Going Alone. No matter what you undertake; no matter what the game, be it love or business, this advice goes just the same. In your struggle for position, for happiness or wealth let these words be your motto: "Rely upon yourself." Then if you make a ten strike it will be all your own and if you in the gutter fall you can wallow there alone.

Miss Nellie Holmes, treasurer of the Young Woman's Temperance Association of Buffalo, N.Y., strongly advises all suffering women to rely, as she did, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your medicine is indeed an ideal woman's medicine, and by far the best I know to restore lost health and strength. I suffered misery for several years, being troubled with menorrhagia. My back ached, I had bearing-down pains and frequent headaches. I would often wake from restless sleep, and in such pain that I suffered for hours before I could go to sleep again. I dreaded the long nights as much as the weary days. I consulted two different physicians, hoping to get relief, but finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, I tried your Vegetable Compound of a friend from the East who was visiting me. I am glad that I followed her advice, for every ache and pain is gone, and not only this, but my general health is much improved. I have a fine appetite and have gained in flesh. My earnest advice to suffering women is to put aside all other medicines and to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Miss NELLIE HOLMES, 540 No. Division St., Buffalo, N.Y.—$5000 Forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Biggs—Did you ever notice what a healthy-looking man Dr. Pellet is? Diggs—Yes; he looks so different from his patients. I wonder who his physician is?

Force of Habit. "I appreciate the fact that you have honored me with a proposal," said the dear girl, "but are you sure your love for me is the real thing?" "Perhaps not," frankly replied the young drug clerk, "but it is less expensive and just as good."

Equal to the Emergency.

Mr. Lovelorn—Oh, Miss Matilda, my heart is on fire for thee—it is burning!

Miss Matilda—Sakes alive! That ought to put it out and cool ye, too!

His Explanation. "But why," I asked the good wife, "are you so anxious to secure the top flat in that ten-story apartment house?"

"Because," explained the household freight payer, "the elevator would be a great help to us in bringing up the children."

Such Dear Friends, Too. Clara—I'll tell you a secret, dear, if you'll promise never to repeat it. Maude—All right. Out with it. Clara—Fred proposed to me last night.

Maude—Oh, say, doesn't he do it awkwardly, though?

Feminine Charity. Mrs. De Playne—When I married my husband his eyesight was very poor.

Mrs. Dimples—Yes, it must have been.

It Looked that Way. Mrs. Henpeck—I don't think she'll ever marry him.

Mr. Henpeck—Why not?

Mrs. Henpeck—Oh, she quarrels with him so and is so domineering.

Mr. Henpeck—Indeed? I'll bet they have been secretly married already.—Philadelphia Press.

Billville Literary Note. A Billville literary note reads as follows:

"While one of our leading authors was peacefully plowing in the field some miscreant stole his shirt, his shoes and six poems. Verily the way of the literary man is not as smooth as a railroad."—Atlanta Constitution.

What Papa Said.

Willie—Why! grandma, are you going home? Papa just said yesterday that he thought you were going to stay forever.

Not Up-to-Date. "He has a promising future. He's a very eloquent young preacher."

"Oh, he's too old-fashioned. He will insist upon taking his texts from the Bible."—Philadelphia Press.

Possible Explanation. Miles—There is said to be a race of savages in Africa whose vocabulary consists of but eight words.

Giles—What! Do you mean to say there are no females among them?

Taken for Granted. Judge—Why did you arrest this man?

Officer—For profanity on the street. Judge—Did you hear him using it?

Officer—No, but his shoe-string broke twice as he was running for a car.

Up to Her. "What would you do if I were to die?" asked the bride of six months.

"That's for you to say, my dear," replied the other half of the sketch.

"Which would you prefer—burial or cremation?"

Hereditary. "I hear," said the friend of the family, "that your son is sowing wild oats broadcast since he went to the city."

"Takes after his old dad, I reckon," replied old man Cornstossel. "Th' farmer in him air bound tew crop out, by hen!"

Advice. "Anybody kin give advice," said Uncle Eben, "but it takes a right smart man to pick out de right kind an' take it."—Washington Star.

Eruptions

The only way to get rid of pimples and other eruptions is to cleanse the blood, improve the digestion, stimulate the kidneys, liver and skin. The medicine to take is Hood's Sarsaparilla Which has cured thousands.

"Esprit de Corps." All the tiny cripples in the neighborhood of the settlement house, together with a few able-bodied children, had been feasted on cake and lemonade. When one of the deformed mites was ready to go home he missed his coat which search failed to find. The young woman who had been ministering to the wants of the company had seen one of the able-bodied girls go out with something under her shawl too bulky to be secreted cake.

"Run, my dear, to Jenny," she said to one of the lads. "In picking up her shawl perhaps she got hold of something else by mistake."

The boy moved off on his stumpy crutch, and when he returned he held the coat up in triumph. "The accident had happened; Jenny had picked it up with the shawl."

The crippled children crowded close round the young woman in great perturbation. Their self-respect had been wounded, and they looked disdainfully at the few sound children among them. Finally one of the lads said:

"Miss Martin, it ain't one of us that did it. Jenny ain't a cripple; she's only a Sunday school!"

Well Fitted to Be a Judge. A funny story comes from the South, where the cynic had gone to spend a few of the cold days of January. While courting his way through Georgia he stopped off to see an old friend and a jaunt through the country was the outcome of his visit. It happened that his friend was quite prominent in politics in the vicinity, and as they trudged down the road an old dandy approached and saluted them cheerfully.

"Mornin', Judge," began old Sam. "Howdy."

"Say, Judge, I like to be on de nex' ticket for justice uv de peace," continued Sam.

"You a judge?" replied my friend.

"Why, what do you know about the law?"

"Well, now, Sam, if we should elect you and a man was brought before you charged with committing suicide what would your judgment be?"

This caused Sam some deep meditation, and after a considerable wait he replied:

"Well, under de circumstances, I guess I'd make him support his wife."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Voice From Arkansas. Cleveland, Ark., August 15 (special).—Nearly every newspaper tells of some wonderful cure of some form of Kidney Disease by the Great American Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills, and this part of Arkansas is not without its share of evidence that no case is too deeply rooted for Dodd's Kidney Pills to cure.

Mr. A. E. Carille, well known and highly respected here, tells of his cure after nearly a quarter of a century's suffering. Mr. Carille says:

"I want to let the public know what I think of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I think they are the best remedy for sick kidneys ever made."

"I had Kidney Trouble for 23 years and never found anything that did me so much good as Dodd's Kidney Pills. I recommend them to all sufferers."

There is no uncertain sound about Mr. Carille's statement. He knows that Dodd's Kidney Pills rescued him from a life of suffering and he wants the public to know it. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney ills from Backache to Bright's Disease.

Roscoe Conkling's Big Fee. It is said that one day when Roscoe Conkling was beginning to attain some measure of success he dropped into the office of Charles O'Connor, of New York, then one of the leaders of the bar.

"What's the trouble?" asked the latter, as Conkling excitedly paced the floor.

"I've just been subjected to the worst insult I have ever received. This is the first time a client ever objected to my fee."

"You know I defended Gibbons for arson and put in some tremendous work for him. He was convicted at the trial, but we couldn't help it, and I took the case to the Superior Court, and he lost there, then on to the Supreme Court, and that affirmed the conviction, and he has been given ten years. Now, my fee only amounted to $3,000, and the scoundrel actually has the audacity to grumble about it, saying it's too high. What do you think of that for impudence?"

"Well," said O'Connor, slowly, "of course you did a lot of work, and $3,000 is not a big fee, but to be frank with you, Mr. Conkling, my opinion, founded on mature consideration, is that he might have been convicted for less money."

Cavalrymen Who Ride Oxen. The oldest cavalry in the world is maintained on the west coast of Madagascar by Governor General J. G. Gallieni. While the French troops in that country are ample to meet the occasional revolutions, the governor general makes use of the native talent for police work in out of the way localities.

On the west coast of Africa is a tribe of natives, possibly racially connected with the Hovas, who are known as the Sakahova, the most warlike tribe of the country. The natives, in imitation of French troops, organized an oxen cavalry corps, under command of a French officer. They are armed with modern long-handled lances or spears and side arms.

An Unfair Advantage. The czar—Why did you lose that battle?

Gen. Zolotoff—The Japanese attacked us in our rear.

"I was informed that they attacked you in front."

"Yes, but that was our rear when they got there."

CONSUMED BY A FIRE THAT WATER WILL NOT QUENCH

Eczema drives its victim almost to the verge of distraction by its intolerable itching, stinging and burning. It seems to set the skin on fire, and the tormented sufferer rubs and scratches till the flesh is raw and the skin is torn and bleeds. Nothing applied externally does much good, for the disease is internal; the blood is aflame with acid poisons, that are forcing their way through the glands and pores of the skin, causing it to redden and swell and break out in spots, pustules and pimples, from which a clear, yellow, watery matter exudes, hardens and dries, and then peels off in scales or fine particles like bran. Eczema kindles a fire that water will not quench, and that lotions, salves, powders and soap cannot smother. As warm weather comes on and the system is reacting and the blood making extra efforts to throw off the accumulated poisons, Eczema attacks with redoubled violence, and the sufferer is almost distracted by the fearful itching and burning. It is the most uncomfortable and aggravating of all skin eruptions and a terror in warm weather.

Local remedies give temporary ease, but as Eczema is not due to outside causes, but to a disordered condition of the system and an over-acid and impure blood, the treatment must be constitutional, or internal. Purify the blood and the skin disease will disappear. No better blood remedy can be found than S. S. S. It builds up the sour and acid blood, rids it of all impurities and poison, stimulates the sluggish organs, and invigorates and tones up the entire system; and as all skin eruptions like Eczema are only symptoms or signs of bad blood, they naturally disappear when that vital fluid is again restored to health.

S. S. S. is guaranteed strictly vegetable. It is not only a blood purifier, but a splendid tonic and appetizer, making it an ideal spring medicine. Treat Eczema through the blood, or you will never get permanently rid of it. Write for our book on the Skin and its Diseases, which is mailed free. Medical advice furnished without cost to you. Dry stockings are provided in the schools of Rhenish Prussia for the pupils who arrive there with wet feet.

THE PUBLIC

Frederick Kent Loomis, whose body has been found in Rignbury Bay, 15 miles southeast of Plymouth, England, was en route to Abyssinia when he disappeared. He was a passenger on the Kaiser Wilhelm II, and was missed when the boat reached Bremen on the night of June 19 last. Next day when passengers landed at Plymouth he was not seen. With Loomis, who was brother of Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, was William H. Ellis, a colored man. Loomis was carrying to Emperor Menelik a commercial treaty just concluded between the United States and Abyssinia. It has been alleged that Ellis possesses a peculiar influence over Menelik, and that he has a desire to become ruler of Abyssinia. He is reported to have told friends in New York before he sailed with Loomis that he expected within two years to have control of $150,000,000 and of the richest country in Africa.

James H. Peabody, Governor of Colorado, has been leading the strenuous life since last August, when the State began to be stirred by the miners' strike that has since resulted in many deaths, riots, court controversies and crimes of various degrees. Governor Peabody is a native of Vermont and is 51 years old. He was educated in the public schools. JAMES H. PEABODY, as a young man was a noted athlete. For a time Governor Peabody worked as a dry goods clerk in Boston, later going to Colorado. He settled in Canyon City, his present home, and engaged in mercantile business. Fortune favored him, and in 1885 he became a banker.

Professor Goldwin Smith, who favors a home rule parliament for Ireland, is a celebrated historian and essayist, whose literary fame is world-wide. He was born at Reading, England, Aug. 23, 1823, and was educated at Eton and Oxford, gaining two scholarships and various prizes. In 1847 he was called to the English bar. He was regius professor of modern history at Oxford for eight years, and later was honorary professor of English and constitutional history at Cornell. Professor Smith is an advocate of reciprocity between the United States and Canada, and during the civil war was an active champion of the North.

The nominee of the Prohibitionists for President is Silas C. Swallow, of Pennsylvania. Swallow is one of the shining lights of the temperance cause. He is past his 60th year and for more than a generation has been engaged in booming Prohibition. He made a phenomenal run for Treasurer of Pennsylvania at one time, receiving about 120,000 votes, SILAS C. SWALLOW. Then he ran for Governor and did nearly as well, threatening the Republican ticket. Four years ago he sought the nomination which has now been given him, but John G. Woolley was the successful aspirant. Mr. Swallow is a Methodist minister and editor of the Pennsylvania Methodist.

Don Jaime, of Bourbon, second son of Don Carlos, the Spanish pretender, saw in the Russo-Japanese quarrel an opportunity to shake off a little of the obscurity which has for some time enveloped the Bourbon princes. He hastened to St. Petersburg and offered his services to the czar. They were accepted, and Don Jaime is now an officer in the Russian army in the Far East. The prince is in his thirty-fourth year, and has been given little chance to distinguish himself. He is heir to his father's pretensions to the Spanish throne.
