

THE DIVISION QUESTION SETTLED.

House Bill No. 153, introduced by Mr. Donnelly, of Grant county, creating the county of Wheeler from portions of Grant, Crook and Gilliam, after being amended in an important particular, passed the senate on Thursday of last week and, the amendment having been concurred in by the house, the measure became a law.

To the residents of Gilliam county and of the portions of Grant and Crook which are included in the new county, this measure has aroused the most intense interest of any which was before the late legislature for consideration. The contest has been waged fiercely by both sides and, at times, was rather acrimonious both in this section of country and at Salem, but, a compromise having been effected, the bill was allowed to pass, and, it is believed, will give pretty general satisfaction to the people of Gilliam county, and perhaps also to the people of the new county.

The compromise, as embodied in an amendment to the bill as it finally passed the senate, fixes the boundary line, between Gilliam and Wheeler counties, on the section line one mile south of the first standard parallel south, which is just one mile south of the town of Mayville, the line running straight from east to west without a jog. This leaves the greater part of Mayville, Trail Fork and Lone Rock precincts in Gilliam county, and will leave the county about $1,000,000 of taxable property. It was the desire of the Gilliam county delegation, at Salem, to retain every acre and every resident of these precincts in the old county because their wishes in the matter had been made known in a way that could not be mistaken, but after a careful canvass of the situation it was decided that the greatest good of the greatest number would be best conserved by the adoption of such a compromise.

The result may be considered a victory for Gilliam county, inasmuch as the original bill proposed to take from us nearly all of Mayville, Trail Fork and Lone Rock precincts, three of the very best communities in the county. Had the entire measure been defeated this year, the same fight would have come up at the next session of the legislature and the same unpleasant and expensive contest would have been forced upon the people of our county.

Gilliam is still, and always will be, one of the very best counties in the state, and her resources and possibilities of future wealth and greatness have hardly been touched. Her people can now settle down to their usual avocations and, with this old-time element of discord removed from among them, their ways will be ways of pleasantness and their path the path of peace. They can now greet their Wheeler county neighbors as friends and brothers and sympathize with them in the many trials and tribulations that seem to be the inevitable portion of all new counties in the first few years of their existence.

A NEIGHBOR'S OPINION.

While we wish the new county of Wheeler all prosperity, we are not in sympathy with the dismemberment of Gilliam county. Looking from the foothills in the northern part of the new county over the mammoth grain fields stretching away to the Columbia river, can it be wondered at that we think the dwellers in the southern portion of what was Gilliam county have lost more than they gained by the change? The inhabitants of what remains of Gilliam county need have no fear of their future prosperity. Their interests and pursuits are identical with those of Sherman, which is to-day one of the most substantial counties in the state so far as its financial condition is concerned—More Leader.

The charges of bribery and corruption coming from the legislatures of so many states this winter are truly alarming. It begins to look as though the day has almost come when all legislation is to be manipulated by the man or combination of men who possess the longest sack. The American people are long suffering and slow to wrath, but there is a limit even to their forbearance, and if these things continue there will be such a turning over of dry bones and live hoodlers around a number of state houses some day as will make the grafters think the day of judgment has come. It would be something awful if the people should some day conclude that this hoodling and grafting business is a twin brother to treason, and should take matters in their own hands and punish it as such. There are well authenticated instances of just such things having happened in the past, and who can say that they will not happen again?

Hon. E. B. Dufur, Joint senator for Wasco and Gilliam counties, is one of the strongest as well as one of the most highly respected men in the senate. Mr. Dufur is above the tricks and trades of ordinary politics and, although a democrat and in a hopeless minority in the late legislature, his strong personality and unbounding honesty made his influence strongly felt whenever questions of right and justice came up for consideration. To Mr. Dufur is due the credit of effecting a satisfactory compromise in the Wheeler county case, and we believe that his action in that matter all the way through has won for him the respect and esteem of all factions and interests in that contest.
