LOCAL NEWS

Not Our Fault

Owing to a mistake somewhere, our auxiliary prints failed to arrive on time this week, and the Globe is forced to appear on the "half shell."

Frank Palmer has been on the sick list this week. Prof. McCully spent Sunday in the Mayville district.

D. S. Brown's baby is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Miss Lula Kelsor spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Dana.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dymart visited friends in Fossil this week.

F. B. Golden, one of Mayville's well known citizens, was in town last Friday.

Mrs. Ralsacher was on the sick list last week but is again on duty in the post office.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White, of Trail Fork, returned from Fremont, Neb., yesterday.

F. A. Bauer, of Marton county, and J. E. Redmond, of Olex, were business visitors here on Tuesday.

Rev. Miller will preach in the school house next Saturday evening, and Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Messrs. Johnson and Clerge were here during the week talking up the organization of a lodge of the order of Moose.

We have received a copy of House Bill No. 105, introduced by Mr. Hawson, which provides for a liquor license of $1,000 on all saloons in the state.

Boys—Saturday, Jan. 14, 1899, to the wife of E. W. Moore, a son. Another voice added to the general remonstrance against the division of Gilliam county.

Proof receipts for forfeited railroad lands are arriving daily at Clerk Frazier's office, and persons having purchased such lands should call and get their receipts.

Don't overlook the new ad of the Shurtz & Weil Co. in this issue. These people are right to the point as appraisers, merchants and are deserving of their share of patronage.

An interesting theological discussion is in progress this week, at Arroyo hall, between Elder Chase, of the Church of Latter Day Saints, and Rev. Badger, of the Christian church.

We are indebted to Hon. E. B. Dufar for copies of Senate Bill No. 3, the school law bill, and House Bill No. 105, the sculp bounty bill—both of which appear to be meritorious measures.

A grand ball will be given in Arroyo hall on Tuesday evening, February 14. The affair will be given under the auspices of the Arroyo Hall Company, and the proceeds will be used for the purpose of carpeting and furnishing the upper hall. A first-class time is assured, and everybody should attend. Posters and other information will appear later.

Attention is called to the new advertisement of the Arlington warehouse Co. in this issue. The new company is composed of some of the most substantial and reliable men in this section of Eastern Oregon, and it succeeds the West Warehouse Co. We can fully commend this firm to the attention of the public, and all business entrusted to them is sure of careful attention.

H. W. Hartman, the well-known carpenter, met with a painful accident on Saturday while at work in the room being fitted up in the new Masonic building for Dr. Hudson's drug store. While finishing some of his work with sandpaper, a long, keen sliver ran under the thumb nail of his right hand and perforated it almost to the first joint. Mr. Hartman will perhaps be laid up for several days as a result of the injury.

An interesting letter from Olex was received too late for publication last week, but the fact that the writer failed to sign his name would have prevented its publication, even had it come in time. Correspondents should remember that no unsigned communications can be published. The name of the writer is not required for publication, but merely as an evidence of good faith on the part of the correspondent.

An interesting letter from our old friend Joseph Whyte is unavoidably crowded out this week on account of a press of other matter. Mr. Whyte commends Judge Mariner on his stand on the court house question and says the taxpayers of his section are opposed to county division and have signed a remonstrance to that effect. He reports the snow almost gone, but the stock is still being fed. Mr. Whyte is just recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

According to the report of the superintendent of the state prison, out of a total of 323 prisoners confined in that institution but one was sent up from Gilliam county. It may be added that the one placed to Gilliam's credit was never a resident of this county but was a box car tramp, who got into trouble while passing through the county. Pretty good showing for Gilliam county, and her record is tied by but one other county in the state, Benton.

W. L. Wilcox, Frank Pitter and S. B. Barker "took a sneak" to Salem this week to assist at the obsequies of the "sneak" legislation being attempted looking to the division of Gilliam county. They carried with them a petition of about 700 names of legal voters of the county who seemed to have a "sneaking" idea that the county lines should remain as they now are. About 180 of those names are of residents of that portion of the county, which the Great Half-Dozen proposed to wipe from this county and add to the proposed county of Wheeler.

House Bill No. 1.

Hon. S. G. Hawson, Gilliam county's able representative, gives evidence that he is fully awake to the interests of the people of his county, as well as of all that section known as Eastern Oregon, by introducing the first bill of the present session.

The bill is for an Act entitled an Act to provide for the sinking of artesian wells in the several counties of Oregon containing arid lands. The bill provides for the appropriation of $3,000, by the state, to each of the several counties containing arid lands, which sum is to be expended in sinking a test well or wells for artesian water, in each county containing under the provisions of the act.

On the passage of the Act the governor shall appoint a Commission of Irrigation, to be composed of one legal voter and taxpayer in each county coming under the provisions of the act, who shall serve without compensation other than their actual traveling expenses while engaged in their duties.

The location of the site of the proposed well or wells in each county shall be designated by the county court of the respective counties. Any subscriptions raised in the counties to augment the sum allowed by the state, shall be received and accounted for by the county court.

The Irrigation Commission shall advertise for bids for the sinking of wells by the foot, and may have the right to reject any or all bids.

They Praise the Globe.

A letter received a few days ago from the Shurtz & Weil Co., the well-known firm of general merchants in Arlington, says:

"The Globe has given us the best service of any advertising medium we have used, and we take pleasure in thus speaking of our commendation."

Such words coming entirely unolicited are encouraging, and we are glad to know that our efforts to give our advertising patrons a strictly first-class service are appreciated. Advertisers have a right to demand three things, namely: Circulation, neat and effective typographical work and fair and honest treatment. It has always been our effort to give our patrons these things, and we are glad to once in awhile have our belief that we have done so, confirmed by such letters as the above.

Seriously Injured.

Deputy Sheriff Pinkham met with a serious accident on Thursday of last week which might have cost him his life. He had taken a horse into Dan Bluebar's livery barn, and on coming out closed the sliding doors when one of them jumped from the track overhead and fell on Mr. Pinkham, crushing him to the ground. The weight of the door seemed to come directly on the back of his head and caused very severe dislocation of his neck. He has since been confined to his bed and has suffered considerably with his neck as well as from injuries on other parts of his body.

The door has fallen on several previous occasions, but this is the first serious accident resulting therefrom. It should be made safe or removed at once.

Adjudged Insane.

William Black, of Mayville, who was examined by the jury in Judge Neale's court on Wednesday evening of last week, was adjudged insane and committed to the insane asylum at Salem. His condition is supposed to be due to domestic troubles, and it is possible that religious excitement may also have had something to do with it. He was taken to the asylum on Thursday by T. G. Johnson, of this place, and John Anderson, of Mayville, they having been specially deputed for that purpose.

An Incurable Boy.

Colly Black, a nine-year-old boy from the Mayville neighborhood, son of William Black, who was adjudged insane and sent to the asylum last week, was brought before Judge Neale on Friday morning, charged with incurable insanity. Sufficient evidence was adduced to convince the court that the little fellow was a fit subject for the State Reform School, and he was therefore committed to that institution. Colly is as bright a youngster as is often met with, and with proper restraint and training he should make a capable man and a worthy citizen.

LONE ROCK.

Mr. Geo. E. Wright is down with a very dangerous attack of erysipelas.

Mrs. Frank B. Johnson has been seriously ill with a gripe for several days, but is better at present.

We forgot to state last week that Mr. and Mrs. Roach are the happiest couple in town, all because they have a girl baby at their house.

Several sheep owners of this locality are hauling in large quantities of grain for the purpose of feeding the weak sheep of their flocks. The grain was purchased in the Eightmile country.

The loss of stock in this section has been light so far, but stock of all kinds are looking pretty thin from the effects of the recent long spell of bad weather. As a general thing, feed is plentiful.

Every one about here is kicking like a male donkey bill against the proposition to cut off a slice of Gilliam county for the purpose of benefitting a little 2x4 locality and, for their accommodation, to thus spoil our own county. We don't want any of it and are willing to let good enough alone, and all hands signed the remonstrance against it.

The People Aroused.

Perhaps never since the organization of Gilliam county have the people been so thoroughly aroused as they have been during the past week, and never before have they been so nearly unanimous on any proposition. When it became known here that a bill had been introduced in the legislature proposing to divide the county every man—and every woman too—was up in arms against what they considered a menace to the welfare of their county, and when the details of the plot began to unfold themselves and it became known that the whole scheme was the work of a half-dozen designing citizens of the town south of us, that has suffered from violent attacks of county seat mania for the past dozen years, and that outside of the "Great Half-Dozen" the people of the section which it was proposed to take from Gilliam knew absolutely nothing of the proposed measure, but when they learned of it, were strongly opposed to it; they were almost furious.

A mass meeting of citizens was held Friday evening, and it was decided to secure a remonstrance of the legal voters of the county against the measure, and the following loyal young citizens of Gilliam county volunteered their services to circulate the remonstrance in double quick time:

Wm. Hartman, Bud Rinehart, John Gross, Arthur Foster, George Caven, Louis Couture, Frank Maddock and R. A. McCully. A. J. Shelton, of Mayville, also volunteered as soon as he learned of the situation and, with Geo. Caven, invaded the enemy's camp and secured about 45 signatures in and around Fossil before the Great Half-Dozen had time to post their people as to the meaning of the scheme.

When the Half-Dozen learned that the cat was out, and that their own people were against them there was "blood on the moon" for a time. Such a situation was doubtless serious to the Half-Dozen, in the face of the assertion recently alleged to have been made at Salem by Mr. Donnelly, to the effect that "the southern portion of Gilliam county was unanimous for division." No time was lost by the Half-Dozen in applying the lash to the traitors to bring them into line, and it is alleged that such a pressure was brought to bear on a few as to induce them to sign affidavits to the effect that they had signed the remonstrance under misrepresentation.

The Rough Riders, as the remonstrance circulators were termed, began arriving here Monday afternoon, and by 8.00 P. M. they were all in, and the various petitions when counted were found to amount to 646 names of legal voters of Gilliam county who are strenuously opposed to any tampering with the present boundaries of the county. As stated above, about 45 of these signatures were secured in Fossil and in the territory lying south of that town, while about 150 of them were names of voters living in the section which it was proposed to cut off.

The petitions, as sent to the legislature, are accompanied by an affidavit signed by all of those by whom they were circulated, setting forth that no misrepresentations or undue influence of any kind was used in order to secure signatures. This was done at the special request of Messrs. Caven and Shelton, who canvassed the Fossil country, and who wished in this way to clear themselves of the imputations of the Fossilites, who, after signing the remonstrance, were induced by the Half-Dozen to sign affidavits that the same had been misrepresented to them. How any proposition plainly typewritten, in capital letters, and couched in plain English could be misrepresented to men who can read is hardly evident to the average mind.

A petition was sent to Arlington to be circulated, and one has also been circulated in the Blalock country, neither of which are included in the 646 names as reported above, and it is not unlikely that when the signatures secured in those two precincts are added to the list it will exceed 700 names.

The total vote cast for governor in the county last year was 183, and when it is remembered that about 700 names were secured in the remonstrance in less than three days, it will readily be seen how the people feel on the proposition.

LOST VALLEY.

A. S. Simmons is down with a gripe.

George Hawk and family, of Thirty-mile, were visiting relatives in Lost Valley Sunday, returning Monday.

Mr. C. Fair, of Pond, Arkansas, is on a visit to his brother Joe Fair, formerly of Condon. Mr. Fair expects to make this part his home for a short time.

A very enjoyable dance was given at the residence of Mr. Wm. Vanhorn, on South Thirty-mile, last Friday night. Every one reported having a tip-top time.

Mr. G. L. Rinehart, of Condon, was here Saturday and Sunday circulating a remonstrance against the division of this county. He secured the signature of every voter he could find.

FOSSIL.

J. H. Bowen is down with a gripe.

Fred Mires, of Drain, Or., is here visiting friends.

Mr. Sam McGilvray has the appointment for road supervisor for Dist. No. 2.

Our efficient postmaster, L. J. Gates is up and around again, after a week's illness.

A. B. Lamb and A. G. Ogilvie left for the first of the week for Salem, where they go for the purpose of holding up the legislature.

If the warm weather lasts another week farmers will start their plows, as the frost is about all out of the ground and the water is sinking fast.

A Beard received a telegram from Moore's county last week informing him that his aged mother was not expected to live. Mr. Beard left at once, but we have since learned that she had died before his arrival.
