THE CONDON CLOBE.

THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 10, 1903.

The movement started simultaneously by the Globe and the Myrtle Point Enterprise, two weeks ago, against dat herdadvertising, is and Frank Rogers, all of Aiville, Oregon. meetin: with hearty response from the wide awake country publishers all over the state. The Arlington Appeal, Moro Observer, Eugene Register and several others have lined up and declared themselves as being opposed to longer giving valuable space to every concern that asks it, "without money and without price." So strong, however, do the chains of life long habit and established custom bind that some of the boys still "cling to their idols" to the extent of arguing for an exception in the case of the Lowis and Clark Fair. At the risk of being stigmatized as unprogressive, unpatriotic and a mossback by some who think differently, this paper prefers to stand pat and insist that from the country publisher's standpoint there should be no exceptions. We are proud of Oregon-proud of her hardy pioneers who laid the foundation upon which her sons and daughters of today are building a glorious commonwealth, and proud of her bright and promising future. Proud also of the Lewis and Clark Fair that is destined to bring her CONDON varied attractions and resources more prominently before the world. MARY BOWERMAN M. D. In these things the Globe is as patriotic as any of its contemporaries. But patriotism is one thing and business is another and until it is shown to us that other classes of citizens throughout the state give freely of their substance to boom the Fair without recompense of any kind either in filthy lucre, politics or honorable position, we will keep our patriotism and our advertising space in separate pockets; one to be disbursed with a free hand for the asking the other to be sold for cold, hard cash or its equivalent.

Suppose the managers of the Fair should send out letters to the merchants, farmers, stockmen, miners and land owners, all over the state in a form something like this:

"Please send us at once, complimentary, without cost to us, 50 kegs of nails, 100 yards calico, 12 cases dried prunes. (Or 100 bushels of wheat, 50 fat steers, 10 ounces gold dust or a deed to 160 acres of land, as the case may be.) Pay all freight and other charges to Portland including cartage to the grounds. We will expect this donation to be repeated every week until the close of the Fair. Regretting that no appropriation has been made by the committee to pay for these things and trusting that you can come to the Fair and stay all Summer, Yours etc., Committee."

Say! wouldn't they get the horse laugh proper? Such a policy ap plied to other classes of citizens than country publishers would make the Fair a laughing stock all over the country and kill it too dead to skin.

It's simply a business proposition. Men in other lines of business do not habitually donate to such projects. They would be fools if they did. Then why should the publisher donate everlastingly? Is he the only fool in the neighborhood? Egad! It looks that way.

A Kansas girl who was about to graduate, was given the theme, "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy," and this is what she had to say: "I don't care a cent whether Italy lies beyond the Alps or in Missouri. I do not expect to set the river afire in my career. I am glad to have a good, a very good education but 1 am not going to misuse it by writing poetry or essays on the future woman. It will enable me to correct the grammar of any lover I may have should he speak of 'dorg' in my presence, or say he 'had went' somewhere. It will also come handy when I want to figure out how much soap I can get for three dozen eggs at the grocery store. I just want to marry a man who can lick any man of his size in the township, who can run an 80acre farm and who has no female relatives to come around and boss the ranch. And I will agree to cook good meals for him that will not send him to an early grave. and lavish a whole lot of wholesome affection on him and see that his razor has not been used to cut broom wire when he wants to shave. In view af all this I do not care if I do get a little rusty on the rule of three as the years go by."

The D. P. & A. Nav. Co. will sell reduced rate on a dacet rate round trip tickets to Portland from all landings Sept 14 to 26 inclusive account M. A. A. C. Carnival.

AUGUST BUCHLER, Prop.

Of the product of this well-known brewery the United States Health Reports for June 28, 1900, says: "A more superior brew never entered the labratory of the United States Health reports. It is absolutely devoid of the slightest trace of adulteration, but on the other hand is composed of the best of malt and and choicest of hops. Its tonic qualities are of the highest and it can be used with the greatest benefit and satisfaction by both old and young. Its use can conscientiously be prescribed by the physicians with the certainty that a better, purer or more who lesome beverage could not possibly be found."
