Africa."

There is no danger of anybody being troubled with dyspepsia, sour stomach, nightmares or ill temper who uses Fossil flour. Nothing ruins the health so quickly and surely as bad bread, and nothing creates so much harmony and cheerfulness in a family as good, light bread and biscuits, "the kind your mother baked." The only way to accomplish this is to use Fossil flour—the best and cheapest in the world.
