J. W. Maidment and Nat Scott, two prominent stockmen of Lone Rock, were in town during the week. Both gentlemen were pleasant callers at the Globe office where they each secured one of our souvenirs—for subscription paid in advance.

A pleasant social and watch party was given by the Y. P. S. C. E. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Clark Wednesday evening Dec. 31. A pleasant evening was passed and the old year ushered out and the new one in in the most appropriate style.

At the regular council meeting Monday evening a sidewalk petition was granted for a sidewalk from Church street west on Gilliam to Potter and north on Potter two blocks. The improvement is much needed by the residents of that neighborhood.

H. W. Weber, who is well known in this county as the rustling tree salesman who represented the Dalles nursery here for several years, has embarked in the newspaper business at Kendrick, Idaho. Mr. Weber has had previous experience in the journalistic field and will no doubt make a success of his venture.

George Wasson and Robt. M'Mullen, two well known young men of Alville, were in town Friday. While here they were pleasant callers at this office where they attended to the important New Year's job of having their names entered on the Globe's subscription list. They also ordered bills printed advertising a grand ball which they propose to give in Igo hall, Alville, on Friday, January 16.

Simon Kuster expects to leave Monday for Northport, Washington where he goes to investigate the Rosland Consolidated Mining Co.'s property in which he holds some stock. A number of Condon people hold stock in this corporation and if Mr. Kuster's report is favorable they will all perhaps want to invest in more of the same. Mr. Kuster expects to stop at the mines for a month or two and will probably go to work in them in order to familiarize himself with the mining business.

Wants Oregon Newspapers.

Albert Tosler, the well known newspaper man, of Portland is making a collection of Oregon newspapers to be sent to Japan as a part of the Oregon exhibit at the Japanese exposition. A copy or file of every newspaper in the state is desired and the same should be mailed to Mr. Tosler's address, Room 9, Hamilton Block, Portland, Oregon.

Former Condonite Turns Poet.

H. B. Hendricks, formerly of Condon, now of Grant's Pass, has broken away from the depths of his dusty law books and indulged in a flight of poetry, his latest effort being published in the Oregon Mining Journal a copy of which is before us. His poem is an ode to the Rogue river which stream is described as "sparkling and dancng and prancing and rushing and gushing and blushing with a glistening of sadness and gladness" on her mad career toward the ocean. It is one of the most remarkable bits of literature we have ever encountered and we congratulate Mr. Hendricks on having been delivered of something quite out of the ordinary.

City Well Completed.

The drill was pulled from the city well Tuesday morning and the well was declared completed. A depth of about 174 feet was reached with about 165 feet of water. The water shows every indication of being a strong stream and it is believed that the well will furnish an ample supply of water for the needs of the town for some time to come. The drill was moved to Elder Moore's residence near the Salin's church where the next well will be put down.

K. of P. Installs Officers.

The local K. of P. lodge installed officers Tuesday evening at their regular meeting. Following are the new officers: C. W. Crossfield, C. C.; John Jackson V. Y.; W. A. Darling, P. J.; F. The lodge is in a flourishing condition.

Team Ran Away.

While returning from Oliver Ward's Tuesday evening, where he had been to visit a patient, Dr. Wood, had a somewhat exciting experience with a runaway. He had got out to close a gate when the team started to run. He grabbed the lines and was dragged some distance and then thrown violently against the fence. The doctor was badly shaken and stunned when he regained his senses, being still somewhat dazed, he took the wrong road and walked to Shed Grider's place before he knew where he was. Mr. Grider gave him his bearings and the doctor struck out for town. Fortunately he found the team on the east side of town hung upon the fence with nothing broken and no damage done. The accident might have resulted much more seriously.

Chance for a Fat Beef.

E. J. Moore and B. K. Searey are arranging for a pigeon shoot and a target shooting for Saturday January 10. A fat beef will be put up for the grand prize. Here is a chance for a good marksman to win a winter's grubstake.
