T. J. Smith, proprietor of the Fossil flouring mill was over attending the celebration Saturday accompanied by his family. When returning home about seven o'clock in the evening his team became frightened and started to run throwing the occupants of the rig to the ground. Mrs. Smith was rendered unconscious by the fall but was not seriously injured. The carriage was somewhat demolished.

The city telephone wire got crossed with the Clear wire the other day and after a lot of spattering and buzzing we made out the following which seemed to be the refrain to an impromptu song: "An axvil for a pillow, a bellows for a quilt; next time Condon celebrates I'll give the town the jilt. Walla Walla is a terror, its grafting does not stop, but when I was there I slept in a chair and not in a blacksmith shop."

THE GLORIOUS 4TH.

Celebrated at Condon in Grand Style.

BIG CROWD PRESENT.

Good Order Prevailed and no Serious Accidents.

With a blare of trumpets and a roll of drums, with flying flags and gorgons hunting, the Condon celebration of America's natal day has passed into history as the most extraordinary event of the kind ever observed in Gilliam's capital. Never before was such a crowd of pleasure seekers gathered in Condon. By Thursday evening the hotels were all filled and the wonder is where all the people were housed and fed. But they were housed and fed in good style and the fact that the crowds were so successfully handled reflects great credit on the hotel and boarding house people and the citizens generally who entertained the strangers who were within our gates.

The festivities began on Friday with horseracing and a ball game and at 10 o'clock Saturday morning the procession headed by the Liberty car took up the line of march which ended at the speaker's stand and pavilion adjoining Armory hall.

At the pavilion a monstrous crowd was gathered, estimated at from 800 to 1000 persons. Hon. J. E. Pinkham, as president of the day, made some very appropriate remarks after which an invocation was offered by Rev. E. C. Flower. Mrs. J. E. Beisner, the well known vocalist, rendered the patriotic song, "Stars and Stripes Forever," in a very charming manner after which the orator of the day, Hon. N. J. Sisson, of The Dalles, was introduced. Mr. Sisson is one of the most finished orators in Eastern Oregon and his forceful delivery, his well rounded periods, his many apt illustrations, together with the wholesome, old fashioned, full-blooded American patriotism expressed in his remarks brought forth rounds of applause from his hearers which proved to the observer that the true spirit of patriotic Americanism is not dead. It may slumber at times but it only requires a few words from an honest patriot to stir it to life and action.

The Condon Cornet Band and an excellent chorus of Condon's best singers interspersed the program with some very excellent selections and did much to add to the completeness of the occasion. In the afternoon the baby show at Armory hall was the first attraction. Nearly all the pretty kids in the county were in evidence and the little tot of F. W. Moore carried off the prize.

The Condon Pinguettes then took their inning and brought much joy to the hearts of the kids and others who followed and admired the grotesque procession with as much ardor as they would Ringling's Circus parade.

THE RACES. Three races were scheduled for the occasion as follows: On Friday a saddle horse race 1/4 mile dash, purse $40.00, pony race, purse $25.00; and on Saturday 1/2 mile, free-for-all, purse $75.00. In the saddle horse race, Sperry's horse "Split Bar," of Ione, won first money and Sport, a Wagoner, took second. In the pony race, George Madden's pony of L. S. Wick, took first, and Dolly Gray Hartwig's mare, won second. In the free-for-all Saturday, B. C. Grove, Griffith's horse, of Heppner, took first money and A. J. Dwyer's mare, Daisy, took second. A number of watched races were also made and run during the meeting and considerable money is said to have changed hands on the various occasions.

THE BALL GAMES. A purse of $100 was offered as a prize for the winning team in the base ball tournament and it was expected that Arlington, Ajax and Fossil would all have teams entered but the two last mentioned failing to get their lineup completed to their liking, Arlington was the only one present to compete with Condon for the championship and 100 plunks. Three games were played, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Condon winning the first and third of the series and Arlington winning Saturday's game. Tom Briery, of Ione, acted as umpire Friday and Sunday and gave excellent satisfaction. No fairer umpire ever judged a game of ball in Condon and both teams so expressed themselves. George Smith, of Ajax, acted as umpire in Saturday's game and some of his decisions were not so favorably received. It was charged by some of the Condon fans that Smith had it in for Condon and had so expressed himself in advance of the game.

NOTES. Jerry Burns, Condon's short stop is the best ever.

The ball games were the most interesting feature of the celebration.

Kelsey did some pretty work in Sunday's game. 'Bah' for the Fossil pitcher.

It's worth something to see Block go after those fouls—and he always gets them.

When John Anderson goes to the bat or after a ball in the field there is something doing.

Fred Edwards' foot ball training comes in just right on second. He is "right there" in any sort of a mix up.

For good all around players Lana, Foster and Pearl Jarvis are hard to beat. All wool and a yard wide are they.

There's nothing the matter with Condon's battery, Jarvis and Block, and Condon is as proud of them as need be.

The Arlington boys took their defeat philosophically like the gentlemen they are. They made some first-rate plays too but not enough to win the game.

THE GLOUCESTER MATCH. The glove contest between Charlie Jost, of Olex, and Fred Muller, of California, was pulled off at Armory Hall Saturday evening at 7:30.

Both men looked to be in good condition when they entered the ring and barring a slight shortness of wind and a good sweat they each seemed to be in equally good form when the contest closed at the end of the 15th round. Muller showed perhaps a little more signs of fatigue than Jost but there were no bones broken and no blood spilled. The first part of the scrap was tame warming up a little toward the middle and tapering out at the close to a draw. It looked as though the draw had been prearranged although perhaps it was not. Jost showed a particular fondness for going after his opponent's head and jaw and got in several pretty hot ones in that quarter while Muller made a specialty of swatting his antagonist on the slats with considerable vigor. Whenever Jost got in a good one he would indulge in a broad, contented smile which seemed to say, "this is just as easy"—but perhaps it wasn't.

Rounds one and two were counted even breaks while in the third Jost had the best of it. In the fourth the tables were turned and Muller scored a point while in the fifth Jost swung back into line and seemed to get slightly the best of the round. In the sixth and seventh there was nobody hurt and in the eighth Jost got in a couple of hot ones on the jaw in exchange for one from Muller on the ribs. Rounds nine and ten were pretty near even and in the eleventh Jost had the best of the deal. He got in a couple of hot ones, the men clinched and in spite of the referee's call of "break away" Muller seemed to hold his man for a second or so when the gong sounded and time was called. Round 12 was Muller's by considerable. It was particularly hot but Jost did not put up much work in this round. Rounds thirteen, fourteen and fifteen were about even and not very exciting and at the close of the fifteenth Referee Christie declared the affair a draw.

As a sparring exhibition the affair was all right but if any of the spectators expected to see a rough and tumble fight to a finish—and perhaps some novices did—they were doomed to disappointment.

ENJOYABLE DANCES. First-rate dances were given in Armory hall under the management of the general committee on Friday and Saturday evenings. The music was furnished by Prof. B. A. Downey, of California, assisted by some of our best local talent and was of a high order. Immense crowds were present on both evenings to enjoy the fascinating pleasure of the terpsichorean art the only objection being that the crowd was rather too great for the hall room, which is the largest in the county. Another dance was given in the same room Monday evening which closed the festivities of the occasion.

BRUTALLY TORTURED. A case came to light that for persistent and numerical torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobick, of Colusa, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Condon Pharmacy.
