

THE CONDON GLOBE.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1901.

NOTICE.

The Globe invites correspondence from all sections of Gilliam county. We aim to make this paper the leading news medium of the county and invite our readers to assist us by sending us the news of their respective neighborhoods. Correspondence must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication, and must be received at the office of the editor before noon of the day following the date of the issue.

"READ THIS AND PONDER."

"Alleged editor and supposed proprietor of a Condon newspaper" is pretty good. Some one of the "Weakly" outfit is surely trying to gain a reputation as a humorist. We regret that, on this one occasion, the "Weakly" has not a larger circulation, for, by their childish and contemptible twaddle in their last issue, they prove at least two things that the Globe has known for a long time. One is that their principal excuse for existence is to try to traduce and calumniate the editor of the Globe and to attempt to ruin him financially, and the other is that they have no excuse to offer for their under-handed, sneaking work in having the charter of Condon amended in the way they did, except that they wanted to "get even" with some people who they could not "run" politically.

"Alleged editor," "supposed proprietor." Well, well! Wouldn't that pulverize you, coming as it does from such an impersonal outfit without any recognized or recognizable editor, alleged or otherwise, but whose numerous dictators and censors attempt to hide behind each other in their frantic efforts to escape the responsibility of their pusillanimous progeny?

Who did the members of the present Condon political machine (who are largely interested as stockholders in the Weekly Times) use to come to when they wanted some bit of free advertising or some other favor which a local newspaper can—and does—so often grant? Who did they approach when they wanted to buy space to boost some political favorite in preceding campaigns? Who do they still come to when they "want to reach the people" on any kind of a proposition? Who grants or refuses these favors, as the case may be? The people of Condon and Gilliam County, the members of the Condon political machine and the individual who dictated the contemptible batch of false insinuations regarding certain financial transactions between the proprietor of the Globe and the city of Condon know that the person whose name appears in the left hand upper corner of the first page of the Globe is the editor and proprietor of this paper in fact as well as in name. They also know if he wrongs them or any of them in any particular that to him they will look for redress. Will they do as much? Will they let the public know just who are stockholders in the institution? Will they come out publicly and name an individual who will stand as personally responsible for all of the senseless twaddle which is published in the Weekly? Will they then come out like men and publish their cowardly negative attacks in an editorial column for which their chosen representatives will stand responsible, or will they continue a policy of firing from ambush like a lot of Digger Indians? So far as the proprietor of the Globe securing a loan from the city of Condon is concerned, we plead guilty. We did borrow some money from the city about three years ago because we needed some money in our business, and we gave a mortgage on everything we then possessed in Oregon as security, and we hereby serve notice on the ring that if we ever need to do the same thing again in consummating a business deal, and if we find some individual or municipality that has money to loan, and if we can give sufficient security, we will do the same thing again. As to whether this money has been repaid, we will leave all that to the city officials and their books to answer.

Yes! That statement made last fall by the republican campaigners that "the trusts will break themselves if left alone" may prove true in some instances. In others it may not. How about the billion dollar steel and railroad trust? It is showing no signs of being on its last legs, thanks to the big political and financial pull of J. P. Morgan and his associates. How about the Condon newspaper trust? The last report we had of its inner workings it had just declared a dividend of 19 per cent in less than six months, thanks to the political pull of The Dalles Land Office god, who stands in with the Condon political machine and helps to "hold up" every poor devil of a settler, who has to "prove up" on his homestead, for $7.50, when he could get the work done just as well at the Globe office for $2.50. Come to think of it, though, it is reported that a prominent member of the newspaper trust—and one who is interested in harness himself—stated the other day that he "had sense enough to dispose of his stock in the newspaper trust some time ago". Perhaps he is "next". Can it be that that 19 per cent dividend story was a josh? Is the trust about to break itself, or is the prominent member only getting ready to drop federal and take up local politics, and by this latest action only trying to get in out of the "frost"? Truly, politics do be an awful funny business.

THE ROOT OF ALL EVIL.

Rev. W. B. Wright, in a sermon recently delivered at Buffalo, N. Y., discussed the dangers which threaten our republic. After mentioning the disinclination of many to take part in political affairs, the abuse of party organizations, the corruption of officials and the demoralizing influence of the war spirit, he condemned what he called the "cult which the euphemism of today has named 'the spirit of commercialism' but what Christ called 'the worship of Mammon,'" and added: "I am not sure but this last includes the four preceding dangers, as an acorn includes its oak. Democracies, we are told, are specially tempted to seek money with excessive eagerness, because where

A Convincing Answer.

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said: 'Well if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by The Hudson Pharmacy—C. W. Crofield, mgr.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctor said she would die from pneumonia before morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, "but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Condon Drug Co's.

there is no recognized aristocracy the possession of great wealth offers to ambition the same prizes which in aristocratic nations are conferred by birth. Calm and conservative thinkers view with alarm the dangers with which the worship of money threatens us."

Dr. Wright is correct in emphasizing the evils which come from the worship of Mammon. This is the tap-root of all the trouble; out of it grow all the dangers enumerated. It is the over-weening desire to get rich that so absorbs the attention of many that they have no time left for the discharge of civic duties; it is the same thirst for wealth which perverts party organizations, corrupts officials and rushes nations into wars of conquest. Experience, individual and national, confirms the truth of Holy Writ:

For the love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.—Commoner.

SOME DAY.

Some Day. Who does not say, "some day"? If it were not for the thought of "some day," there would be no incentive for living. Some day the world will be better, cleaner, purer, nobler! God bless the men and women—and there are many of them, and some of them are here in Portland—who are working valiantly to bring in, as well as waiting more or less patiently for, the dawning of that better, brighter day.

Let us not be too hasty to criticize, much less to condemn, the motives and methods of "reformers"; most of them mean well; some at least of them do well; turn the searchlight inward; are we who are prone to criticize and condemn doing better, or as well?

"Some day" we shall have purer politics and more righteous laws. Some day, not so much through law as through the force of precept, oft repeated, and still more in consequence of example, accompanying the "word spoken in season," we shall have a cleaner commonwealth, a more rational municipal government, no thieves in office who are tolerated, much less honored and repeatedly rewarded; a state to which the citizens can readily "point with pride."

Every effort, every word, every "lick" to bring about this result counts. It weighs. It makes its mark. Do not doubt it. The result may not be apparent just now, but it will be hereafter, some time. We live but a little while, but we live for the future as well as for the present. It is well to remember that. A good life doesn't die quickly.—Telegram.

YOUR TOWN.

HOW TO HELP IT.

Talk about it. Write about it. Beautify the streets. Be friendly to everybody. Keep your sidewalks in good repair. Sell all you can and buy all you can at home.

If you are rich invest in something; employ somebody. Be courteous to strangers that come among you, so they will go away with good impressions.

Always cheer on the men who go in for improvements. Your portion of the cost will be nothing. Don't kick at any proposed improvement because it is not at your own door, or for fear that your taxes will be raised fifty cents.

HOW TO HURT.

Oppose improvements. Mistrust its public men. Run it down to strangers. Go to some other town to trade. Refuse to advertise in your home paper.

Do not advertise a cent. Lay your money out somewhere else. Be careful to discredit the motives of public spirited men.

Lengthen your face when a stranger talks of locating in your place. If a man wants to buy your property charge him two prices for it. If he wants anybody's else, interfere and discourage him. Refuse to see merit in any scheme which does not directly benefit you.—Huntington Herald.

NOTICE

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF CONDON.

Owing to the fact that the city charter of Condon, Or., was amended at the recent session of the legislature, it was ordered by the City Council, at a special meeting held in Condon, Or., February 27, 1901, that the election ordered to take place on the 5th day of February, 1901, and the nominations made February 23, 1901, for city officers, be declared null and void.

EZRA A. MAY, Recorder.

To the Consumers of Gilliam County:

We desire to state that we are determined to reduce our large stock of goods and for the next 90 days will make great reductions in all lines for cash.

By referring to your local papers you frequently note the ad. of interior merchants who, with conspicuous signs, say: "We sell at Arlington prices." Is this not evidence that the Arlington merchants must lead in low prices or there would be no need for such statements? Before purchasing your fall supplies or the smaller bills get prices from us.

In agricultural implements we have the favorite Monitor Drills subject to four attachments, viz, hoe, disc, press wheels or shoe. The Oliver and Flying Dutchman Plows are hard to beat for good clean work, durability and lightness of draft.

It is no longer an experiment to buy a Bain or Stoughton wagon, as they have but few if any competitors when strength and light-running qualities are considered.

If you anticipate treating yourself to a new buggy or hack do not purchase until our new car load of the old reliable Racine rigs reach us, which will be here in September.

When in need of a chop mill, hay press, windmill, sewing machine, or any kind of machinery used on the farm, write us for prices and we will treat you right.

Address all communications to the firm at the old James W. Smith store.
