

THE CONDON GLOBE.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1899.

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

A PLEA FOR HOBSON.

It beats the dance how quickly some men forget their youth. This reflection is caused by reading the numerous vicious attacks being made by many of our esteemed contemporaries, on Lieutenant Dick Hobson because he has just started the country and knocked the girl-kissing record into smithereens. For shame, brethren! Have you so soon forgotten the halcyon days of your own youth, when with a freshly-sprouted, young mustache, made fierce and terrible, by a copious application of French pomatum, or some other vile stuff, you sallied forth at eventide and roamed the country o'er in quest of some sweet maid who would favor you with just one little kiss? You've all done it, you sly, old bald-headed rascals, and after walking seven miles through mud and slush and trample brush and kissing one girl once and then walking home again—after losing seven hours' sleep that you needed in your business while hoeing corn on some rocky hillside next day—you thought you was a dandy, a crackerjack, the smartest young fellow in your school district, and a regular lady-killer to boot. Now didn't you? Of course you did; and if by any flight of fancy you could have for one moment imagined such a feast of osculatory bliss falling to your lot, as the one Dickey Hobson has just heroically waded through, your heart would have went pitty-pat so fast and so long that you couldn't have caught your breath for a week. For shame! You give poor Hobson fits for doing what you've done yourself every time you had an opportunity which wasn't once for each thousand times you've wished you could. This lecture is intended for all editors who harp about Hobson, kick about kissing, and growl at the pretty girls. Jim Stewart, of the Fossil Journal, needn't read it. He's all right. We'll gamble that if he were placed in Hobson's late trying position he'd put on his blandest smile and offer himself as a willing sacrifice. Ditto here.

Under certain circumstances Col. Bryan would be the logical candidate of the democratic party in 1900. That is if there had been no war, and the money question were to be made the sole issue. But the settlement of our colonial policy, or rather the establishment of a new government for our new possessions, will be a factor in the next election, and will be a question for Mr. McKinley's successor to solve. With this important issue Col. Bryan is not the best man to lead the democratic hosts. Admiral Dewey, however, would be a popular candidate, and when elected would be a most acceptable president. While he may not have any politics, as has been stated by some, he is a true American, his sympathies are with the masses, and he is free from entangling influences. Dewey is a more preferable candidate than Bryan—Times-Mountaineer.

The immigration convention, which is to meet in Portland on the 21st inst., mention of which is made in another column, is a matter of prime importance to the state in general and to Gilliam county in particular, from a Gilliam county standpoint. There are thousands of acres of the finest wheat land on earth lying undeveloped in this county that should be bringing forth an abundant harvest each year. There is room for more good, live, progressive people in this county, and it is to the interest of those of us who are here to encourage such persons to come and settle among us. Every acre of new land which is brought under cultivation, every bushel of wheat produced in excess of the previous crop is a benefit to our county and our state, and is an addition to the aggregate wealth which Oregon should represent. It's a good thing. Push it along.

The Chariton Courier tells about a little girl who was much addicted to the use of slang. One day when she had been very naughty her mother said: "Now Edith, you must go and shut yourself up in a dark closet and ask God to forgive you and stay there until he does." Into the closet she went, but in about a minute she appeared with a radiant face. "Why," exclaimed her mother, "what did you come out so soon for?" "Oh, that's all o. k.," replied Edith. "I just told God that I was sorry I got so gay and asked Him to please let me off easy and He said: Oh, don't mention it, Miss Jones; you're not so worse."
