

THE CONDON GLOBE.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1907.

NOTICE.

The Globe invites correspondence from all the State of Oregon. We aim to make this paper the leading news medium of the county and invite our friends to assist us by sending in the news of their respective neighborhoods. Correspondence must be signed by the writer, and necessary for publication, but an evidence of good faith, and the office assumes no responsibility for opinions expressed by correspondents.

"Director of democratic despatching" is pretty good. The Weekly men must have been studying aliteration lately, to be able to make such an effort. We are sorry to have put the Weekly people to so much trouble in looking up the Reischer-Barker fiasco. After all the practice they have had in the art of prevarication and paltry pusillanimousness, we did not suppose that the production of such a flat and flimsy yarn would worry them a bit. Their story is at utter variance with the one told by the delegates who were in that convention and also with the wall of one of the principals after the convention adjourned. But we will let that pass. In regard to the matter of trying to drag them to our level we respectfully decline the job. We have no block and tackle and without such an appliance the lift would be too great.

SOCIALISM VS ANARCHY.

"The voice of every socialist should be hushed and every socialist paper ought to be suppressed, for they are twin companions of anarchy," says an exchange whose editor we venture to say has never read the definition given by lexicographers of "socialism" and "anarchy", and who no doubt has never read a word of the doctrines of either sect, says the Times Mountaineer. If he had he certainly would not thus betray his blissful ignorance. The theories taught by socialists and anarchists are so widely different that none but the extremely ignorant could confuse them.

Cof. C. E. S. Wood, president of the Oregon Bar Association, in his address to that body, defined the two theories pretty clearly when he said: "I am neither socialist nor anarchist. I would not have the government become the one and all and I would not have the end of all government."

The socialist theory is that the government should become "the one and all", that the government should be everything, own everything and do everything; that citizens should be joint partners with the government in the ownership of all property, personal and real. They advocate a strong central government in which all shall be equal and amenable before the law. On the other hand the anarchists teach the overthrow of all government disregard of all restraining laws, and the exercise of free individual will. One is perhaps as radical as the other, but their teachings are certainly on directly opposite lines. They in no respect lead to the same end, and none but the extremely ignorant will confuse them.

That anarchy will never prevail in this country is absolutely certain. But that some of the theories of the socialist may be adopted is quite probable. Co-operation in the industrials, where master and servant will share alike in the profits of their joint labor, public ownership of public utilities—railroad, steamboat, streetcar, telegraph and telephone lines—may eventually be realized in this country. But it will be many years before these things are fully realized. It is also quite certain that the socialistic idea of community property—the government owning and doing ever ything—is a long way from being accomplished and will almost certainly never be realized, and we do not believe that it is best for all that it should. However socialistic doctrines are growing in favor, and there are very likely some now living who will see them brought into practice. Though there are none who will live to see the overthrow of government and the total disregard of restraining laws as advocated by the anarchists.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail.
The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rack of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had ceased and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well known merchant of Portland, Va. Pain Balm is an anti-septic and heals such injuries without medication and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by Hudson Pharmacy.

The following communication has been received from the Portland Chamber of Commerce.

Dear Sir:

Are you in favor of 200,000' population for Portland in 1907? The Chamber of Commerce is, and is working to that end.

Are you in favor of a forty-foot channel at the mouth of the Columbia and a fifty-foot channel from Portland to Astoria? The Chamber of Commerce is, and is working for deep channels.

Are you in favor of opening the upper Columbia and Snake rivers to free navigation so as to give the products of the Inland Empire an outlet through the natural gateway at the mouth of the Columbia? The Chamber of Commerce is, and is urging the Government to take prompt action.

Are you in favor of advertising Oregon's resources in the East and abroad? The Chamber of Commerce is preparing for this kind of work on a large scale.

Are you in favor of extending Portland's trade fields? The Chamber of Commerce is.

To all of these queries we unhesitatingly reply in the affirmative, with special emphasis on the opening of the Columbia river to navigation. We Eastern Oregonians would like to see Portland the Queen City of commerce in the Pacific Northwest and the principal American port for trade with the Orient and we want to help make her so but we can do but little in that direction while the obstructions remain at Celilo. Portland must help us get in a position to help her. Open up the river and Eastern Oregon will soon produce enough wheat to cover up the biggest fleet of merchantmen afloat and Portland will have the handling of our trade. An open river first and all these other things will follow.
