Outlook for Water Works Favorable.

Mr. H. Orchard, a practical water works man, and the owner of several water systems in different towns in this and adjoining states, arrived in Condon on Thursday of last week, in response to a request from the city council that he come here and investigate the proposition of putting in a water system.

Perhaps at no time in the history of Condon has the visible supply of water been less than at present, but it requires only a brief investigation on the part of Mr. Orchard to convince him that an ample supply can readily be obtained to furnish an abundance of pure water for all purposes.

A called meeting of the city council was held Thursday evening, a number of citizens also being present, at which time Mr. Orchard made an informal report on the proposition, as it had impressed him during the short time he had had to investigate it.

In the first place Mr. Orchard stated that there is absolutely no question about obtaining a sufficient supply of water, the large number of excellent wells now existing in the town being proof positive that water can be found wherever we have a mind to dig for it—at an average depth of about 20 feet.

In this connection the gentleman referred to the proposition of sinking a test well for artesian water, which is now under consideration by the city fathers, and gave it as his opinion that a flowing well might be secured here.

Continuing, Mr. Orchard recommended the following system: A tank having a capacity of 25,000 to 40,000 gallons to be erected on concrete pillars 14 feet high, on the high ground just north of town. This would give an elevation of something like 90 feet above the business portion of the town and would give ample fire protection to the entire town.

The water supply would be drawn either from the main street spring, and from wells already owned by the city, or from a large well to be excavated near the proposed site of the tank, or from all of these if necessary. The power recommended, would, in the main, be furnished by wind mills to be supplemented by a 6 or 8-horse power gasoline engine, which could be used in case of an emergency when the wind failed to furnish the necessary power.

Mr. Orchard impressed our councilmen and citizens generally as a man who thoroughly understands his business, and his very favorable report has given the proposition new life.

The council held another meeting Friday evening and unanimously decided to order an election, at which the proposition of bonding the city for the sum of $3000 will be submitted to the people. The election is called for Saturday, September 3rd.

The well drilling outfit arrived in town Monday and is now at work sinking for the city near the school house. The well will probably be sunk to a depth of 200 feet.

The Institute.

The Teachers' Institute which has been in session here for the past ten days will close today. The meeting has been at once a pleasant and profitable one for the teachers present. Prof. Wetzell has proven himself an excellent instructor, and Superintendent Kennedy has done all in his power to make the meeting a success. The following teachers are present this week who were not in attendance last week:

H. J. Nott, of Olex; H. A. Scoggin, of Canyon; Maggie Wilson, of Mayville; Drusilla True, of Matney; Grace Friswell, of Fossil; and C. G. Morey.

M. E. Miller has sold the Antelope Herald, and the last issue of the paper came out under the new management. County School Superintendent Kennedy has made the apportionment of school money for this county, which amounts to $4.40 for each scholar. The total school fund of the county amounts to $4,661.40. Of this amount Condon receives $323.00; Arlington, $377.00; Fossil, $510.00, and Lone Rock, $224.00. There are 1317 scholars in the county.

Compositors sometimes make some awkward blunders. Something of this kind may have happened in the Journal office last week when the "Condon Notes" were being put in type. In the last line of the chicken item the type may have inadvertently substituted the word "little" for "dozen." The correspondent surely wasn't cruel enough to publish to the world that Condon sportsmen came home "with just two little chickens apiece." Dozen is a much more expressive word than little, in this connection, it means so much more, as it were.

On Thursday of last week Otis Helms, who resides near Twickenham, met with a serious accident at the Jas. Morrow ranch, above Fossil. The young man was helping Jos. Friswell with a drive of the Gilman cattle, and while riding at a rapid rate his horse stepped in a badger hole and fell, rolling over on the rider. Helms was picked up in an unconscious condition and at last reports had not regained consciousness. His recovery is considered doubtful. A singular feature of the accident was that not so much as a bruise could be found on his body.

The Grooms man, in company with H. N. Fraser, enjoyed a short outing last Saturday and Sunday in Trail Fork precinct. Chicken shooting was the prime object of the expedition, but, as both the gentlemen have gilt-edged reputations for modesty to maintain, we will refrain from naming the number of birds killed. We never boast. An invitation from C. W. White was unanimously accepted, and the cordial hospitality of his substantial and comfortable home was thoroughly enjoyed. Trail Fork is a favored section. The people are prosperous and hospitable; the cattle are sleek and fat, and the chickens are as gamey as any sportsman could desire.

Mr. Chas. Mote, of this place, is building a neat little house on his homestead down on Thirtymile. Mr. Mote expects to occupy it shortly, having finished his harvesting here at the Budd place.

The binder took the place of the mower and rake this week, and the threshing machine will be next on the program, something that has not happened in this vicinity for several years past.

An outing party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hardie and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Friswell, all of Trail Fork, returned this week from across the mountains, where they have been rusticated during the hot weather.

No sawing has been done at the Lost Valley Co.'s mill the past week on account of an accident to the log trucks. The planer has been running early and late, however, getting out dressed lumber for their large trade.

CLEM.

W. R. Boyer's well is down 140 feet, and no sign of water yet.

Mr. Wm. Seibel seems to stand in all right with our school ma'am.

Geo. Welshons has been quite ill for that past few days with symptoms of typhoid fever.

Mrs. L. P. Conroy and daughter have returned to the mountains, where they have been most of the summer.

Chas. Dalke has been slightly under the weather the past week. We suppose he is grieving because the mulberries are all gone.

Mammoth Buck Deal.

Fossil Journal.

One of the biggest buck sales ever made on the Pacific coast took place at Fossil Creek last week, when a sheepman from Montana purchased practically all the bucks that the Baldy Sheep and Land Co. had left for sale this year—about 700 head. The bucks will be shipped to Montana from The Dalles. The price is private, but it could not be much, if any, under $7,000—a tidy sum to come from another state to one firm for bucks. This company has sold altogether about 2500 bucks this year.

Mr. Fraser, the gentleman who made the big purchase, accompanied by J. W. Blake, of Condon, passed through Fossil Monday on his way back to the railroad.

Last Thursday evening, about 5 o'clock, fire was discovered in a small outbuilding on Charlie Habesohn's premises near the school house. An alarm was quickly given and, in less time than it takes to tell it, a crowd had gathered, and the flames were soon subdued. H. N. Fraser got there with a Babcock Fire Extinguisher and made short work of the fire. The building was used as a smoke house, and the only loss was a quantity of bacon which was being cured.

The Church Social.

One of the most enjoyable events of the summer was the entertainment given in the church on Tuesday evening. A pleasing program of musical and literary selections was rendered, after which an hour or so was spent in social enjoyment. Prof. Wetzell, of Portland, and Rev. Burr, of this place, each favored the audience with select readings and recitations, and Mrs. J. F. Reisacher rendered one of her sweetest solos. The clerical sisters also sang, and every number on the program received a hearty round of applause from the audience.

Prof. Wetzell's rendition of "The Psalm of Life," after the manner of the old fashioned fourth reader class, brought down the house with a vengeance, and gave positive proof that the foundation of the professor's education was laid in some country school district in Virginia. The writer has helped read that same selection back in Virginia 25 years ago, after his promotion to "McGuffey's Fourth," and is prepared to testify that Prof. Wetzell's effort was a true presentation of the old method.

OBITUARY.

The angel of death has again invaded a Condon home, this time claiming as its victim, Lottie, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Ward, aged about 15 months. The sad event occurred on Saturday, August 20th, and the suddenness of the summons made the blow fall all the heavier on the heartbroken parents. The baby had been in her usual health until Saturday afternoon, when she was suddenly taken with convulsions and expired within a few hours.

To the stricken parents will go forth the earnest sympathy of the entire community. The funeral occurred on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Nott Again Heard From.

Dear Sir: Since you and Judge Mariner have decided on me, please be kind enough to allow me one more show, and I will trouble you no more. Allow me to state again that my kick is not in any way personal, but like your argument, upon "business principles and true economy."

In regard to the clerk's statement that he had employed his wife in the office and was obliged to work over hours. Let me ask what he calls "over hours." Do our officers dare claim that they work as many hours in the office as do the taxpayers at their business? And our wives work with us, too. Ask the stockmen, farmers and merchants if they know such thing as "over hours?" I did not assume that the officers had entered into an agreement with the county to do the work for a stipulated sum, but would naturally infer that they were being refused deputies for the last two years, willing to do the work for the statutory rate, or they should not have accepted the nomination. We do not blame the officers for taking all they can get, but expect the court to guard the interests of the people. Let us compare the salaries of those overworked officers with wages for other work. The clerk's salary is $1200 per year, or $100 per month, nearly $5 a day for every working day in the year. If he paid his deputy out of his salary he would still have good wages left. We believe every precinct in this county can furnish a number of persons willing to do the work with "ability and integrity," of either sex, who would accept the position of deputy for one dollar a day and board. If the clerk should pay a dollar a day to his deputy he would have about $3.80 left for his wages. Now, Mr. Editor, if, through the grace of God, I tell you where in the state of Oregon men can get better wages than $3.80 per day all the year for work, you will create a greater boom for that place than the Klondike ever knew. The fact is, those two offices (sheriff's and clerk's) are considered a snap in every county of Oregon, and lucky he who is so fortunate as to win the place. There are men working in the harvest fields, of this county, from 12 to 13 hours for $1.50 to $2.50 per day, owing to the nature of the work, some of them possessing equal "ability" with our present officials, and having no assurance of employment for the winter at any wages, and if, after a few years' struggle, they are able to buy a new head of stock or a home, it is poor consolation to have to pay a heavy tax thereon to support some one else at double wages. Is this the kind of economic administration you declare for?

Judge Mariner's statement that "Mr. Fraser worked for some time as deputy for $10.00 per month," shows just how hard it is for men to find a good lucrative position, and if he could work for $10 he could pay his deputy out of $125. The judge tells us that Mr. Lucas afterwards paid him $75 per month. Did Mr. Lucas pay this out of his salary of $1500? If he did, any other person can afford to do the same. Did not the county court allow the $75, making an additional expense of $1800 per year for the two deputies? The judge also states that "both the clerk and sheriff stated that they could not afford to hire a deputy and pay them out of their salary," and you seem to place stress upon the fact that "this statement is a matter of record and can be seen by any one."

Now how does this statement stand or appear, when we know that they did pay their own deputies for the last two years; not only this, but the clerk has been able to keep a standing advertisement in the county papers, soliciting patronage for all kinds of outside, legal work, and has doubtless made enough by his outside work to pay three deputies. I am not opposed to the clerk doing outside work, but, as one of the taxpayers of Gilliam county, I am positively and emphatically opposed to our county court paying for deputies to do the work which our officers were elected to do, when they themselves devote their time to other matters, and if you don't like to call it "generosity with the people's money" you might give it a more polite name and call it "Official Injustice."

The last issue of the Globe notes from the Salem Statesman, saying that "H. N. Fraser is spending his time in the city on land business." Is the county interested in land work, or is this outside work?

Judge Mariner says "official business got somewhat out of joint last spring," but we never heard of private business getting out of joint in the county offices. It is always satisfactory, and the only remedy the court can see to straighten out the crooked joint is to add $50 per month to both the sheriff's and clerk's offices, making a total of $1200 a year. We would not blame them for getting "out of joint" again this spring, as that is an unhealthy season, anyway.

Gentlemen, there is an evident inconsistency here which you have failed to explain, and the people knowing it will soon grudge the judge by assuming the "proper hump."

The judge's statement showing the tax levy of different counties, looks well on paper, and I am happy to know that our taxes are being reduced a little from our former high rates; but, simply because our tax levy is as low as other eastern counties, is no reason that we should pay two prices for official work; nor is it a sufficient reason that our levy should not be still lower, when we stop to think that Gilliam's tax is all for running expenses. The judge did not tell us what our relative condition is with regard to permanent county possessions—such as good roads, bridge, court house, Home for Indigents, etc. We have nothing of the kind yet, and are a poor county.

There are many things we need more than high-priced "Ability and Integrity." There are other reasons why the county should not pay for the deputies, but, not wishing to become invidious, I leave the matter with you and the court, being convinced that our deputies will be well provided for.

H. J. Nott.
