

THE CONDON GLOBE.

THURSDAY JANUARY 8, 1903.

THE TELEGRAM EXPLAINS.

In a recent issue the Portland Evening Telegram explains its blundering reference to Gilliam county in its otherwise excellent Christmas edition with the following:

"Through inadvertence, in the annual Christmas edition of The Evening Telegram, Arlington was credited with being the county seat of Gilliam county, instead of Condon. It is needless to say that the writer of the article knew better. It might also be added that such a mistake probably would not have been made had not the writer waited up to the last hour possible to obtain some reliable data from Gilliam county which however was not forthcoming. The county officials of Gilliam county appealed to for up-to-date matter in reference to the county evidently did not think it worth while to respond. In the rush and bustle of making up the paper on the eve of going to press the error crept in. This is the explanation. Perhaps no apology is necessary."

This explanation will no doubt be acceptable to the people of Condon, and the county in general, so far as the Telegram is concerned, for even newspapers cannot be expected to be infallible in such matters if reliable data is denied them by those who possess it. Our county officials—whenever they was appealed to in this instance—should in the future recognize such appeals from all reliable newspapers and thereby promote the interests of the county which they represent. Newspapers have the right to ask for such information and the county has a right to have it furnished to the purveyors of news in order that it shall appear in a favorable light to the public at large.

A Cure for Lumbago.

W. C. Williamson, of Amherst, Va., says: "For more than a year I suffered from lumbago. I finally tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me entire relief which all other remedies failed to do." For sale by Condon Pharmacy.

OPEN THE COLUMBIA.

"Portland could well afford to bond itself for $5,000,000 to open the Columbia River to Priest Rapids and the Snake to Lewiston," said a prominent railroad man yesterday. "It would be the making of the town, and money spent in such improvements would return many times over. That would solve the railroad problem for the Columbia Valley."

"How do you figure that out?" "Doesn't require any figuring at all; plain as a pike staff. Suppose steamboats could tomorrow run through from Priest Rapids and Lewiston to the Portland wharves. Freight would be carried by water for $1.50 a ton, and the boats would make a reasonable amount of money. The railroads would be forced to reduce their present charges of $3 to $3.50 a ton to the steamboat level or lose the business. They will make the reduction. The road on the water grade down the river could afford to carry freight at that rate; the road over the mountains could not. The result would be that all the traffic would come down the river. No railroad could afford to carry the immense traffic of the interior Columbia Basin over the mountains at a loss. There is too much of it and a small loss on each ton would run into oppressive figures pretty quick. The Columbia River would then receive and discharge all the traffic from the Columbia Basin. It would all be grist to Portland's mill.

Competition among the railroads will never bring about this situation of affairs. They love money better than they do people and they will get together to maintain rates though they may be deadly enemies on general principles. But you put a free river up into the heart of the great producing country and see how rates will tumble. No harmonization policy or traffic agreements will keep them up. The river will regulate all the commerce of the Valley though it may actually carry but a small part of it.

Remarkable Cure of Croup.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere, of Goodwin S. D., and when I got home with the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the plug out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine my boy would not be an earth today. JOEL DEW-ST, Inwood, Iowa.

This would justify great effort on the part of Portland to open the river even on the basis of the present volume of business of the Columbia Valley. But see what an impetus would be given to the development of the interior country. In five years the volume of traffic handled would be quadrupled. The transportation companies themselves would make more money because they will carry so much more freight. The country would become more populous and there would be diversity of industry and cars would be loaded both ways and prosperity would abound. And Portland would command it all. I tell you Portland could well afford to put up $5,000,000 to get the river open. The government will probably make the required improvements in time but cities yet unborn may outstrip Portland if it waits for the slow action of the General Government.

I think a railroad down the north bank of the Columbia clear to its mouth is inevitable. A railroad can serve only one side of a river unless numerous bridges span the stream. All the large rivers have railroads on both sides and they do not interfere with each other. Take the Mississippi, the Hudson, the St. Lawrence for examples. The Columbia is as big as any of them and there is plenty of room for a railroad on either bank. When they are built there will be no more ferrage of through traffic. I am now convinced that there will be no agreement between the Harri-man and Hill combinations for a joint railroad to Lewiston and joint trackage down the Columbia and to Puget Sound and I think the Northern Pacific people have made up their minds to that and are now engaged in operations that will not end until there is a railroad all the way down the north bank of the river. They see the time coming when it will not pay to haul freight over the mountains in competition with a water level route to tidewater and they are preparing for it. But Portland ought to insist on the prompt opening of the Columbia River. Nothing else will do so much for this city."—Oregonian.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prender-gest, merchant, Annoto Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. This remedy is sold by Condon Pharmacy.

The legislature will soon be in session and the election of a United States senator will be the main thing before that body. Necessary legislation in the interests of the taxpayers don't worry the average legislator to any alarming extent. "Pie-graft" and "booze" and good suppers—and in some cases a wad of the "long green" are more to his taste. The several aspirants for the senatorial toga, or their managers, will no doubt be in a position to supply or promise a part if not all of the afore mentioned "inducements" and there should be about 30 days of lively times ahead for the representatives of the dear people of Oregon.

"I have noticed that the sale on Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets is almost invariably to those who have once used them," says Mr. J. H. Weber, a prominent druggist of Cascade, Iowa. What better recommendation could any medicine have than to have people call for it when again in need of such a remedy? Try them when you feel dull after eating, when you have a bad taste in your mouth, feel bilious, have no appetite or when you are troubled with constipation, and you are certain to be delighted with the prompt relief which they afford.

For sale by Condon Pharmacy.

Officers Installed.

Rube McKinney and S. A. Pattison visited Fossil Saturday evening where the latter installed the recently elected officers of the I.O.O.F. lodge of that place. A large number of members were present and the meeting was most interesting and pleasant. The Fossil Odd Fellows are royal entertainers and the visitors are ready to vouch for the excellence of the "spread" which was provided in the lodge banquet hall after adjournment.

The officers installed were:

Z. T. Keys, N. G.; C. J. Heidtman, V. G.; W. Wattenberg, R. S.; Henry Heidtman, F. S.; Will Hoover, Treasurer.

Fossil is justly proud of her fine new brick school house which will be ready for occupancy in a week or two. It is a substantial two-story brick, containing six large, well lighted school rooms, six cloak rooms and one library room. The new court house is now fully completed and is a modern and up-to-date building in every respect. The Condon visitors acknowledge courtesies shown by Sheriff Keeton who made them feel at home in the court house and jail and to Mr. Wattenberg the school house contractor who showed them that building. The sheriff allowed them to carry the keys while visiting the jail so that they could leave at pleasure.

LONE ROCK.

Revival meetings are in progress at the Baptist church conducted by Rev. Casson, of Lone Rock and Rev. Sperry, of Eugene.

John M. Brown expects to take a few wagon loads of fat hogs to Heppner this week.

The stage men report the mud drying up fast and the roads getting in fine condition.

Dr. Lana was called to Lone Rock Tuesday to prescribe for Mrs. Mathews who is on the sick list.

Its tonic qualities are of the highest and it can be used with the greatest benefit and satisfaction by both old and young.
