LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. Parrago and Mrs. L. W. Darling returned from a visit at Pendleton last Friday.

Don't forget that Big Celebration at Condon next Tuesday. Everybody whoop'er up.

Miss Mamie Smith, of Matney Flat, who has been attending school at The Dalles the past few months has returned home for vacation.

Cook Bros. have the material on the ground for a large new barn on their ranch east of town. They expect to put the building up before harvest.

W. A. Darling has been busy the past week painting and papering Arthur Meyer's residence in Ferry Canyon. The house was thoroughly renovated inside and out and the work done was first class.

A Summer School of Music under the direction of Prof. Le Roy Gesner, will be started in Condon in the near future. Pupils will be received in Violin, Harmony and Composition. Those desiring to attend should register at once.

The last issue of the Arlington Record is a decided improvement over former issues. Neighbor Maxwell announces that he will hereafter print his paper all at home. The Record shows signs of prosperity. Getting rich and respectable as it were.

Misses Lizzie and Maud and Master Tom Hoover, students of the Oregon Agricultural College, at Corvallis, came up last Saturday to spend their vacation visiting friends and relatives of this place and at Fossil. Miss Lizzie will remain all summer with her sister, Mrs. J. F. Reisacher, of this place.

What's the matter with the Arlington-Condon telephone line? The latest report, a month or so ago was that the line was to be built in June. As only one more day of the month remains, the company will have to get an almighty move on itself to make the report good. The harvest season is approaching when the farmers will need a line and the company will lose money by not having it completed.

J. F. Reisacher turned out a new saddle for Jim Cooke, last week that is one of the finest pieces of workmanship in that line, ever seen in this section of the country. The saddle is "square rigged" the hand stamping is exceptionally fine and the size is just right for Jim. Any one wanting a fine saddle should look at this one and they will be sure to leave their order with Reisacher.

Regarding Prof. Rageman's umbrella leap on the Fourth the Globe is authorized to announce that all precautions will be taken to avoid accidents and no one need fear any unhappy results from the exploit. This one act in itself is said to be worth a trip across the county to see and there is no doubt but that the largest crowd ever gathered in Condon will be present to witness it.

C. W. White, of Trail Fork returned from Omaha Monday where he recently shipped a trainload of sheep. He reports the market not very satisfactory. Mr. White says he is glad to be back from the cyclone country as a man does not know when he is safe there. Omaha had a cyclone scare while he was there but it fortunately did not materialize. The weather is so wet in that country that the corn cannot be cultivated and the weeds are taking every thing.

G. W. Rinehart is having an extensive addition built on his restaurant this week and Mrs. S. A. Maddock is making arrangements to tear down the L now used as a kitchen at the Condon hotel and erect in its place an addition 30 by 60 feet two stories high. All of which shows that the literary selections in Condon and as hotels only flourish in good towns we are reminded to remark that Condon is a better town today than it ever was and that is improving right along.

The strawberry and ice cream social given by the Baptist ladies Saturday evening was a pronounced success. A large crowd was present and the tables were well patronized, the amount realized being more than $50. Before the refreshments were served the audience was entertained with a well rendered program of musical and literary selections, the choir of the Baptist church of Fossil, being present to assist with the entertainment. A large number of Fossil people were present and everybody appeared to have a good time.

Prof. R. A. McCully left Saturday for his old home near Lebanon, Linn County. He will on a four-day tour to the Dalles, ship his outfit from there to Portland by boat, and drive up to Linn county. Upon his return he will be accompanied by his parents, two sisters and one brother who have recently disposed of their property in the Valley and will locate in Gilliam county. Prof. Miller who has been teaching in the Mayville country since last fall and who lately won distinction as pitcher for the Condon ball team accompanied Mr. McCully on the trip and will visit friends for awhile at Seilo. All lovers of education and base ball will hope that Prof. Miller's absence from Gilliam county will be a brief one.

Any improvement in the next issue of the GLOBE may be attributed to the fact that the editor and his wife expect to leave tomorrow for Portland to be present at the annual meeting of the Oregon Press Association, which will convene July 1st, and also to help welcome the members of the National Editorial Association, who will gather from all over the United States, and who will pack the keys of the city in their several vest pockets the greater part of next week. During our absence Mr. H. H. Turner, an ardent printer and newspaper man, of Salem, will preside over the destinies of the GLOBE and we feel confident he will do up the news in an up-to-date and satisfying manner. Mr. Turner is hereby given full charge of the office and to him is delegated the right to receive all moneys—and lickings—due the establishment at the occasional may arise. In the mean time we hope to enjoy life, and pick up a few new ideas at the same time, in the metropolis, and return to our work better equipped than before to give our patrons a good live, newsy, local newspaper.

Jenkins brothers secured the stand privilege for the Fourth paying $15.00 therefor.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Frazer returned from a visit at Portland and other valley points on Monday.

E. T. Hollenbeck has just completed a fine new residence for B. Giede on his ranch in the canyon south of town.

John Jackson has built an arbor adjoining his store to give room for an "expansion" of his business on the Fourth.

J. M. Cameron visited Lost Valley this week to look after his interests in that vicinity. Some of Jim's friends believe that he has been appointed as Daggett's deputy judging from the lively interest he takes in public school work.

Henry Ousdet the popular postmaster and merchant of Lost Valley, was in town during the week. Henry says the lates are dealing kindly with him in his new location and his prosperous and contented appearance bears out the statement.

H. G. Jordan has purchased the restaurant fixtures of the Delmonico restaurant from Mrs. Laura Thomas and the place will now be run in first class style. Located between Stephenson's store and Fix's bowling alley. Give him a call. 16 d 17.

The celestial gentlemen who preside over the culinary department of the Condon hotel had a rather tough experience Saturday night. Members of the junior fire brigade concluded they would have a drill and as the marshal did not give them permission to tap the fire hydrant they utilized the hotel pump and hose. Perhaps it was not their fault that the Chinaman's bed was directly in range of the nozzle, and perhaps it was, but anyway John got the full force of the stream and a ducking at the same time. He was mad as a wet hen and wet as a drowned rat, and there is another affirmative celestial vote to be recorded on the proposition that "Melican boys heap dam phooles".

Volunteer Fire Company

A meeting was held last Thursday evening, in P. H. Stephenson's store, at which time a permanent organization of the Condon Volunteer Fire Company was effected. Sam E. Van Vactor acted as temporary chairman of the meeting and W. L. Wilcox filled the position of temporary secretary. The committee on by laws, consisting of W. L. Wilcox, S. A. Pattison and Jay Bowersum, which had been appointed at a previous meeting, submitted its report, and the same was read by sections and adopted with a few alterations. The company then proceeded with the election of permanent officers which resulted as follows: Chief Engineer, W. L. Wilcox; Assistant Chief Engineer, C. S. Palmer; Secretary John Jackson.

MAYVILLE.

Mrs. E. A. Stinchfield is on the sick list this week.

Born—June 24, to the wife of T. C. Livingston, an 8 pound daughter.

The Christian Endeavor will give an ice cream and strawberry festival Saturday evening, July 1st.

The Fossil and Mayville ball teams played a match game here last Sunday, the Mayville boys winning by 18 scores.

Allen McConnell went to Arlington Wednesday to meet his daughter, Mrs. Maggie Bizick, of Sylvan Grove, Kansas, who is coming out on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edwards returned from a three weeks visit at Eugene and Corvallis, last Saturday. Lizzie and Tom Hoover accompanied them home, on their way to Fossil.

LONE ROCK.

Jess Goff has been on the sick list for several days.

The fruit crop is a failure in our locality this season, but grain crops of all kinds look fairly well.

Bert Akers has launched out in a business enterprise in our burg. He came from Lone and is dealing in candy soda pop etc.

Born—to the wife of A. L. Whelan a 15 pound boy; and Alf is tickled so he has forgotten which leg he was shot in a month or so ago.

The light showers Monday morning did considerable good to gardens. The indications seem favorable for more rain which is just what the farmers are looking for.

Our rustling merchant, P. L. Ham, has had considerable improvement put on his store building and has had the outside neatly painted which adds to the good appearance of things in that neck of the woods.

Ward and Stevens Bros. started for the Willanette Valley with about 60 head of horses which they expect to sell trade or give away before they return. The prospects are very flattering just at present for good prices, and we hope the boys will strike it.

Tom Hood and wife of Seattle are visiting relatives here this week. Mr. Hood was a resident of this place for several years, but for the past nine or ten years he has been rustling in several different countries, and for the past few months has been drumming for a boot and shoe firm in Seattle.

Elijah Evaporates.

Dr. Elijah Ebenezer Bailey, the Salem tooth carpenter, who piled his vocation, and forays, in this city for a few weeks and then returned to Salem, to blow himself and his rapidly acquired wealth, succeeded in getting himself interviewed by a Statesman reporter, and this is the way he evaporated about Condon: "Elijah Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bailey, of this city, left yesterday afternoon for a few days visit at Portland, preparatory to returning to Condon, Gilliam county, where for the past two months he has been practicing dentistry. Mr. Bailey says Condon is a lively place, and reports quite a number of Salemites temporarily located there. Mr. Bailey says board and lodging are to be had at reasonable terms, from $4 to $5 per week. Good wages for all vocations prevail, the tonsorial artists not excepted. He receives 50 cents for shaving. Beer and whisky retail for 25 cents per glass. Gambling is carried on openly, and large stakes are made. Draw poker games frequently require $20 to enter the game, and $10, $20, and $30, respectively for subsequent cards."

Dr. Elijah Ebenezer evidently should have enquired about the price of staves so as to be able to speak advisedly to the Salem reporter. Had the reporter inhaled just one half of Elijah's evaporation on the "tonsorial artists" proposition he would have given the Statesman readers the exact truth on this very important subject.

As to the price of beer and whiskey we are willing to believe that Elijah told as straight a story as he was able to do. On that most important of subjects we cannot blame him for getting a little mixed. From what the boys around town say the beer and whiskey got so badly mixed inside of Elijah that he could not have told whether he was paying two bits or two dollars per dram. But we will let that pass.

Elijah also evaporated at great rate on the subject of gambling. He must have "rubbernecked" a Condon game of draw, while here, and it made his eyes bug out. It is perhaps well that he didn't "take a hand" for had he looked upon the poker check when it was red or yellow or even a dark blue, he would probably have been in Condon yet. A trip to Salem to "blow himself" would not have been considered necessary.

It is passing strange that Elijah evaporated so furiously about the price of beer and whiskey and poker checks, and had not one word to say about Condon's five church organizations, her excellent public school, her fine water system or her polite and refined social circles. Perhaps he was too busy sizing up the former to even suspect that there was any of the latter east of the Cascade range.

The Statesman is one of the leading newspapers of the state and it is a matter of regret to many former Salem people, who are now residents of Condon, that it should have been so imposed upon by these senseless evaporations.

A cayuse that was being rode by Frank Kinney, last Sunday, stumbled and fell, and Frank received an ugly gash on the head and a black eye. The cayuse was not injured.
