GOING BACK TO THE FARM.

One of the distinct features of the age is the tendency to return to agriculture. Where a few years ago the farmer boys were rushing to the cities to crowd the professions, there is now a decided move in the other direction. The natural reaction that must in some measure always follow a movement so radical accounts for the disposition to return to the soil for a livelihood, but there is more. The agriculturalist has become a professional man. The college and the university have added a special course for his benefit and given him a degree. He is a botanist and a chemist, and science has taught him to take in the jaded worn-out farm and with intelligence cause it to blossom like the rose. The dispiriting labor which bent the forms of the elders and sent the lads scurrying cityward has been lightened by devices that better accomplish the end sought. The long hours are shortened and the farmer finds time to indulge in the enjoyments of life. This new condition, added to the fascination of independence, has turned many men from their professions toward the country carrying with them the mannerisms of their class until the extermination of the hay seed frock is threatened by the Prince Albert coat.—Rural Spirit.

THE "OREGON OZONE."

With sunshine of Syria in the day and the crisp breezes of the Alps at night, Oregon can invite the suffering East to seek health, comfort and plenty, in her borders. The intolerable heat of the East is already striking down victims and June is not yet past; what will it be in July and August?

Easterners coming to Oregon this year notice the refreshing nights which they enjoy here. One of the most terrible punishments of the Eastern states is the hot nights during which people never close their eyes on account of the suffocating heat.

Here, even in the hottest weather, the nights are cool and refreshing and a blanket is used on the bed nearly every week in the year. This inducement alone, is bringing hundreds of well-to-do people to the coast.

To remain in the East means to many a lingering death, while the West will mean for the same people a revival of vitality and a long life of usefulness and happiness.

A RIVER TRIP TO THE FAIR.

A movement is now on foot to bring passengers by boat down the Columbia from Lewiston, disembark them at Celilo, take them over the portage road and turn them over to a steamer which will land them in Portland. The plan is regarded with very much interest not only because of the novelty and beauty of the ride but for the further reason that in this way all such visitors will get an ocular demonstration of the ease with which the passage may be made and the significance which attaches to the building of the portage road. The plan is perfectly feasible and it would prove very popular to visitors from that section of Idaho.—Journal.

President Goode says that the optical delusion skin game being practiced at the fair has not been called to his attention. As it has been called to the attention of the district attorney and as an indictment has been found the whole matter has assumed such a serious phase that it might be well for him to institute an investigation on his own hook without the formality of an official presentation of a complaint to him.

Mrs. Stebbins has gone to Portland to visit the Fair. She expects to remain in the city about a month.

Charlie Burroughs, of Ferry Canyon, was in town Saturday arranging to start east to his former home in Indiana, accompanying his mother to that place. Mrs. Burroughs, who is quite aged, has been visiting her son since last Summer. Her health is failing and she was anxious to return to the old home.

Just What Everyone Should Do.

Mr. J. T. Barber of Irwinville, Ga., always keeps a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand ready for instant use. Attacks of colic, cholera morbus and diarrhoea come on so suddenly that there is no time to hunt a doctor or go to the store for medicine. Mr. Barber says: "I have tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which is one of the best medicines I ever saw. I keep a bottle of it in my room as I have had several attacks of colic and it has proved to be the best medicine I ever used." Sold by Condon Drug Co.
