

THE CONDON GLOBE.

THURSDAY JULY 7, 1904.

FARMERS IN MAJORITY.

Some one who has made a count of the recently elected members of the legislature has discovered that the farmers are in a strong majority in that body, as compared with any other class, there being 20 farmers of the soil and five stockmen among the members of the two houses and only 14 lawyers. Five bankers, nine merchants two druggists, seven lumber manufacturers and two real estate dealers represent the so called business interests, which combined only makes a stand-off against the farmers and stockmen, while there is a sprinkling of doctors, dentists printers, professional office holders and members of other vocations.

With the farmers in such numbers in the law-making body it will be interesting to watch the course of legislation next Winter and see how many laws are enacted which may reasonably be expected to be of direct benefit to that class. If the farmers and stockmen who are members of the next legislature will get together and initiate and demand the passage of such measures as themselves and their fellows all over the state are interested in they should be able to accomplish something but it will require organization and united effort in the interest of the farmers of the entire state to accomplish much.

One matter in which the best efforts of every farmer-member should be enlisted is that of the portage road at Celilo, for to no other class will such great benefit accrue from the completion of that improvement as to the farmers and stockmen of the eastern section of the state. No matter from what section of the state a farmer has been elected he should urge and vote for the immediate construction of the portage because it is a measure in which the farmers, as a class, are vitally interested. Any other action on the part of the farmer-legislator would be nothing short of treason to his class.

Members of all other vocations stand and work together for the protection of their class interests; why not the farmers?

GOOD ROAD TALK.

(M. S. Shrock in Pacific Homestead.)

"In a general way the roads in Eastern Oregon are not difficult to improve. The soil in most cases packs well and, if properly drained and rolled, the roads would last for years with very little work. If the water in Winter and Spring is allowed to stand in pools in the middle of the road or is allowed to run lengthwise of the wagon tracks for several hundred yards the road does not improve with age.

"If the road graders were brought into play a little more and every bit of road well rounded up and then thoroughly packed by using a heavy roller the result would be an agreeable surprise to the land owners and freighters.

"The roller is, I think, a vital necessity in making good roads and the time is not far distant when each county, if not each road district, will have a steam roller of no less than ten tons weight. I am glad to know that some of the counties already have them. Without the roller the ground does not pack alike over the whole width of the road nor does it pack sufficiently to exclude the water.

"If a rut is filled with loose dirt and allowed to pack by the regular process of travel it will only last until the next wet spell. Either the rut will be filled too full and water will accumulate on the upper hillside or the rut will be filled about even with the balance of the road and the heavily loaded wagons will compress it until it forms, with the next shower, a larger mud hole than the previous one.

"A much better and safer plan would be to use the grader and fill all depressions then roll thoroughly until there is no dent or, if there is, fill it up and roll again. Then use grader again and make the road slightly rounding. Roll again until every bit of dirt is firmly and evenly packed. If this process is continued until the road is well rounded up no amount of water will saturate it as it sheds water like cement. Special care must be taken to see that the side ditches are open so that no water will be allowed to remain standing along the roadside.

"I have seen gravel hauled long distances at great expense and dumped into mudholes in the road when it might as well have been dumped into the river. It is time wasted to put gravel on any road until the roadbed has first been brought to the proper shape and thoroughly packed so as to form a firm foundation for the gravel to rest upon. No gravel can pack and form a hard, smooth surface as long as the soil beneath it gives or settles, and the only remedy for it is proper grading and an everlasting amount of rolling.

"Roller-laid gravel roads are thus made in some of the eastern states that are almost an exact counterpart of cement streets and their wearing qualities are unlimited. After the road bed has been thoroughly prepared the gravel is put on in two or three thin layers and each layer is thoroughly rolled.

"With the exception of a few places the roads of Eastern Oregon do not need the gravel as the dirt surface, if properly laid and drained, would suffice for all needs. This is especially true where wide-tired wagons are used.

"I think the present good roads agitation that is manifesting itself all over the United States is a timely one. I hope it will continue and increase in proportions until our roads are what some of our other institutions are—a model for other countries to copy after."

Mrs. Will Quinn is still very low but some hopes for her recovery are now entertained.

When billions take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by Condon Pharmacy.

Strict orders have been issued by the state veterinarian that all horses afflicted with mange or scab and allowed to run at large on the public ranges, must be properly dipped within a reasonable time or they will be killed. Stock Inspector Dathie is looking after the matter in this county. A dipping vat for horses has been put up on the McNeel place in Mayville precinct, and it is expected that all the affected horses in this part of the county will be dipped there. A solution of lime and sulphur is the treatment used.

Safeguard the Children. Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by Condon Pharmacy.

BRUTALLY TORTURED.
A case came to light that persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equalled. Joe Golobick, of Colusa, Cal., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from rheumatism and nothing relieved me; thought I tried every thing known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. One 50¢. Satisfaction guaranteed by Condon Pharmacy.

Damage From Cloudburst.
Heavy rainstorms south and east of Condon attained the proportions of cloudbursts in some localities.

At Alex Hardies place, on Trail Fork, the flood from the hill-side crashed in the side of a large barn and filled the lower part of the building with sand and rocks.

At George Stewart's place, near Mr. Hartie's, the house was endangered for a time and the garden was damaged.

At the Lost Valley Lumber Co's mill some damage was done to the roads, skidways etc and on Butte creek, above Fossil considerable damage to gardens and hay crops is reported.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.
"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for 10 years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine."

THE CELEBRATED COLUMBIA BREWERY
AUGUST BUCHLER, Prop.
Of the product of this well-known brewery the United States Health Reports for June 28, 1900, says: "A more superior brew never entered the laboratory of the United States Health reports. It is absolutely devoid of the slightest trace of adulteration, but on the other hand is composed of the best of malt and and choice of hops. Its tonic qualities are of the highest and it can be used with the greatest benefit and satisfaction by both old and young. Its use can conscientiously be prescribed by the physicians with the certainty that a better, purer or more wholesome beverage could not possibly be found."
