The Globe in this correspondence from all sections of Gilliam county. We aim to make this paper the leading news medium of the county and invite contributions to make us by sending in the news of their respective neighborhoods. Correspondence should be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication, but as an evidence of good faith, and the editor assumes no responsibility for opinions expressed by correspondents.

"He who will creep about some great man's feet, The honored fountain of his breath to meet, Or follow him about with crafty plan, And cringe for smiles and favors, is no man."

"THIS OLD WORLD OF OURS."

God pity the houseless, homeless poor in this old world of ours; the weary earth pilgrim with no place to call home. God made the beautiful shining lakes, the winding rivers, the babbling brooks, crystal springs and waving forests. He gave them to man. He gave him countless millions of acres of fertile land. Among his princely gifts were rich deposits of gold and silver, lead and iron, zinc and copper, and every metal that could add to the happiness of mankind. He gave us strong arms, cunning hands and willing hearts. Man accepted the gift and before his sturdy blows forests were felled; in their place sprang up cities with golden spires and smoking chimneys that pierced the blue above. Fertile fields yielded their bountiful store of golden grain. The iron horse, shaking the ground beneath and outstripping the wind above, carries its load of human freight and delivers its precious stores in distant cities, bringing back the products of the artisan and the factory. Over the earth are stretched a net-work of wires on which messages are borne on lightning's wing. All these are the gifts of God and the products of man's labor. God sends refreshing showers and the beautiful sunshine and coaxes mother earth to yield her bountiful store. Soft winds kiss the beautiful flowers whose myriads of colors please the eye and gladden the heart. But amidst all this plenty and beauty there is much sadness. "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." The rich have seized the land. The poor have no home. The flowers do not bloom for them. The beautiful places which they build with their own hands afford them no shelter. The song of the babbling brook is hollow mockery. Of the bountiful harvest they get a mere sustenance, and many beg that. The laws protect the rich and allow them to rob the poor. Each day the rich are growing richer, and the poor poorer. Usury and extortion are sapping the industries of the nation. What fond memories are connected with the word home. "There's no place like home." There a man's patriotism is anchored. There, in the atmosphere of its wholesome influence, his whole being ennobled. There, in the sweet companionship of wife and children, his character is cast in a finer mould. There he builds him an altar and worships God. There is exerted the kind of influence of mother that will be carried over the golden wires of memory, in years to come, to guide the erring ones when they reach manhood. O, home! Around thy sacred altar are clustered in golden sheaves the sweetest memories of childhood. Looking back through the varying scenes of fleeting years we behold the sweet smile of mother, the kindness of father and loving confidence of sister or brother. O, home! In thy sacred precincts were formed ties of love that will never go out in life. How cruel to be robbed of home! How great the nation's sin that permits it! God pity those who have no home!—Ex.

Prevented A Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, Ohio, saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her; and she writes, this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of its power to cure all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed. Trial bottles free at Condon Drug Co's.

The Assassination of King Humbert of Italy was one of the most dastardly crimes of the century.

The assassination was inspired by the spirit of anarchy, which seeks the death of all rulers and the overthrow of all governments. How to prevent the spread of the anarchistic spirit and stamp out that now in existence will be one of the problems of the twentieth century. While assassins should be punished without doubt, yet the old saying that "prevention is better than cure" will probably be found to apply here, as well as in many other directions. Mild, equitable government, with the rights of the poor as safely guarded as those of the rich, an absence of the military spirit, a recognition of the principle that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, will do more to prevent the masses from following the teachings of anarchists than any number of repressive measures.—Canonsburg (Pa.) Notes.

KEENE'S INTERVIEW.

J. R. Keene's remarkable cable interview in the New York Herald, extracts from which were quoted in these columns a few days ago, has excited widespread interest among bankers and financiers.

Opinions differ. In Boston, his prediction that no matter whether McKinley or Bryan wins the stock markets will fall, is not considered seriously. When leading men of State street were seen, the remark invariably was: "Oh, Keene is a speculator, and everybody knows his methods."

But St. Louis financiers, on the other hand, agree with Keene in his statement that business prospects are not bright, that over-capitalization is a menace to the country, and that a small band of monopolists are crushing the people. A dispatch to the Herald says not a single banker could be found who was willing to take issue with Mr. Keene, although some thought he had overrated the danger somewhat.

T. A. Stoddard, manager of the St. Louis clearing house, and one of the best posted financiers in the city, said: "Mr. Keene hit the nail on the head exactly, but I can see no good to be accomplished by announcing such things to the world. Prices of nearly all securities have been boosted to a fictitious level, but they should be allowed to gradually settle down to their proper basis."

W. H. Thompson, F. E. Marshall, John Nickerson, W. H. Lee and other bankers expressed themselves in a similar manner, but refused to make statements.—Spokane Review.

WANTED SEVERAL PERSONS FOR DISTRICT OFFICE MANAGERS in this state to represent their own and surrounding counties. Willing to pay forty $500.00 weekly. Desirable employment with unusual opportunities. References exchanged. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope. S. A. Park, 225 Custom Building, Chicago.

To the Consumers of Gilliam County:

We desire to state that we are determined to reduce our large stock of goods and for the next 90 days will make great reductions in all lines for cash. By referring to your local papers you frequently note the ad. of interior merchants who, with conspicuous signs, say: "We sell at Arlington prices." Is this not evidence that the Arlington merchants must lead in low prices or there would be no need for such statements? Before purchasing your fall supplies or the smaller bills get prices from us. In agricultural implements we have the favorite Monitor Drills subject to four attachments, viz, hoe, disc, press wheels or shoe. The Oliver and Flying Dutchman Plows are hard to beat for good clean work, durability and lightness of draft. It is no longer an experiment to buy a Bain or Stoughton wagon, as they have but few if any competitors when strength and light-running qualities are considered. If you anticipate treating yourself to a new buggy or hack do not purchase until our new carload of the old reliable Racine rigs reach us, which will be here in September. When in need of a chop mill, hay press, windmill, sewing machine, or any kind of machinery used on the farm, write us for prices and we will treat you right.

Address all communications to the firm at the old James W. Smith store.
