

THE TRUST CONFERENCE.

The trust conference held in Chicago last week was hardly up to expectations in point of attendance and interest.

When Mark Hanna talks about "our moral obligations to the civilized world" there are some people who are so ill bred as to snicker audibly.

The French council of ministers have done what they could to wipe out the latest blot on French civilization in pardoning Dreyfus but the world will not soon forget the shame of French court martials.

The report of the grand jury with reference to the county poor is certainly gratifying. Not many counties the size of Gilliam, are entirely devoid of paupers and such a condition speaks volumes for grand old Gilliam as a place to live.

The seventh judicial district is fortunate in having for judge a man who looks to the people's interest in the transaction of court business.

RAISE MORE PORK.

"Another full carload of hams, bacon and lard arrived last week at Colfax from Omaha. These products the merchants will sell to farmers in the Palouse country, and the money paid out for them will be a direct and everlasting loss to this section.

"This means that the farmers in the Palouse are paying the Missouri or the Iowa farmer for his corn, for his labor of feeding it to the hogs, his profit, the profit of the stock buyer who ships the stock to Omaha, the railroad charges from the farm to Omaha, the cost of packing and the packer's profit, the freight charges from Omaha to Colfax and the profits of the jobber and the retailer.

"This is the best farming and stock country on earth, and at a time when more or less wheat damaged by rains will be unsalable, and fit only to be fed to stock. "How long will this piece of extravagance continue? How long must we see train loads of pork products, eggs, poultry butter and cheese coming 2000 miles or more over plains and mountains, and millions of dollars which ought to be kept at home, sent east to pay for these products which should be produced on our own fertile soil." Spokesman-Review.

"This is indeed an old folly, and exists all over the coast, but it is one that will probably not be speedily corrected. It appears to be a waste to ship food half way across the continent that could as well be raised here, and in fact it is a waste for farmers to buy hog products from abroad if they can produce them as readily at home.

But the farmer is not wholly to blame for our markets not being supplied with domestic hams etc. The consumers are partially at fault for not being sufficiently sectional to prefer home products to things imported. For instance, two fine hams, one a home product and the other from Chicago or St. Louis, may be offered to the purchaser, and nine times out of ten he will select the imported one even if he has to pay more for it, simply because it came from abroad. When consumers demand home products and give them a preference over all others, producers will see to it that the folly of shipping meats from the Mississippi valley no longer exists.

Many Gilliam county farmers haul their wheat more than 50 miles to the railroad and sell it for less than 50 cents a bushel. They come home and go to their local dealers and pay from 12 to 15 cents a pound for eastern bacon. It would seem that they could make money by feeding that same wheat to hogs and save freight both ways.

It is not so much the gross wealth that a country produces that makes its people prosperous as it is the net profits which they keep at home; and there is no question but that the people of this country could make a big saving on meats if they would go at it right.

Puritanical prudery is silly and senseless. Those who affect it are the weakest and most susceptible of the human race. It is ridiculous to pretend to know nothing of the shame and bestiality that are all around us. We should know and do know that there are loathsome, poisonous snakes and hideous reptiles in the rotting, noisome vegetation in the marshes, and that slimy toads and wriggling things hop and crawl about in caves and hidden places.

is a certain portion of the public press that panders to and fosters all that is vulgar, degrading, and pernicious and publishes to the millions these terrible and tragic tales of disease, drink, divorce and death, describing in detail the sad happenings in society of scandals, sin, shame and suicide. Such tales of crimes and histories of horrors are not good reading for the masses and, strange to say, those, both men and women, who have the reputation of being pruders, not being able to speak of a naked fact or refer to the leg of a table without showing evident embarrassment, are the greatest devourers of this class of literature, while the men and women who are wise in experience, and healthy in intellect from that wisdom, are in no way attracted by it.

LONE ROCK. The weather is delightful.

P. L. Ham and J. M. Williams are attending court in Condon this week.

Farmers in this locality are busy putting in their rye crops and hauling winter wood.

Mrs. Chas. Stevens was thrown from her horse one day last week and was quite badly hurt.

The new grass is the finest ever known at this season of the year and stock of all kinds is in fine condition for winter.

Several of the Haystack folks have been over lately with fruit and watermelons which were easily disposed of at good prices.

John E. Johnson took a mining tour in the John Day mountains last week and reports having found some excellent prospects which we hope is correct.

Rev. C. H. Clark writes us from Spokane that he has been returned to the Lone Rock charge for the ensuing year. This will be the third year for Mr. Clark and his estimable wife among us and we are well pleased to have them again.

Three Lone Rock boys, Jesse Goff, John Madden and Dell Ward, left the first of the week to enter Portland University. We are glad to see such energy in our young boys in the line of education.

Brighter boys are not to be found than these three and all feel confident that they will improve the golden opportunity. Several of their young friends met Saturday evening and gave them a farewell party.

DON'T TAKE A HEADER.

Don't take a "header" until you have seen the Old Reliable Hodges No. 2 or Center Drive Header. We can furnish either, and a careful examination of the latest type of Hodges Steel Headers will convince you that they are just what we claim them to be--the most perfect model in the Header line yet produced.

In spite of the unwarranted assertions of some, it is a well known fact that more Hodges Headers are made every year and sold--and stay sold--than of all other makes combined; that more Hodges Headers make merry music in the harvest fields of both continents than were ever constructed by all other manufacturers of this type of harvesters. For 29 years Hodges Headers have been the leaders in their class.

No feature of these machines has been considered good enough that could be improved upon, and we now say with confidence, that it is, as it has ever been, the peer of all alleged rivals in simplicity of construction, ease of operation and beauty of finish.

If you are not interested in headers let us show you the Milwaukee Chain Drive Mower, or other good mowers we have, the Lad and Lattie Steel Hay Rake, or other good rakes we have, the Towell Derrick and nets, which reduce harvest expenses, in short let us show you the latest ideas from a threshing machine to a repair link.

Remember we are headquarters for machine extras. Call and see us.
