Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dyer, of Mayville, were in town Friday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White were in from Trail Fork Friday.

Sheriff Frasier, of Multnomah county, and L. O. Ralston were here the first of the week buying horses for the government.

"Coin" Harvey, of Chicago, author of Coin's Financial School, is writing a new book on "Money, Trusts and Imperialism."

Miss Estella Adlard, of Ferry Canyon, who has been teaching at Twickenham, Wheeler county, has finished her school there and returned home.

The "hello" send and the telephone "rubberneck" have formed a combination to drive people crazy. The man who has a telephone has troubles of his own.

George Perry and R. M. Johnson were over from Lone Rock Saturday. Mr. Johnson brought his little boy over to take the stage to Arlington where he will attend school during the winter. Alex Hardie, the well known Trail Fork sheepman, was in town Sunday.

Stock inspector R. M. Johnson has finished his semi-annual roundup among the Gilliam county sheep and reports that there are now in the county 87,700 head of the woolly coated prosperity producers. The sheep are in fine condition and are almost wholly free from scab or other diseases.

Mrs. Bird Wright, who is an expert needle woman, completed an elaborate cushion last week and on Saturday it was put up for raffle at Jackson & Dysart's store, there being 30 chances offered at 50 cents each. Sunday morning Jim Cameron and George Gray got possession of the paper and after doubling the number of chances they canvassed the town and in an hour or so sold the all 60 chances making the cushion bring Mrs. Wright $30.00 just double what she expected. Fred Wilson won the prize and the glory being enough for him he gallantly presented it to one of the prettiest girls in town.

The Grand Ball Christmas night. Don't miss it.

C. A. Dahlke was up from Clem yesterday.

CHRISTMAS AT CONDON.

PIGEON SHOOT, CARNIVAL, BALL.

How the Day Will be Spent in Gilliam's Capital. A few Attractions. Where to Buy Your Goods.

There will be a "hot time in the old town" next Monday and Monday night. All the little tykes will be out of bed uncommon early that morning and, amid sundry shrieks and howls of delight, will give their undivided attention to exploring the depths of the Christmas stocking before breakfast. As the little ones begin to shake off the drowsy god and dig the bright eyes open with pudgy fists the "Merry Christmas" call will be heard in all the blessed homes where children are and the older and crankier ones will find themselves wishing for just one merry, happy, childish Christmas.

After a light breakfast—light to encourage a suitable appetite for the big Christmas dinner, and while the ladies, God bless them, are preparing that same—the masculine portion of the community will don their Sunday suits and saunter around town looking for Christmas. They will not need spectacles to find it either, for the commodity will be found scattered around town in great profusion and its name will be legion.

Of course there will be many things wanted for the wives, babies and best girls which were overlooked when the stockings were filled up the night before, and it won't make much difference whether the prospective purchasers "drop in" at Dunn's, Barker's or Stephenson's, Hudson's Pharmacy or Condon Drug Co's, Jackson & Dysart's or Al Henshaw's, they will find a plenty of useful and ornamental articles and good things to eat, drink and smoke, to make their selections from.

After these things have been attended to the crowd may congregate at the Globe office where each one will be allowed to square all arrearages and pay a year in advance and no questions will be asked. Strangers may become subscribers, on this occasion, without being identified, by depositing $1.50 with the editor, merely as an evidence of good faith, and each one will be presented with a neat souvenir as a memento of the joyful occasion. The crowd will then be dismissed with our best benediction and, if the sleighing continues fine, they will next interview Springston & Rogers and Dan Rinehart about the price of sleigh rides—which will be found eminently satisfactory to all the fortunate fellows, fond of blonde or brunette beauties, whom they want to take out for a swirling swimming spin 'twixt snow and stars. If they need any extra sleigh bells for the occasion they can get them from Jno. F. Reisacher.

Along towards noon, when the crowd all get together, everybody will make a grand rush for Svl's barber shop to get a Christmas shave and, of course, most of them will have to have a hair-cut. After getting scraped and trimmed those who begin to feel nervous about the score they hope to make at the pigeon shoot in the afternoon, may call on Earhart & Wilson for a cigar—or something—to steady their nerves, you know, while others, who are afraid of taking cold may "drop over" to Jean's place and "say something" to their friends to keep the cold out. There will be just time before dinner to bowl a game at Charlie Fix's and afterwards Charlie Wilson may be called upon for a vin frappe all around. About this time the dinner bells will ring and there will be a grand rush, by all who don't eat at home for first place at the "Model," the Condon hotel or at Rinehart's restaurant where fine fat turkey will be furnished for all hungry people.

After dinner the pigeon shoot will engross the attention of the men and boys and it will be one of the biggest sporting events ever held in the county. Even if you "never shoot in your life and have no hankerin' arter a gun," you don't want to miss this event for it will be GREAT. While the shooting is in progress the ladies will be holding a high jinks carnival of some sort at Armory hall to which no man will be admitted. They flatly refuse to tell the editor what is on the program but claim it will beat pigeon shooting all hollow and that all the women and children in this part of the state will be there.

Last but not least will be the Grand Ball in the evening. There will be a sound of revelry that night and Gilliam's capital will gather then her beauty and her chivalry and bright the lamps will shine o'er fair women and brave men. There is no joke about this and if you are foolish enough to miss it you will hate yourself the rest of the year.

These are only a few of the attractions that Condon will offer on Christmas and as we want to see every body enjoy the day to the utmost we hope to see them come this way and enjoy some Condon Christmas cheer.
