THE AMENDMENT DECISION.

The Arlington Record exults over the fact that four district judges in Multnomah county have declared the initiative and referendum amendment to be unconstitutional and says that "a sigh of relief goes up all over Oregon" in consequense of that decision.

The inference to be taken from the Record's words is that a majority of the people of Oregon are not favorable to the principles embodied in the initiative and referendum amendment and this in the face of the fact that 62,024 votes were cast at the last election in favor of the amendment to a paltry 5538 against it.

Does the Record pretend to say that the voters of Oregon are such a lot of weak minded, brainless, backboneless idiots that they will allow the decision of a quartette of lower court judges on a point of constitutional law to overthrow and turn about their views on a question of such importance? The decision has nothing whatever to do with the principle involved in the question of direct legislation. It only deals with the methods employed in carrying out the work of making the change. The judges have not pased on the question of whether or not the amendment is a good thing. That is outside of their range; but even if they had done so this paper is of the opinion that it would make no difference in the opinion of these 62,000 voters as to the principle involved. If the words of the Record mean anything they mean that the writer of that "sigh of relief" paragraph believes that the men who voted for the amendment and thereby placed themselves on record as being in favor of the powers of government being vested in the whole people rather than in a little ring of professional politicians, are such a cultus lot that they are willing and anxious to go back on their principles, go back on the proposition for which they voted, because four circuit court judges have decided that "other amendments were pending when this one was proposed." Such an inference is a reflection on the honesty and intelligence of the people of Oregon and should be resented by every self respecting man who voted for the amendment.

The next republican campaign slogan will be: "Vote for Roosevelt and a full baby carriage," remarks the Huntington Herald.

A southern man who has discovered that feeding hens with onions flavors their eggs, is now trying the experiment of feeding them with whiskey and sugar to produce eggnog.

We arise to place in nomination Dr. Theodore Roosevelt, Col. William Jennings Bryan, Citizen Grover Cleveland, and Very Hon. Henry Watterson, Uncle Marcus Hanna, Gen. Nels Miles and any other d-rned sucker who wants to be "mentioned." Come along, gents, send in your subscriptions to the only paper on earth, and throw in a few boxes of cigars.—Milton Eagle.

Apropos of the difficulty even their fair owners experience in locating ladies' pockets, a story is told of a lady who, arrayed in a new frock, took a hansom the other day and on alighting hunted vainly for the entrance to the pocket in which she had confidingly placed her purse. The quest was so unduly prolonged that at last the charioteer, who was not a man of refinement, remarked from his perch: "Now then, marm, when you've done a scratchin' will you pay me my fare?"—Spare Moments.

In the spring the groaning husband eats his victuals in the barn, for his wife must clean the mansion and she doesn't care a darn; and the yard is full of carpets and the trees are full of sheets, and he has to live on sauerkraut, cistern water and sliced beets, and at night the patient husband sleeps upon the floor and he feels so plumb disgusted that he swears that life's a bore. When the blamed old cleaning's over then the wife complains of ills, and it keeps the husband "busted" buying dopes and buying pills; and the man for is no cleaner than it was when she began, but she'd slay him if he said so and he is a prudent man.

They've made a wireless telegraph, a horseless carriage, too; and there's no telling what the mind of man can do. We'll soon be eating henless eggs and drinking cowless milk, and wearing clothes of sheepless wool, or maybaps wormless silk. How would you like a treeless peach, or a piece of hogless pork? I'd be content if they would invent a kind of workless work. They'll yet make wireless telephones, or maybe, noisless noise, and I'm afraid if they keep on they'll yet make dadless boys.—Seattle Commonwealth.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

W. L. Barker has sold the building and lot occupied by Hollenbeck's blacksmith to E. G. Merrifield who will remodel the building to be used as a photograph gallery. Roy Price has also bought 20 feet from Mr. Barker on which it is understood he expects to build and open a grocery store.

H. H. Fee of Canonsburg, Pa., who with his wife and nephew is visiting relatives here, returned yesterday from Iron Springs Mine, in the Seven Devils district, in Idaho, in which he is interested. He found the property to be a most promising one and is much pleased with his investment.

R. P. Orr, of Wasco, arrived Tuesday to work on the new court house. Mr. Orr is a bricklayer and plasterer and is rated as one of the very best workmen in the latter trade to be found in Oregon. He plastered G. G. Parman's new residence near town about two years ago and also did the work on the Wheeler county court house at Fossil.

The photo tent was taken down Tuesday and removed to Arlington. Mr. Merrifield has sold out to his former partner Mr. Bennett who will continue the business at Arlington. Mr. and Mrs. Merrifield will enjoy an outing in the mountains for a month or so this Summer after which they will probably locate in Condon permanently.

No Pity Shown.

"For years fate was after me continuously," writes F. A. Gutledge, Verbena, Ala. "I had a terrible case of Piles causing 24 tumors. When all failed Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. Equally good for Burns and all aches and pains. Only 25c. Sold by Condon Pharmacy.

A Good Ball Story.

Chicago was playing New York one day in '90. The One Hundred and Tenth street park had been rained by the opening of a street, and temporarily a park had been built on Staten island right on the shore of the bay. The center field was, in fact, built out on the boards over the water, and the man who fell out of the center field bleachers had nothing but an ignominious death in the ocean.

With the score a tie in the last inning "Jimmy" Ryan came to the bat. He hit the ball a ponderous swipe and it went sailing out over the center field fence into the vasty deep.

Ryan's hit and his ensuing home run were forgotten when one day, a month later, he got a letter and a small package by mail from Liverpool. The writer said he had sailed for Europe the day of the ball game, and had been struck by the ball as he stood on the deck of the liner. After he got to Liverpool he read an account of the game in the New York papers, and concluded that he had found the missing ball. "Jimmy" still has the much traveled sphere to show as proof of his holding the record on long hits.—Spokesman-Review.

Brutally Tortured.

A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobick, of Colusa, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Condon Pharmacy.
