An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only. Commercial and Financial Happenings of Interest in the Growing Western States.

Coal for Market.

In the country surrounding Stella, Cowlits county, Wash., it has been known for a number of years that croppings of coal have been discovered, and some prospecting and development work have been done. The coal assayed well, and it was comparatively easy of access, but for some reason it was found difficult to interest capital sufficient to mine and ship the coal on a large enough scale to make it profitable, and the man who owned the most valuable properties in that locality had not the means to do so himself. About six months ago the following capitalists of The Dalles became interested in the property: Hon. Malcolm A. Moody, J. M. French, J. B. McInerny and J. Nicholas. They employed a practical mining engineer who had had experience in this character of work, and had a thorough inspection of the properties made. The result was that they formed a company giving the owner of the land a half interest in paid-up, non-assessable stock, while they agreed to furnish all the money necessary. They purchased machinery of the latest design in the East, and most of it has arrived and been set up. It is the expectation of the company to have coal from its mine on the market within 60 days of a quality equal to any that is now used in the Northwest, and at a price very much below that at which it is now sold. In carrying out their present plans they will build a railroad from Stella, four miles up Cold creek to where the mine is located.

The Big Buffalo Sold.

One of the most important mining deals ever made in the Northwest, whereby the former Big Buffalo mine at Buffalo Hump becomes the property of Charles Sweeney, the Spokane capitalist, has been consumated at Grangeville, Idaho. The sale embraces the Bert Rigley, Young and Robbins interests, representing one-half of the mine, for $125,000 cash. Sweeney had previously secured the other interests for which he paid about $75,000. The deal on the property has been pending many months.

New Blue River Ledge.

The newly discovered quartz prospects on the Blue river, Or., reported about two weeks ago, are attracting a great deal of attention. Miners and prospectors are heading that way from all directions, and already a lively mining camp is there. The discovery is in the vicintiy of Blue river falls, several miles northwest of the old Blue river mining camp. It is easily accessible by a horse trail from the main road up the McKinzie, and no difficulty is experienced by miners taking in supplies.

To Plant Tomatoes.

The Davidson Fruit Company, at Hood River, Or., has furnished about 75,000 tomato plants to farmers who are going into the business of growing tomatoes for the cannery. P. F. Bradford has the supervision of the growing of the plants, and has visited the farmers and given instructions about setting the plants. The plants are furnished free and the farmers have engaged to plant about 30 acres for the fruit company. Next season if 100 acres of peas can be secured, the company will put in machinery to hull and can green peas.

Mohair Pool Sold.

A pool comprising 2,931 fleeces of mohair has been sold at Corvallis, Or. The purchasers were F. L. Miller and S. L. Kline, merchants of that place, and the price paid was 28 cents per pound. The total weight of the lot would be about 10,000. The pool is the second of the kind sold there this season. A former lot of almost the same number of fleeces sold recently at 28½ cents per pound.

IRON AND STEEL LOWER.

Metal Markets Disturb Serenity of the Trade Situation.

Bradstreet's says: More rather than less irregularity in the trade and price situation is to be noted this week, partly in the result of weather conditions, but partly in the case of the iron and steel trade because of the continuance of those efforts in the friction of lower prices which have been such a feature of the iron and steel trade of late. That the basis conditions of trade remain on the whole more favorable is, however, evidenced by a number of features. Railroad earnings continue heavy, and the decrease noted in bank clearings is chargeable largely to religious and other holiday observances, and to restricted stock speculation.

It has been a weather market for the cereals and most agricultural products, these advancing early this week, but weakening toward the close.

Wool is weak, but there is rather more inquiry, and now, as one year ago, relatively highest prices rule at points of production.

Backward weather conditions have affected the lumber trade demand but in this as in a number of other lines the advanced prices demanded are credited with checking business.

The pressure of heavy supplies is responsible for the slight weakening shown in the price of raw sugar this week, while the refined market remains unchanged.

Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week aggregated 3,898,945 bushels, against 2,896,653 bushels last week.

Business failures in the United States for the week number 161 against 152 last week.

Failures in Canada for the week number 19, as copmared with 35 last week.

TOO MUCH INTRODUCING.

What an Englishman Has to Say About Our Method.

"It took me some time to grasp the American point of view in regard to letters of introduction," said an English traveler, chatting over American characteristics. "When we give a man a letter of introduction at home, we consider that we are vouching for him socially, financially and every other way, so, needless to say, it is never done except among relatives or the closest friends. Here you don't seem to take the thing seriously. When I was in Washington last week I was introduced to a very pleasant gentleman in the real estate business, and chanced to mention that I was going to Nashville next day. 'Oh, indeed!' he said, 'then I'll just give you a line to an old chum of mine there,' and immediately he took out a pad of paper and began writing. 'By the way,' he remarked, after jotting down a few words, 'I didn't even know my name struck me is the proper spelling?' The idea of a stranger giving me a letter of introduction to an intimate friend when he didn't eve uknow my name struck me as very strange and amusing. However, I took it with thanks, and later found the Nashville man a very charming fellow. When I left he insisted on giving me a note to a friend in Memphis, who proved equally charming, and who, in turn, supplied me with an introduction to a prominent clubman here in New Orleans.

"The last letter I haven't presented, and don't intend to, because it contains a glaring, though inadvertent misstatement in referring to me as an old and cherished friend of the good-natured gentlemen of Nashville and Washington. The process, as you see, has built me up an entirely fictitious character, and 'pon my word, I can't understand why such friendliness is not continually and outrageously abused by impostors. I'm sure it would be on our side of the water."—Baltimore News.

Why He Got It.

There is a sentiment common to the most of mankind which makes one's own home and neighbors the best there are in the world, and even a stranger who hails from the home town the most welcome friend to be met away from there. Nevertheless, such an illustration of it as the following, told by Gen. Sir Redvers Buller, is rare:

The story was told the Rev. S. Baring-Gould by Gen. Buller himself, and is narrated in the author's words as far as possible.

Sir Redvers was on his way, with a regiment of soldiers, to Canada. Off the entrance of the St. Lawrence the vessel was enveloped in fogs and delayed so that provisions ran short. Now there was a station on an islet with supplies for shipwrecked mariners, so Sir Redvers went ashore in a boat, to visit the store and ask for assistance.

When he applied he found a woman only in charge.

"No," said she, "the supplies are for those who are shipwrecked—not for such as you."

"But this is a Government depot, and we are servants of the crown."

"Can't help it; you're not shipwrecked."

There was a very recognizable intonation in the woman's voice. Sir Redvers at once assumed the Cornish accent, and said: "What, not for dear old One and All, and I a Buller?"

"What, from Cornwall, and a Buler? Take everything there is in the place; you're heartily welcome!"

Origin of Rod and Line.

Obviously the answer to the conundrum, "Who discovered rod-fishing in the sea?" is the first man who found he could not dangle effectively a handline over the edge of some precipitous shore, with rocks projecting at the foot. Later, when this noble savage began to burn out trees to make boats, the fisherman of the period doubtless boomed out a line on each side of the craft of the period so as to enable him to work four lines.

Go to the wildest portions of these islands and we find the same practices continued. In the far north, little barelegged Highlanders sit on steep rocks bobbing for cuddies, rod in hand, and without doubt much the same thing may have been seen any summer this century or two, as long, indeed, as there have been cuddies and laddies to catch them.

Go to the northwest of Ireland, and there the descendants of wild men row or sail, with bamboo rods, stuck out from the sterns of their boats, like quill stuck by wicked pupils in wigs of eighteenth century pedagogues. Flies, mind you, at the end of the lines. Real fly-fishing in the sea, and catching glissaunes (youthful coal fish) by the hundred. And this done for ages; and people want to know who discovered or introduced rod-fishing in the sea! Why, the practice is as old as the hills, metaphorically speaking—perhaps older than some hills.—Fishing Gazette.

The Bride and Groom.

"The wedding ring completes the circle, typical as is the ring itself of the perpetuity of the compact," writes Mrs. Burton Kingsland in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Inside the ring—always a plain gold one—are engraved the initials of bride and bridegroom, and the date of the marriage. It is placed on the third finger of the left hand because of the fanciful conceit that from that finger a nerve goes straight to the heart.

"Some say that the word 'obey' in the marriage service is an anachronism and holds only those who choose to be bound, but American women do not often feel their chains. In some provinces of Russia the bride's father gives her a little cut with a whip, which instrument of correction he then presents to the groom for future emergencies.

"The kiss formerly given by the young husband to his bride after the words, 'I pronounce you man and wife'—for which so many rehearsals were necessary—has gone out of fashion.

"It is a time-honored observance of wedding etiquette that the bride shall not be seen by the bridegroom on the fateful day until she appears coming up the aisle to meet him. Hence the custom of the bridegroom's waiting at the altar. The bridal procession is for him—not a pageant for the guests."

Toujours La Politesse.

"During a recent sharp skirmish," says "The Sphere," "an English officer in South Africa noticed that one of his guns was in danger. Calling an officer to his side he requested him to go and help the captain to try and bring it in. 'Pardon,' he added, as the officer turned to obey, 'perhaps you do not know the captain.' The officer had not the pleasure. 'I'll introduce you, then—charming fellow,' said his lordship, and, regardless of bursting shells and puffs of dirt which marked the pitch of bullets all around them, he cantered along the hillside with him. 'Captain,' he shouted, 'let me introduce my friend. Mr. B., Captain A. He will lend you a hand to bring in that gun; hope neither of you will be knocked over doing it.'"—Collier's Weekly.

A SIGNIFICANT LETTER.

New York City, Feb. 15, 1900.

My Dear Carlton:—I know it will please you to learn that my homeward journey from San Francisco was more than pleasant. One striking feature that added very much to my comfort was the dining car service on the Rio Grande Western and the Denver & Rio Grande. This is the finest service of this description I have ever seen anywhere, either in this country or abroad; the food and cooking was all that could be desired, and at very moderate prices. If you happen to know the Rio Grande Western people, I wish you would say to them that it will afford me the greatest pleasure at all times to bear testimony anywhere to the above facts.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) J. ADDISON BAKER, 2nd.

ALABASTINE

ALABASTINE is the original and only durable wall coating, entirely different from all kalsomines. Ready for use in white or fourteen beautiful tints by adding cold water.

LADIES naturally prefer ALABASTINE for walls and ceilings, because it is pure, clean, durable. Put up in dry powdered form, in five-pound packages, with full directions.

ALL kalsomines are cheap, temporary preparations made from whiting, chalks, clays, etc., and stuck on walls with decaying animal glue. ALABASTINE is not a kalsomine.

BEWARE of the dealer who says he can sell you the "same thing" as ALABASTINE or "something just as good." He is either not posted or is trying to deceive you.

SEND IN OFFERING something he has bought cheap and tries to sell on ALABASTINE'S demands, he may not realize the damage you will suffer by a kalsomine on your walls.

UNOBJECTIONABLE dealers will not buy a lawsuit. Dealers risk one by selling and consumers by using infringement. Alabastine Co. own right to make wall coating to mix with cold water.

THE INTERIOR WALLS of every church and school should be coated only with pure, durable ALABASTINE. It safeguards health. Hundreds of tons used yearly for this work.

IN BUYING ALABASTINE, customers should avoid getting cheap kalsomines under different names. Insist on having our goods in packages and properly labeled.

INSURANCE of wall paper is obviated by ALABASTINE. It can be used on plastered walls, wood ceilings, brick or canvas. A child can brush it on. It does not rub or scale off.

ESTABLISHED in favor. Shun all imitations. Ask paint dealer or druggist for tint card. Write us for interesting booklet, free. ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

British Aristocracy Blamed.

Many people attribute the recent reverses of the British to the degeneracy of the aristocracy. The life of luxury certainly does not produce vigor. Indigestible suppers, late hours, constant nerve strain and lack of exercise upset the stomach and weaken both physical and mental vitality. The blood that makes men heroes must come from active, healthy stomachs. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters purifies the blood and strengthens the stomach. It cures constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia and biliousness.
