A finer display of mumps than we have in our family would be hard to find. We have them in all stages—just disappearing, coming on, and in full bloom. Anyone wishing to procure a sample, please call.—Moss Leader.

We understand that both Prof. McCully and Miss Halstead have been employed to teach the next term of school here. The efficient work done by these teachers in the past was the only recommendation the board needed to induce it to employ them again.

E. T. Hollenbeck has an ad in this issue of the Gloss that should have the attention of all those in need of the services of a mechanical engineer. Mr. Hollenbeck is ready to give estimates on construction in any part of the country and also runs a repair shop in Condon. Give him a call.

Dr. J. H. Hudson left Monday for The Dalles where he announced some time ago, he has secured an interest in Dr. Hollister's extensive practice. Our best wishes go with the genial doctor, and we trust he will meet with deserved success in his new field. Mrs. Hudson and the boys will follow him about June 1st. Their departure will be much regretted by Condon friends.

Lewyer Hendricks, who is one of the three owners of the Botte Creek saw-mill, informed us the other day that the mill will not start up as early as usual this spring for the reason that they have about 450,000 feet of lumber on the yard that was cut late last fall which is now in prime condition. As soon as about half of this is sold so as to give yard room without piling green lumber on the dry, they will make a run to fill up the yard again, and aim to keep a large stock of dry lumber ahead the year around. In a few days they will start the planer, as they have about 100,000 of seasoned lumber to plane.
