LOCAL NEWS.

Attorney Robbins, of Fossil, was in town Sunday.

Mrs W. M. Dunlap visited friends in Lost Valley last week.

Miss Lulu Fitzwater has completed her school and is now at home for vacation.

Antone Nelson, of Antelope, a former resident of the Mayville country was in town Sunday and Monday.

A marriage license was issued Monday to Antone Nelson, of Antelope, and Maggie B. Wilson, of Mayville.

Geo. Smith, representing Balfour, Guthrie & Co., of Arlington was in town Sunday looking up the grain sack trade among our merchants.

E. T. Hollenbeck has moved his family to Wm. Smith's ranch at the mouth of Hay Creek, on the John Day, where they will take charge of the orchard.

Wm. Neary passed through Condon on his way to Arlington to get a new header. He says the hot winds have greatly damaged the crops in his neighborhood.

A basket ball club has been organized by some of the ladies of Condon and that pleasant and healthful form of outdoor athletics is rapidly becoming a favorite pastime among the fair sex.

H. N. Frazer, visited Mayville and Fossil I. O. F. lodges on Friday and Saturday evenings of last week in his official capacity as District Deputy Grand Master and installed new officers at both places. Mrs. Frazer accompanied him on the trip.

Judge Mariner, of Blalock, and Mr. Donaldson, of Portland, were in town this week on a business connection with the proposed development of this section of Gilliam county in the way of transportation facilities, of which we hope to have more to say in the future.

Condon is situated in the center of the best part of the northwest. In less favored sections the hot winds of last week almost ruined the wheat crop, but in this section comparatively little damage has resulted. Condon and Gilliam county are all right.

Children are apt to be unintentionally irreverent. A case in point is that of a little Chicago girl who wound up a prayer in this way: "And please, O Lord, take good care of yourself, too. If anything should happen to you, we wouldn't have any one but McKinley to depend on, and he isn't doing as well as we expected."

F. M. Pitter returned from Portland last Saturday where he shipped a carload of horses some time ago. Having only a good class of horses he found a ready market at satisfactory prices and had no trouble in disposing of the stock. Mr. Pitter also visited Southern Oregon and brought his two children home with him. He expects to keep house in the property recently purchased of J. W. Blake.

One great big source of gratification to every citizen of Condon is the unsurpassed supply of pure cold water which is supplied by the city well which is the source of supply to the water works. Since the advent of hot weather and the consequent need of much irrigation the pump has been kept going day and night much of the time and without making any appreciable difference on the supply of water. The flow seems to be inexhaustible and sufficient for a town twice or three times as large as Condon now is.

Jay Bowerman, Sam E. Van Vactor and Dave Drager, of this place, and Attorney Robbins, of Fossil, went to Ferry Canyon Monday to look after the harvesting of Van's crop of pumpkins. Mr. Robbins is looking for a farm in grand old Gilliam county and it is likely that another lawer will soon be added to the population of Ferry Canyon precinct. Should Ferry Canyon ever miss a crop of wheat—which isn't probable—there should be no trouble about five or six wagons raising considerable h— we mean hay—out there.

A party consisting of Mrs. P. H. Stephenson, Misses Bell Darling Gussie Darling and Rhoda Gussier, and Messrs H. H. Turner, Le Roy Gussier and Master Welden Darling, made a fishing excursion to Thirty-mile last Sunday and succeeded in inducing over fifty of the snny tribe to leave their native element and take up their abode in the trying pan. The party report having had a good time, the only thrilling incident of the day being when one lady stepped on a big snake thereby nearly scaring another lady who did not step on one, out of her wits. It is generally believed that Welden caught most of the fish but of course the surmise is not for publication.

A grapevine telephone message from Mayville informs us that our friend Ira Carter, the lonely but bewitching old bachelor, of that place is again in trouble. Last Christmas, it is alleged, Ira became so lonesome and disconsolate that in sheer desperation he stole a lone widow's Christmas duck and when charged with the theft, by the widow, he pleaded guilty but claimed in extenuation that he was a lone duckless critter and that he couldn't help himself. The widow forgave him and Ira reformed but when Hackleberry Finn's duck disappeared recently the finger of suspicion, of course, pointed to Ira. Some charming bicycle-riding, bloomer-wearing "duck" should take pity on Ira's unfortunate condition and adopt him.

Dan Rinehart was at Rock creek Tuesday.

Joseph Whyte was in town from his ranch on Thirty-ninth yesterday.

H. Hardisty, and wife, of Hood River, are registered at the Condon hotel.

Jean Lebous is visiting his old friend, "Squire Wilkinson White, of Trail Fork, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ladd, of Arlington, are visiting friends at Clew and this place this week.

C. T. Pinkham received a letter yesterday from his father, John F. Pinkham, of San Francisco, stating that he would start for Condon next Saturday to make his son a visit.

The construction gang on the telephone line is now on Scuttler Flat and will probably reach Olex this week. Condon should have the opportunity of saying "hello" to the outside world early in August.

Orin Jackson has opened a new meat market in the Jordan building next door to Duann's store, thereby filling a long felt want. Mr. Jackson will handle only first class meats and will do strictly cash business. See his ad in another column.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Strickland were in town yesterday. Late reports from their little daughter Hazel, who is in a Portland hospital, states that she recently underwent another operation but is now getting along as well as could be expected. She will not be able to return before September.

G. J. Caven, the Pine Creek fruit king came in yesterday with a load of cherries. His Royal Anne variety is about the size of Missouri pumpkins, with a flavor like unto the nectar of the gods. Uncle Jack intimates that only an honest democrat can raise such fruit, which if true would indicate that our old friend possesses all the virtues of both Jefferson and Jackson.

The initial number of the Hardman Homestead is on our table. It is a five column folio and starts out with a liberal amount of advertising patronage. Hardman is a pretty small town for a newspaper venture but the Homestead is not a very big paper and may manage to live. E. M. Shutt, of the Heppner Times, is the responsible party, and as he has had experience in packing a newspaper in each hand, at Heppner and Ione, he should make a success at Hardman.

Billy Stevens has been a veritable "angel of mercy" during the late sizzling spell of weather. Billy has been engaged in a house to house canvass bearing a freezer of ice cream, the contents of which he gladly parts with for a consideration, much to the comfort and delight of big and little, old and young. The amount of genuine comfort to be found in a dish of Billy's palatable preparation during such weather is past reckoning and we all hope the supply will last as long as this spell of weather does.

Governor's Narrow Escape. Gov. Geer, and party had a close call while on their return from California Sunday morning. The train on which they were passengers was crossing a high trestle over the river, near Delta, California, when the coach of which the governor was an occupant, and one other left the track and bumped along on the cross ties until the train was stopped. The train was brought to a stand still just in time to avert an awful catastrophe but it is likely the governor and his friends would rather have been at Sunday school than on that train.

Officers Installed. District Deputy Fraser reports the following officers installed in I. O. O. F. lodges last week: Mayville—W. J. Stitt N. G.; F. E. Smith, V. G.; I. B. Carter Secretary; Al McConnell Treasurer. Fossil—H. C. Heidtman, N. G.; Emerson Howell, V. G.; E. M. Clymer, Secretary; A. B. Lamb, Treasurer.

Struck a Badger Hole. Guy Buffington, who has been working on Dan Rinehart's ranch, cutting hay, met with quite a serious accident Saturday morning that will lay him up for sometime. Guy was driving in some work horses from the pasture when the pony he was riding stepped in a badger hole and fell. The young man tried to throw himself clear of the pony but one foot caught in the stirrup and the weight of the pony came on his left leg with sufficient force to break it just above the ankle. He was brought to town and taken to the Condon hotel and Dr. Luna was summoned to reduce the fracture. He is now resting as comfortably as a broken leg and 100-in-the-shade weather will permit.

Purely Business. G. L. Neal, the well known auctioneer, will give the strictest attention to all business entrusted to his care. If you have property to sell consult him. 12th.

Looks Like Duplicity. If the government had desired or designed to deal honestly and squarely with loyal, faithful Oregon, it could have very easily arranged that its soldiers should be brought to Portland and mustered out at Vancouver, without depriving them of their travel pay from San Francisco hither. But appearances indicate that the officials of the war department, or the president, played the game so as to keep the Oregonians in the dark, and feeling good, while presenting circumstances to the Oregon troops that would be certain to decide them against us. It looks as if a certain amount of duplicity had been resorted to in order to avoid our impotency and animadversion, and possibly to placate persons or interests behind the scenes.—Telegram.

From Cradle to Coffin. We look into the cradle and behold a male child. At the age of ten he is a noisy kid, with half the buttons off his pants and an eye for meanness. At the age of 15 he has devil in a printhop; at 25 the publisher of a county newspaper, at the head of every enterprise to improve the town, or to enrich the business thereof; at 35 he is an emaciated and wornout man, with holes in his pockets and a bald head; at the age of 50 he is a corpse in a cheap coffin, and his only resources left behind are two cases of long primer type, a Washington hand-press and a subscription book with 500 delinquent subscribers, who line up and march around the coffin, saying: "He was a public spirited fellow, but couldn't save anything."—Metal Publisher.

A Virginia Verdict. A correspondent of Law Notes, writing from Virginia, gives the following story: In a prosecution for horse stealing tried in Bedford county Virginia, just after the war, the evidence was conflicting, and, as usual, the attorney for the prisoner obtained from the court an instruction that the prisoner was entitled to the benefit of every reasonable doubt. The jury retired, and after they had been out about two hours the dinner hour arrived. The judge sent the sheriff to ask if the jury would likely agree. The answer came, "Yes." The court waited until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and again sent word to know if the jury were likely to agree. Again the affirmative answer came back. Supper time came and no jury. Once more the sheriff made his pilgrimage to the jury room and returned with the same answer. Lights were procured, and about 9 o'clock they filed in with their verdict, which the court read solemnly: "We the jury, find the defendant not guilty by a d—n tight squeeze." Upon the first ballot the jury had agreed to "not guilty," but one juror hung the jury nearly twelve hours on the "d—n tight squeeze," addendum.
