A marriage license was issued on Monday to Ralph Q. Aspinall and Maud E. Smith, both of near Arlington.

Mrs. D. C. Downer has been on the sick list for the past week or so, suffering from an attack of diphthery.

The sheep are coming out of the mountains now by the thousands and business is getting better every day.

Frank Springston, the genial sheepman, of Trail Fork, will take his family to Southern California for the winter.

The old saying that "all signs for rain fall in dry weather" is being proven literally true in Eastern Oregon this fall.

A welcome shower visited this section last Saturday, but if the storm had been stronger, our song would have been longer.

Henry Wilkins, of Clem, has been appointed administrator of the estate of J. A. Cron, deceased. His bond is fixed at $10,000.

Dr. B. F. Nott, the well-known dentist of Fossil, will be in Condon in the near future prepared to do all kinds of work in his line. If you have any dental work wait for Dr. Nott.

R. M. Johnson, the efficient sheep inspector of Gilliam county, was in town Tuesday morning, having started on his semi-annual round among the sheep camps.

H. B. Hendricks has sold his residence property to John Desart, the consideration being $75. Mr. Hendricks and family expect to remove to Bay City, Tillamook county, in the near future.

Bert Piersol, who has been looking after Mrs. Mary Brown's band of sheep in the mountains this summer, has returned and will get his Glines and other mail matter at the Condon post-office during the winter.

The fact that "stad poker" is again becoming the popular form of amusement around town is pretty good evidence that the money market is loosening up. Stad is not a popular game among "broks" men.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reisacher received a wagonload of furniture last Saturday for their new residence, and John has since been reveling in the delight of stretching carpets and other light forms of amusement incident to "getting settled."

The Ladies' Aid Society will give a social in Army hall next Monday evening (thelawson). There will be a program rendered and a lunch served. The lunch will consist of sandwiches, cake and coffee and will cost 15 cents. All are invited.

Dr. Bonham, the Dalles dentist, will be in Condon Nov. 10th, and in Clatsop Nov. 15th. Do not have students practice on you, but wait for Dr. Bonham, who is a graduate of a reputable dental college and has had years of experience in the profession.

LOST—On October 19th, between Lost Valley saw mill and Hubbell's Lake, a burrap sack containing clothing. Finder will please leave same at the White ranch on Paperback, or notify W. F. White, Canyon City, Ore., and receive reward.

BOYS—Monday, Oct. 24th, to the wife of W. L. Barker, an eight-year-old daughter. Mother and baby were reported as doing nicely, but W. L. is said to be worrying somewhat about the trouble he is likely to have in the future in selecting suitable sons-in-law for his half dozen daughters.

To be a policy holder in the Mass. Mutual Life Ins. Co. not only means to be insured but in addition, to be a member of a well known, business organization where each dollar of profit is divided annually with all members. H. T. Booth is the special agent of this company in Gilliam county.

O. W. Barr is having the well on his Summit street property deepened and walled. Col. Mike White, the veteran well builder, is in charge of the work.

It is in the air that Condon is to have a first-class dramatic club this winter, the object of which will be to improve the condition of the public school building. A worthy object, and one which will doubtless receive the hearty support of everybody.

S. B. Barker returned Saturday from a trip to the mountains, where he went to look after his sheep. Mr. Barker had the misfortune to lose 400 head of sheep this fall, the animals straying away from the bands and the herders being unable to recover them.

Charlie White is back from Nebraska, where he went a few weeks ago with a trainload of sheep. Not finding the market satisfactory, he did not sell, and will feed the sheep this winter at Fremont, Nebraska. He will return to the Prairie state next week and Mrs. White will accompany him.

The Glines family have been busy getting moved and settled in new quarters for the past week, and any shortcomings in the paper may be accounted for in that way. We hope to get down to business again by next week and give our readers a better paper than ever.

John Palmer, D. B. Trimble and Tag Wilson left last Thursday for Eugene, where they were called as witnesses for the state in the trial of Claude Branton, who is on trial this week for the murder of John Linn. P. H. Stephenson is also at Eugene on the same business, but he was detained in starting until Saturday on account of the serious illness of his baby.

There is not a worse lot of fakers on the road than the DeMoss family, says the Milton Eagle. They have been traveling over this western country for years bilking the people, and it is about time they were presented to the people in their true colors. They claim to be singers, but there is not one among them that will average up in point of melody with the Arkansas canary Uncle Elam once owned.

Wm. Cornett, the veteran farmer, of the Matney Flat neighborhood, presented the Glines family with a quantity of potatoes yesterday that should have been sent to the Portland exposition. They are big, smooth and of excellent quality and have to be cooked in sections an account of their size. Mr. Cornett did not cultivate the crop in the least and it is well that he didn't or they would have been too large to handle without a steam derrick.

Mrs. C. A. Danneman, who is spending the winter at Corvallis, where her daughters are attending school, writes Mrs. W. M. Dunlap, of this place, that her eldest daughter, Miss Carrie, has been dangerously ill with an attack of measles, and that she is threatened with blindness as a result of the disease. She was some better when the letter was written and the doctor hoped that with good care her sight would be saved.

Our rustling and wide-awake neighbors at Lone Rock have scored a point ahead of Condon, having just had completed a telephone line which connects with the lines of the Inland Telephone Co. The Globe most heartily congratulates its friends in that section on the improvement and would like to inquire what has become of the Condon telephone line. Had we not better get a move on and do something?

Crompton & George, the enterprising firm of general merchants, of Arlington, have an attractive, new advertisement in this issue of the Globe. The inducement offered cash purchasers is well worth the careful attention of every buyer, as there can be no doubt of the good quality of the ware offered. The gentlemen composing this firm are wide-awake, progressive business men and, the Glines believes, will command their share of the trade of Gilliam county. Be sure and read their "ad."

Mrs. Henshaw informs a Glines reporter that her recent trip to Portland and other points in the Valley was a most enjoyable one. She left her daughter, Miss Reddie, comfortably settled at the Portland University, at University Park, where she will complete her education, paying special attention to a thorough course in music, in which accomplishment she has already shown marked progress. Mrs. Henshaw is warm in her praises of the university, as an educational institution, and thinks she could have made no better selection anywhere on the coast.

The Reason Why. A good-looking, well-to-do bachelor of Iowa was being teased by the young ladies of the club for not being married.

He said: "I'll marry the girl of your club whom on a secret vote you elect to be my wife." There were nine members of the club. Each went into the corner and used great precaution in preparing her ballot and disguising her hand writing. The result was nine votes cast, each girl receiving one vote. The young man remains a bachelor, the club broken up, and the girls are mortal enemies, united in the determination that they will never speak to the nasty man again.—Ex.

The makers of Schilling's Best tea, baking powder, coffee, flavoring extracts, soda and spices believe in their goods to the extent of telling your grocer to give you your money back if you don't like the goods.

For sale by Dunn Brothers.

OLEX.

The sick of Olex are improving, nearly all being out of danger.

A small quantity of seed rye can be had at Olex at 55 cts. per bushel.

W. H. Shell and Geo. Neal arrived in Olex Monday with a band of cattle from Sherman county.

Elgin Cobles has leased the farm of Theo. Malanophy and will be a resident of Olex from now on.

Mr. Wm. Floyd, of The Dalles, has leased his large farm and moved his family to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keys, of Maville, paid Olex a pleasant visit on their return from their bridal trip.

John J. McDonald and H. G. Roberts, of Sherman county, have leased 480 acres of land of L. O. Ralston.

J. W. McKinney has leased the old French Charles farm, which, by the way, is one of the finest farms in Gilliam county.

Mat Ward is threshing Geo. Chamberlain's grain this week. This job will wind up the threshing season.

W. H. DeWitt is improving the residence of Mrs. J. A. Cron. He also has the contract for painting the Olex store.

Dr. Z. T. Dodson writes that he has been on the sick list for a month past, and that he will pay 18 cents a sack for some one to haul his wheat to Arlington.

La Fayette Day was appropriately kept in Olex. The school room was nicely decorated, and each pupil contributed a nickel for the monument fund.

The reported sale of L. O. Ralston's Olex store still stands in statu quo, and there will be a hot time in the old town, for all dry goods are to be sold at cost for cash.

President E. E. Lytle writes that he will soon make a trip over the route proposed by L. O. Ralston for his railroad to come to Olex on its way to Condon, and consider the donation offered.

Ralph Aspinall and Maud Smith were married at Wm. Wheeler's residence Tuesday noon. They have leased the Matney farm of L. O. Ralston and will go into farming on a large scale, as there is over 3500 acres in the farm.

LONE ROCK.

Henry Neel went to The Dalles last week on a business trip.

Good health in general seems to prevail in our community of late.

Grain, flour and wood hauling seems to be all the rage among our rustling people.

The sports all got back from the Maville races fairly sober and prettily well satisfied with the festivities in general.

Most of our farmers have finished sowing their fall grain. The ground has been so dry that no fall plowing has been done yet.

The telephone line from Heppner to Lone Rock is now completed, and we can talk to anybody we please now whether they want to listen to us or not. This enterprise accomplished, our rustling people will soon commence reaching after a railroad, and who dare say they won't get it? Verily, Lone Rock is strict in it.

FOSSIL.

J. W. Gilman was in town Sunday.

Mr. C. H. Brown and family have taken rooms at the McKenzie Hotel.

E. F. Horn has returned to his home, after helping J. H. Putnam a month in his store.

A number of carpenters commenced work on J. H. Putnam's residence Tuesday morning. An addition of two rooms, 15x30 feet, are being built on.

The family of S. P. Wattenburger have moved out of the house belonging to J. W. Gilman, on Mail street, into their own house in South Fossil, which is almost completed.

While Dr. Thomas Stewart was absent from his ranch this fall, for a week in the mountains, some person or persons carried off two or three cords of wood which he had hauled just before leaving. He has a pretty good idea who took the wood, and in the future they had better go a little slow or they will land in the "pen."

LOST VALLEY.

Tim Connolly has started for his home range in Ferry Canyon with his sheep.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Courtwright have returned from a visit to the Grand Ronde valley.

Mr. C. J. Love, of Portland, was here the 24th inst. looking up the hide and pelt business.

Bob Looney passed through here the 23rd inst. with some sheep he had purchased for Bernard Gosdy, of Condon.

Lost Valley is fast getting out of the rut. Besides having a grocery store, it has a small dry goods supply, which is kept at the saw mill by Harry Halstead.

OBITUARY.

George Coffin, one of the early pioneers of this region, passed away at his home on Thirty-mile, nine miles southeast of Condon, on Saturday, October 22, 1898, at the age of about 61 years. The disease that ended his life was dropsy, from which he had been a sufferer for several months. Several weeks before his death he was brought to town to be nearer medical aid and also with the hope that the change might benefit him, but when he fully realized that the end was near he requested to be taken home, that he might die there, and also that he be buried near the spot that had for so many years been the home of himself and his family.

Mr. Coffin was one of Oregon's pioneers, having come to the state in the early days. During the stage coach days of overland travel he kept a stage station at what is now known as Meacham, at the summit of the Blue mountains. He came to this section about 25 years ago and settled on the ranch that has since been his home. He possessed a wide circle of acquaintances and a host of warm friends all over this section, who will regret to learn of his death. He leaves a widow, one son, Charles Coffin, of Astoria, and one daughter, Mrs. Ed McKinney, who, with her husband, resides at the Coffin homestead.

The funeral occurred on Sunday and was largely attended.

The ever-present reminder, the never-quit life insurance man and other itinerants who prefer live, prosperous communities to dead, stagnant ones, have been strongly in evidence in Condon the
