The announcement in Jas. W. Smith's space this week is of more than ordinary interest to bargain hunters. Don't fail to read it.

S. B. Barker has ordered a carload of Mitchell wagons direct from the factory and is in a position to sell them at prices guaranteed to please purchasers. See him.

Miss Stewart, the genial editor of the Fossil Journal, was a pleasant caller at this office yesterday. Mr. Stewart was a delegate to the Republican county convention.

The French government has offered its services to the United States as a mediator to avert war with Spain. The offer has been politely declined by this government.

A party of "noble red men," belonging to the Columbia River tribe, with squaw and papoose galore, done the city first of week. They were chaperoned by Chief Billy.

The Condon Globe, under new management, shows signs of prosperity and now comes out enlarged from a six to a seven column paper. Success to you, brother.—Heppner Gazette.

Editor Maxwell, of the Arlington Record, and Attorney Gurley, one of the leading lawyers of that thriving town, gave us the glad hand on Tuesday. The gentlemen were in the city taking in the sights at the Republican convention.

Fix's bowling alley was opened to the public last Sunday morning and has been the scene of much activity since. Friday of each week has been set apart as ladies' day when no gentlemen will be allowed in the hall, although the ladies will be made welcome at any time.

The world renowned DeMoss Family gave a concert in the Congregational church on Wednesday evening of last week. It is safe to say that the entertainment is not duplicated by any company on the road at present. The audience was a large one and the encores were frequent and imperative.

William G. Davidson, scientific optician, late of Seattle, is at the Condon hotel and will remain a few days only. Spectacles scientifically adjusted to correct all cases of weak or defective sight. Nervous or sick headache remedied by the aid of properly fitted glasses. Call and have your eyes tested free of charge.

A few dollars expended on a fresh coat of paint on the interior of our public school building would be a good investment. Teachers and pupils alike can do more satisfactory work amid pleasant surroundings than they can in a dingy building. The public school is the most important institution in any community and it should be kept as cheerful and inviting as possible.

The fourth annual circular letter of the Wasco Warehouse Co., of The Dalles, has been received. The circular contains much information of special value to wool growers. The announcement that the company is now engaged in the work of building a brick addition, 250 feet long 50 feet wide and two stories high, to their already large warehouse, is ample proof that they will be prepared to handle and store wool in a manner satisfactory to their patrons.

Messrs. Lord and Lucas, well known business men of Arlington, arrived in town Tuesday morning and remained until this morning. This is Mr. Lucas' first visit to Condon since leaving the clerk's office three years ago. He has orders from General Compton, of the state militia, to organize two companies of volunteers in this county as soon as it is definitely known that war has been declared between this country and Spain.

Little four-year-old Rex Allingham, of Crook county, whose home is on Fly creek, a tributary of the Matolee river, strayed away from home on Saturday afternoon, March 18th, and was lost in the woods. A search party followed his trail in a winding circle for over 12 miles and a half from home, nudged up by a dog which had left the ranch in company with the child. He was gone 20 hours and sustained no injury, either from cold or wild animals. The little fellow no doubt owes his life to the faithful dog, which was leading him home when he fell asleep from exhaustion.—Fossil Journal.

Mediation of the Pope declined by this government—President's message given to congress yesterday—Vessel sent to Havana to bring off Consul-General Lee and other Americans—Situation considered most critical—War considered inevitable unless Spain backs square-ly down.

The Republican Convention.
Delegates to the republican nominating convention, which met in this city yesterday, began to arrive about noon on Tuesday and by evening nearly all the delegations were present. A large number of prominent republicans who were not delegates also made it convenient to come to this county seat at that time, as spectators, and the scenes around town Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning showed that there were some pretty good workers in town and that much interest was being taken in the coming convention. A secret caucus was held Tuesday night which lasted until past midnight, and it is said the session was a lively one, but if such was the case, it was evident when the convention once got fairly under way that if differences existed in the caucus they were effectually buried there and the delegates came into convention as a perfectly harmonious body. The convention organized by electing J. E. David chairman and James S. Stewart secretary. After the usual preliminary work the following nominations were made:

Representative—S. G. Hawson, of Arlington.

Judge—W. J. Mariner, of Blalock. Clerk—H. N. Frazer, of Condon.

Sheriff—C. A. Danneman, of Clem. Commissioner—J. W. Dyer, of Mayville. Assessor—M. O. Clarke, of Condon.

Treasurer—S. B. Barker, of Condon. School Superintendent—W. W. Kennedy, of Fossil.

Surveyor—T. L. Stewart, of Fossil. Coroner—A. A. Rudy, of Arlington.

The nominations were all by acclamation, there being but one candidate for each position except in the case of representative and school superintendent, and in these cases the nominations were made unanimous.

The following gentlemen were selected as delegates to the state convention: W. W. Steiwer, of Fossil; F. M. Pitter, of Matney; J. P. Lucas, of Arlington, and Geo. Perry, of Lone Rock.

A Great Fowl Country.
George D. Goodline, editor of the Oregon Poultry Journal, who attended the Farmers' Institute meetings at different points in Eastern Oregon, last month and gave a write-up of his trip in the Journal, has the following to say about Gilliam county:

This is one of the greatest wheat producing sections in Eastern Oregon, and the farmers at this time being very busy with their spring seeding there was not a large attendance at the institute meetings, nor could it be expected under these circumstances. However, the meetings were quite successful and we had no trouble in making ourselves at home with the Arlington people.

We should have been much pleased to visit Condon, as the Journal has many readers there, and we know there are good birds in that section. Forty-mile drives is not much for an Eastern Oregon cowboy but when it comes to a tenderfoot chicken crank covering that distance in a couple of hours would be too utterly a gigantic task for us to even think about. We had all the anticipated pleasures of Eastern "hose" back riding knocked out of us on witnessing a bronco coming up the street with a cowboy attachment. The cowboy did not seem to be very securely attached either, for every time this bronco reached a sidewalk there appeared more daylight between the saddle and the soft side of the cowboy's pants than we ever saw in all glass hot house.

No, thank you; we think we can make hens, but when it comes to straddling these bunch grass broncos and subjecting that part of our anatomy situated about midship to the tortures of playing second fiddle on one of those ridge-back, high-strung, wild and white eyed buckers, we are not in it. There are some good chickens in this section. We saw no diseased fowls here and were favorably impressed with this section as a poultry producing country for not only chickens but turkeys also. We were told that upon these high and rolling hills, turkeys and grasshoppers are numerous, and this, together with the immense fields of grain after harvest, what a grand range these stubble fields would make for a big thousand drive of turkeys to fatten and put on the finishing touches for the market. Here is a turkey paradise, and we expect ere long to see big droves raised there. The soil in this section is dry and sandy, yet is rich and very productive and the winters not severe, thus making this country a superior locality for raising all kinds of fowl.

Wise Resolutions.
The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Clackamas county Teachers' Association at a regular meeting, held at the West Oregon City school, Saturday, February 26, 1898. They are straight to the point, and the different political parties should keep in mind the welfare of the public school system of the state in making their selection for this important office. Too much care can not be taken in guarding the best interests of our public schools. They are the backbone of the commonwealth and of the nation.

RESOLVED, By the Clackamas County Educational Association, that the best interests of the public school system of Oregon demand the election to the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, an officer of superior executive ability—a teacher of wide and successful experience in public school work—and an educator of broad culture and comprehensive knowledge of the theory and practice of teaching.

RESOLVED, That the various political parties of this state be and hereby are requested to nominate for that office some educator prominent in public school work and thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the educational system of Oregon.

By order of the committee.
T. J. GRAY,
Chairman.

L. O. Ralston sold two thousand dollars' worth of wheat last Monday.

Thos. Malanophy started Tuesday for his old home in Iowa. He expects to be gone about two weeks.

There was a pleasant surprise party given by the young folks of Olex at H. D. Randall's Monday evening.

E. O. Tobey, H. D. Randall and J. A. Crum started Tuesday morning for Condon to attend the county convention which meets Wednesday.

Mr. Peterson, of Gooseberry, stopped at Olex Tuesday on his way to The Dalles. Mr. Peterson says land is selling at Gooseberry readily for $1,000 a quarter section.

Mr. M. J. Malanophy, brother of Thos. Malanophy, arrived at Olex from town last Friday and was an agreeable surprise, for the brothers had not seen each other for 18 years.

School commences at Olex next Monday, 11th. Miss Parrish, of Month-mouth, has been secured as teacher, and it is to be hoped that all will send their children, as this will be the last school term taught in the old building, for it is the intention to have the new school house completed before another term is commenced.

At a school meeting held at Olex last Saturday a plan presented by the building committee was accepted by the directors; and the committee—consisting of L. O. Ralston, J. A. Crum and Jas. Martin—were instructed by the board to secure the subscriptions promised by note or money, so the same could be used to purchase lumber and other necessary material. Let every contributor be prompt and assist in this collection.

LONE ROCK.
H. P. Bott and Noah Kinworthy have bought the Beaver Dam saw mill from E. D. Wiedland for $2,000.

P. L. Ham, J. B. Goff and Geo. Perry went to Condon Tuesday to attend the Republican convention on Wednesday.

Bill Davis has been seriously ill for the past week. Dr. Shaw having been called from Fossil twice in the last few days to administer to his wants.

Lone Rock is now the proud possessor of a physician in the person of Dr. Loney, just from Arkansas, who is at present in Portland selecting a large and complete stock of drugs, etc., for his business here.

Every one in this locality seem to be well pleased with the progress that is being made with the new road up the Boone hill. If the work is pushed in the same vigorous manner it will not be many weeks until the people of Lone Rock will have at least one decent road leading from this town, something they have never before enjoyed.

FOSSIL.
Gardening is the order of the day. The delegates to the Republican county convention left for Condon Tuesday.

Mr. E. A. Reed is still very sick, and his daughter, Mrs. Churchill, of Ellensburg, Wash., and his son Dal, of Arlington, are with him and doing everything possible for his comfort.

Frank Sankey, Clarence Zachary, Coe Barnard and W. S. Thompson sold their steers last week to Mr. Reynolds, receiving $20, $25 and $30 for one, two and three-year-olds respectively.

FERRY CANYON.
J. A. Richmond, who has been laid up for some time with rheumatism, is able to be around again.

Miss Ross Nelson, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Nelson, has gone to Goldendale, Wash., on a pleasure trip.

Jones Bros., late from the Valley, are making their new ranch more than shine. Gilliam county needs more good men like them. The long ridge between John Day river and Lone Juniper, has plenty of good land yet to be taken.

From Alaska.
G. W. Rinehart received a letter a few days ago from his son W. N. Rinehart who is in Skagway, Alaska, from which the Globe is allowed to glean the following facts concerning that country. Mr. Rinehart is in business at Skagway and is doing well, but says he has no great confidence in the country. The boom is the greatest, he thinks, that has ever been known in the Northwest. Six large ships were lying in the harbor the day he wrote and 15 others were due within a week. The weather was very mild and spring-like and the coldest during the winter was 4 below zero. There are about 10,000 people in Skagway and the same in Dyea. There has only been 30 deaths in the town since it was started six months ago. He thinks there is likely to be great suffering in that country next fall and winter. Win. Mattock, formerly of Pendleton, is Mr. Rinehart's business partner, and two other Mattock boys, Geo. Greenwood and brother and John Davidson are also there. Mr. Rinehart and family expect to visit his parents at this place this fall.
