BIG FIRE IN MONTREAL

Nearly Three Million Dollars' Worth of Property Lost. Montreal, Jan. 25.—One of the most destructive fires from which this city has ever suffered began at 8 o'clock last night, and, notwithstanding the efforts of the entire fire department, the progress of the flames was not checked until 1 o'clock this morning.

By that time it had destroyed property estimated at between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000, and was still burning, though the appearance was that the firemen have at last got it under control. Included in the property burned is the splendid board of trade's building, which cost $600,000, and housed over 100 tenants, half a dozen large business houses and two scores of smaller buildings.

The weather was cold and the firemen were greatly hampered in this respect. Outside of the board of trade building there was not a modern structure among those burned. Crowds of people jammed the narrow streets, and the police could not control them. Women fainted and their clothes were torn and a few slightly injured in rushes for safety.

The fire started in the premises of M. Faxe & Co., wholesale clothiers, at Lomerne and St. Peter streets. The streets in the locality were deserted at the time and the fire apparently had good headway before the first alarm was sent in. The firemen found the building a three-story stone structure, a mass of flames.

An explosion in the kitchen sent the flames into every corner of the house and cut off escape by means of the stairs. The frantic guests rushed to the windows, where some hurried themselves to the ground. Others had to be carried out by the firemen. The loss is $4,000.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 25.—Information was received here today that a desperate attempt was made last night by a gang of train robbers to hold up the overland express near Kearney, Neb. The bandits placed a large pile of rocks on the track in order to wreck the train, which is reported to have had a large amount of money. The robbers crept themselves behind a hill near the railroad. A pedestrian traveling along the track came upon the obstruction, was pounced upon, severely beaten, and robbed of all his money, amounting to $150. He got away from them and ran to Kearney, where he gave the alarm, and a posse was at once organized and orders given to hold the train. The posse came upon the bandits and captured two, the others escaping. The officers are still in pursuit.

C., Jan. 29.—Great devastation was wrought and a number of natives were drowned by the hurricane in the New Hebrides and New Britain, December 7, 8 and 9, according to news brought by the Aorangi. On arrival at Sydney from Victoria the bark Defiance reported passing a derelict vessel of from 200 to 300 tons, 100 feet long, keel outward, evidently wrecked a month ago, in 34 south, 168 east.

The Sydney Mail publishes a statement from its New Hebrides correspondent stating that French traders and sailors have been at those islands endeavoring to stir up anti-British feeling among the natives of the New Hebrides. The allegations is made that the French traders have represented to the natives that England's power is waning, and have promised them various privileges for allegiance to French interests. It is said that the natives are being encouraged in various acts of lawlessness against British traders, and that a native murderer of an English skipper named Captain Nesmith was shielded from punishment by the captain of a French ship.

While the steamer Tigre was at the Gilbert group, at Bougainville island, November 18, some equipment was carried by a terrific report. GIUSSIPPE VERDI DEAD

Composer of Some of the World's Finest Operas Passes to the Great Beyond. Rome, Jan. 28.—A special dispatch to the Patria says that Verdi, the composer, is dead. He was born in 1813 near Parma, at the foot of the Apennines. At 11 he was the organist of Roncole, his native village. He first married the daughter of the conductor of the theater of La Scala. For 50 years he has made the villa of St. Agatha, near Busseto, his favorite residence. After the death of his first wife he married Mrs. Streponi, who played in the first performance of his "Nabucco," at Milan, over 55 years ago.

Verdi's father was the keeper of an inn, a fact which would seem to prove the theory of some men of science that all human beings are born equal in possibility. What Verdi has done for mankind cannot be measured. "Ermani," "Rigoletto," "Il Trovatore," "La Traviata," "Aida"—these names tell the story of what joy and peace and pleasure the genius of the Italian of humble origin has brought to his kind. His compositions have been very numerous. As early as 1847 he wrote the "Mammoth." It was composed for Jenny Lind, and was sung at Her Majesty's theater in London with the great soprano in the principal part. "Aida" is his most popular opera. "Aida" is his greatest work, but opinions vary on this point, as they vary about the greatest of Shakespeare's plays. Signor Verdi did other things than write music. He was a member of the Italian parliament, and served his country in the capacity of minister of public instruction. France gave him the legion of honor, Russia gave him the order of St. Stanislaus, Italy the order of the crown, and Egypt the order of Osmanieh.

Australia presented him with a cross of commandeurship of the order of Franz Joseph. Of late years Verdi wrote works that are almost as well known as his earlier efforts. They are "Otello" and "Falstaff." The latter was written when the author was 79 years of age.

HANGING OF STICKEL

Washington Man Who Murdered Three People—Confessed His Crimes. Kalama, Wash., Jan. 28.—Martin Stickel was hanged in the jail yard at 9:37 o'clock Friday morning, for the murder of W. B. Shanklin, near Kelso in November, 1899. Stickel was taken from the cell at 9:45 by Sheriff Huntington and four attendants. He walked to the scaffold unassisted, and ascended the steps with steady tread, showing that he was determined to die like a man. He stepped to the center of the trap door, stood erect and said: "Gentlemen, I bid you good-by. God help you; God forgive me. This is the last time I will see you on this shore. Jesus help you all; Jesus take me; take me now."

By the time the last words were spoken, the sheriff and his attendants had strapped Stickel's legs together, his hands to his sides, placed the black cap over his face, and the noose around his neck.

At 9:57 Sheriff Huntington grasped the lever and suddenly sprung the trap. The condemned man fell seven feet, and his neck was almost instantaneously broken. At 10 o'clock doctors pronounced life extinct. The body was cut down and placed in a coffin, to be turned over to the murderer's mother and brother. It will be then to Catlin for burial.

The hanging was private. Everything worked like clockwork. There was no trouble in any respect. The spectators were very quiet. There was no talking or demonstration. Stickel was born in Adams county, Iowa, February 9, 1870. He had resided in this section about 12 years. The condemned man slept well last night and ate a hearty breakfast.
