

Woman's Mistake

It is a well-known fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured more women than any other remedy. It therefore must be the best possible medicine for women's ills.

But some women make the mistake of thinking that they will try something else, simply because it is new. That mistake is often a fatal one—fatal to the health and happiness of the experimenters.

Is it not foolish to risk the possible results of such experiments? Is it not better to depend upon a medicine which has been tried successfully for thirty years, and which has never been found wanting? Do not therefore let any one persuade you to try something which they say is just as good. It cannot be just as good. Mrs. Pinkham's Compound is the best, and there can be only one best. This is not a mere assertion, but a positive fact, admitted by hundreds of regular physicians.

Rely on your own common sense, and Mrs. Pinkham's life-long experience, and you will make no mistake. Don't experiment with your health, but take a medicine that you know is good, and is backed by such letters as these to Mrs. Pinkham:

Ovarian Troubles Always Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I had been in poor health for twenty years, having inflammation of ovaries and womb trouble. Although treated by physicians, I could not gain strength nor do my work, and was so low-spirited and tired of life. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle strengthened me, and I wrote to you. After taking six bottles can say that I am well and can even do my own washing."—Mrs. M. W. MILLER, No. 1033 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

"For three years I suffered with ovarian trouble, having inflammation and an abscess on right ovary. Had such pain in my back and head, and at times was unable to walk. Had several doctors, but they did not do me much good. One doctor said that I would have to have an operation and have the ovary removed. I became discouraged and gave up all hopes of getting well. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham and followed her directions faithfully, and am better than I have been for three years. I have taken ten bottles, and my friends are surprised at my rapid improvement."—H. W. ALLEN, Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., N. Y.

Suppressed and Painful Periods Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I was thin, sorrowful and nervous. I had not had my menses for over a year and a half. Doctored with several physicians in town and one specialist, but did not get any better. I finally decided to try your medicine, and wrote to you. After I had taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and three of Blood Purifier, my menses returned, and I feel as well and strong as I ever did, and am gaining flesh."—Miss LENA GALLES, Visalia, Tulare Co., Cal.

"Before taking the Vegetable Compound I was troubled with irregular menstruation, and suffered great agony. My physician gave me morphine, and I remained in bed. I doctored eight years and got no relief, and the doctors told me there was no relief for my trouble. Finally I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. While taking the first bottle I felt that it was improving. I have taken seven or eight bottles, and never had anything to do me so much good. Every month my troubles have grown less and less, and now at this time I am cured."—ELLA QUINCY, No. 22 Stage Street, Haverhill, Mass.

Baackache and Womb Troubles Succumb to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I have been for ten years an invalid with female weakness, and the torture and pain I suffered no tongue can tell. I never spent one week in the ten years that I was free from pain. My trouble was inflammation and congestion of womb. When I commenced to take your remedy I had bedfast for some time under the treatment of two of our best physicians without receiving any benefit. You can imagine the benefit I derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I tell you that I have gained forty pounds and am well—a thing I never dared to expect."—Mrs. C. E. FOLAND, Mendon, Ma.

"For a number of years I was troubled with backache and leucorrhoea. I became so weak and miserable that I could not attend to my work or studies. The least effort would completely exhaust me. Physicians failed to help me. I felt that my youth was blighted, and the life before me would be one of suffering and misery. Then a friend insisted on my taking your medicine. Before I had used one bottle I was greatly relieved. I had not known a well day for four years, but now I feel better than I have since a child, and it is all due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Miss MAY B. STEVENSON, Alliance, O.

Business Not Yet Seriously Affected by Drought.

Bradstreet's says: Despite some irregularity both as to demand and prices, due partly to warm rainy weather, but likewise a reflection of a hesitancy to embark largely in new business, pending political events, the general tone of trade is a favorable one, and confidence as to the outlook for business in the remainder of the year is notable. Some diminution in the volume of jobbing business is noted at large Western centers, and continued rainy weather in the Northwest alike checked the movement of wheat to market, injures the grade of the same, and discourages retail and jobbing distribution. Ten cent cotton is the key to the very favorable report which comes from the South and the character of reports from this section is more nearly favorable than for many years past at this time.

The indisposition to contract heavily as to the future is perhaps most marked in the iron and steel trade and here, also, the most marked tendency toward weakness in the order forms of production is noted.

The industrial outlook has been improved by the signing of the tinplate scale, but the stagnating coal situation is, on the surface at least, rather more unfavorable than a week ago, more mines and miners being idle and production steadily diminishing.

Special strength is noted in provisions and hog products, in which the very strong statistical position is receiving more attention.

Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week, aggregate 4,459,167 bushels, against 4,247,810 bushels last week.

Business failures in the United States for the week numbered 177, as against 169 last week.

Some Figures that Will Amaze by Their Astonishment.

In 1882 the storage capacity from Croton dam (Croton lake and reservoir), the natural ponds of the system, and the old reservoirs was 5,500,000,000 gallons. Croton lake holding in reserve but half a billion of this.

Now four new reservoirs, Sodom and Boh Brook, Tifens, Carmel and Amawalk, hold for water needs at any hour 32,000,000,000 gallons more. The storage reservoir in Central Park has in reserve over a billion, and Bronx system reservoirs 3,500,000,000 more stored up, not against a rainy day, but against a succession of dry ones.

The new Croton dam, the Cornell dam, as it is officially called, will store marvelously in addition. A stone wall 294 feet high closes one end of a narrow valley. The water will come against this and back up the valley, submerging lowland after lowland into one gigantic lake, engulfing old Croton lake, covering over the old dam.

All the rivers of the Croton system will flow into it, and both the old and the new aqueducts will be its outlets. It will "back water" up among the hills sixteen miles from its dam, wiping out the sites of three old villages, and will increase the storage capacity two-thirds, bringing it to 70,000,000,000 gallons, adding itself 30,000,000,000.

With these resources and these greatly increased opportunities of storing up a huge reserve of water against every time of drought, it may be an occasion of surprise that the near future will certainly need additions on a larger scale than ever before.

The explanation is to be found in a few illuminating figures. The demands of New York for water have increased beyond all anticipation and calculation. In 1880 the city was using 100,000,000 a day; in the winter of 1890-1900 it used, according to official records, 255,000,000 gallons. The hour when New York will call for 300,000,000 gallons a day is near at hand; in fact, it is said it will be reached in a year or a little more.—Munsey's.

HIS JUDGMENT WAS WRONG.

Hound that Tried to Whip All the Dogs in the Neighborhood.

Sooner was a wail, or more correctly speaking, a soldier of fortune. No one knew his antecedents. He had dragged himself into Hogarth's yard one day, worn out and exhausted after a long run on the trail of a buck. There was no telling how far he had come, as a fast hound will cover many miles in a day, and keep it up for two or three days. But he had driven the buck into the lake, and the Hogarth boys had killed it; therefore they treated the dog well, and as he liked the place he remained and became one of the household.

The time Sooner discovered he had fighting blood in his veins marked an epoch in his life. He overestimated his ability. It is true, and suffered in consequence. A new settler moved into that part of the country and established himself about six or seven miles from Hogarth's. Regarding the size of his family, he was far behind Hogarth, but when it came to dogs it was simply a walkaway. Several breeds were represented in his collection, but the "raller dog" predominated.

Sooner undertook to clean out the entire crowd alone and unaided. It was something of an undertaking, and he spent six out of seven days in the hospital while the war was on.

"He doesn't seem to be much of a fighter," I remarked to Hogarth one day when the subject was under discussion.

"Oh, he can fight all right," Hogarth replied. "It's his judgment what's wrong. Sooner's a fast-rate fighter, but he's a dern poor judge of dogs."

He was game though, and stuck at it until he had conquered each one of the new dogs in turn, with the exception of a huge brindle bulldog. With this dog he employed strategy. He bowed down before him and addressed him with smooth words and made friends with him, and then one day he enticed him over to his own home, and all the dogs there pitched on the brindle bull and half killed him. Sooner became more blasé than ever after this achievement. It so plainly showed his superiority to all the rest of dog creation.

This fighting trait was unusual in a hound, for as a rule they are peaceably inclined. It served to accentuate the fact that Sooner was not like other dogs.

A Memory of School Days.

Sometimes a fellow's mind goes on an escapade that's wild
And frisks back o'er the years when he
Was noddin' nor a child;
The days when with his apellin' book
McGuffey drove one sick,
An' White gave bitter doses in his third-
part rithmetic.
When dusk and dew's a fallin' and the work that filled the day,
I'm restin' from my memory jes' travels
back that way,
An' lingers longest with a vision
can ne'er destroy—
The freckle-faced divinity I worshiped
when a boy.

Her face was pure, each feature stamped
with innocence, forsooth,
An' yet 't call her pretty would be
stretchin' of the truth;
Though I dreamed all night full often of her cheeks, sun-tanned and brown,
Her starched-stiff gingham gown,
Her ruffled plaiting gowns,
The little girls of these days never have
such pansy eyes,
An' lips have lost the way 't frame such
soft an' sweet replies
As those I heard when rambling with,
in happy-hearted joy,
The freckle-faced divinity I worshiped
when a boy.

I plucked the first wild roses of the spring for her to wear,
An' helped to braid the blossoms of the orchard in her hair;
I stood her knight an' servitor through boyhood days the span
An' held her in my heart until I'd grown to be a man!
But here's a trace to memory, since last
the hour grows,
Upstairs to bed I softly stole, to dreams
and sweet repose,
An' kiss my wife good-night, she who has
been life's dearest joy,
The freckle-faced divinity I worshiped
as a boy.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful, it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. One of the greatest Chinese discoveries was a kind of iron ore which attracts iron—the magnet. They then found that a bar of magnetic iron set free always points to the north. That is the mariner's compass, without which travel at sea would be almost impossible. They were the first people to dig canals and to find a cheaper way of carrying goods than even our railway. In building they discovered the greatest of all inventions—the arch.

"My Audience—And Myself."

Mr. Richard Mansfield has written for the current issue of Collier's Weekly a remarkable article, wholly different from anything he has already published, entitled "My Audience—And Myself." It contains many humorous and pathetic touches and some extremely interesting reminiscences.

Stop, Look and Listen!

The words quoted will recall to country residents and visitors the familiar signpost planted at many a railroad crossing. One may smile at the explicitness of the warning words, yet doubtless to many an incautious traveler they have been as words of destiny. There are promptings of the human conscience as persistent and continuous when the danger line is carelessly approached. The signal system of the moral nature did not happen. Its orders cannot be safely disregarded.

It is claimed that for the perfect maturing of corn in this latitude the growing season must have an average mean temperature of 75 degrees for 90 days, or there must be an excess of 75 degrees multiplied by 90, equaling 6,750 degrees of accumulated heat. Should the heat be lower, the crop will be longer in maturing.

Four times as much hay can be taken from a meadow than when the meadow is pastured, for the reason that the grass must approach maturity to be mowed, while the cattle will keep the pasture grass close. One advantage with the pasture, however, is that the cattle harvest the grass for themselves.

The German government has set aside 20,000,000 marks ($4,700,000), for providing small homes for its railroad officials. It is reckoned that at least 3,000 more of these homes will be built at once.
