The dance given by the Armory Hall company was a success. It was thought early in the evening that owing to the bad roads and weather and so much sickness the attendance would be small. Supper was furnished by the Maddock hotel and the Delmonico restaurant.

Who is this that comes like the still, dark night, And steals away our neighbor's light? It is death, whose mantle lightly falls— On "Uncle Tom" Young.

Our neighbor and friend is waited away— From this wretched world to a better, we pray, and so ends the trials and troubles of men. The trials and labors and dangers of sin. How many as on life's temptations— Have longed for the passing of any soul!

But we, who are born to this world of sin Must strive the battle of life to win. How heavily he struggled in this world now past; The angels will know when his horoscope's cast. Now lay him away in that last long rest. May his soul's mounting be with the angels and blest. CLARENCE E. MEEK.

Goldenale Sentinel: Our brother up the street, when a child is born, puts it "How we grow," etc. If the other "shop" wouldn't talk so much and "grow" a little, it would look better. The editor in question has done nothing in this line for his country that we know of, and, this being so, this pet expression of his makes the average woman weary.

Heaven's Gate Closed. Heaven's gate is closed to those who do not make provision for those depending on them when the opportunity is offered. The ideal condition of those in heaven is that of perfect happiness. If the soul be not happy it is not in heaven.

Could you be happy and see your loved ones miserable? If your loved ones are unhappy because you deliberately refused to avail yourself of the opportunity placed before you, to provide the comforts of this life for them, when you were under moral obligations to make such provisions; could you be happy, knowing that their suffering was caused by your neglect? Suppose that you are the owner of a small home, that you are earning a comfortable living, but cannot lay aside a sufficient amount to support your wife in the event of your death, and suppose that a friend has importuned you to join a fraternal order that would pay your wife, in case of your death, a sufficient sum to keep her in comfort till the great Father shall say to her, "It is enough, come up higher," and you, with this knowledge, refuse or neglect to accept the opportunity offered you, is it reasonable to suppose you could look back at your wife, toiling and struggling for a living, and be happy when you knew it was the result of your refusal or neglect? It would be impossible for you to be happy under such circumstances, and therefore you could not enter into communion with those enjoying perfect peace. If we can prove anything by reasoning from cause to effect, this clearly proves that you close heaven's gate against yourself by refusing to join a sound fraternal order when the opportunity is offered.

Extra Mayville News Items.

(Arrived too late for last issue.) Mayville, Or., Feb. 9, '09. EDITOR CONDON GLOBE:— Thinking a few items from our little town will be of interest to readers of the Globe, I feel called upon to spread myself, as it were, for their benefit. It is just a week since the present cold weather commenced, and the much-longed-for chinook has as yet failed to put in its appearance, so that stockmen are beginning to feel a trifle anxious, as the available supply of feed is fast running low.

The farmers of this locality who were making great headway with their spring work were brought to a sudden standstill, so far as farming operations are concerned, but they are looking forward to a good crop the coming season. Messrs. Stinchfield and Edwards, who went to Salem to fight the division bill, have as yet sent no word of news, and as Jim Stewart, of Fossil, accompanied by H. H. Hendricks, of the same town, went through here en route for Salem to work for the passage of the bill, it is to be hoped the two deputations have not met and furnished the coroner of Marion county extra work in the shape of a four cornered inquest.

Mrs. W. G. Keys, wife of our merchant, received a letter recently, stating that her brother, Carl Floyd, was outfitting for a trip to the Klondike region, and that he intended starting on his proposed trip on the 9th of this month. The letter also stated that Mr. Floyd would be in The Dalles about the 1st of this month to secure part of his outfit, and as Mrs. Keys looks upon the proposed trip, at this season of the year, as a very hazardous and foolish move, she left Mayville on the 31st, intending to meet her brother at The Dalles and try to dissuade him from carrying out his intention. Thinking it a good chance to visit her parents at Seattle, Mrs. Keys accompanied her brother to that city and will return home after a visit of three or four weeks. Since Mrs. Keys' departure a malicious rumor has been circulated stating in substance that, owing to family difficulties, she had left her home with no intention of ever returning. As this assertion is false and has no foundation whatever, the party who originated the libel will, if discovered, have his hands full of trouble, as Mr. Keys is justly indignant at the unmerited notoriety the report has given him, and he intends to right himself before the public, even though he has to use the law to do so. "Snow Shoes."

Largest Ranch in the World. "It seems natural that the largest ranch in the world should be found in the largest State in the Union—Texas," writes William Clinton in the February Ladies' Home Journal. "Indeed, this ranch is so extensive that some States could not contain it. Connecticut, for example, could not hold it by several thousand acres, the two States of Rhode Island and Delaware combined could not contain this immense ranch, which consists of three million acres, or about five thousand square miles. "About a dozen years ago, when Texas needed a new State capitol, the Legislature adopted a novel plan to get it. A promise was held forth that a vast tract of unappropriated land would be given in exchange for a suitable granite building at Austin. Among those tempted by this offer were ex-Senator Charles B. Farwell and his brother John, who ultimately formed a syndicate in Chicago and took upon themselves the responsibility of erecting the proposed capitol. Their part of the agreement appears to have been carried out to the satisfaction of the State, and in due time they came into the possession of the immense domain now known as the X. I. T. ranch."
