CONDON GLOBE.

VOL. XV.

CONDON, OREGON, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1905.

NO. 30.

LOCAL BITS

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Palmer of Ajax were in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Curran are visiting the Portland fair this week.

C. F. Kennedy, manager of the Pacific Coast Elevator Co., went to Pendleton last week to visit his family.

Fred Anderson, better known in this bailiwick as Harvey Scott Jr., is again at his case in the Times office.

Dr. Bowerman reports the advent of a fine 10-pound son at the home of A. B. Chandler, on Rock creek, last Saturday.

The four-year-old son of L. C. Labeo fell on the sidewalk Monday afternoon and broke his arm. Dr. Wood reduced the fracture.

BOOKKEEPER WANTED—Young man understanding double entry. State age, experience and salary wanted. Lock Box 2, Condon, Oregon.

Hon. C. A. Drummman was in town Monday from Clem getting ready for a trip to Portland where he goes to take part in the love feast today.

Rev. Father Welsh, who has been here for several weeks in charge of the Catholic church work during Father Kelly's absence, left for Baker City Friday.

B. T. Felger has opened his new rooming house, corner Main and Frazier streets and reports that all his rooms were taken before the house opened.

Three sisters of the Benedictine order arrived Saturday from New Jersey and will remain in Condon in charge of the hospital which it is proposed to establish here.

The committee in charge of securing subscriptions for the hospital fund started work Tuesday and met with very gratifying success. Almost $1500 was secured the first day.

Rev. Father Kelly, who has been in the East for several weeks, returned Saturday. He is delighted with the rapid strides Condon has made in material improvements since his departure.

E. J. Moore has sold his ranch northwest of town to Hugh Strickland the consideration being $26 per acre. Mr. Moore expects to go to Montana for a visit if he can get away from Gilliam county long enough to make the trip.

B. Gormley, the tailor, who put up a new building and opened a tailor shop a short time ago has sold his building and quit the town. R. H. Robinson bought the building and has rented it to Fred Sanders who is opening a jewelry store in the place.

J. F. Reisacher has decided to make his new brick block two stories high. This will add much to the appearance of the building and will also no doubt prove a profitable investment for Mr. Reisacher. It is understood that he expects to finish the second floor into rooms.

R. L. Hunt, manager of the Condon Drug Co., is having extensive improvements made in the store to accommodate his increasing trade, and to make needed room for his holiday stock. The partition has been moved back and an addition built on the rear for a warehouse. The improvement is a needed one and will add much to the appearance of the room as well as the effective display of goods.

A deal was closed Saturday whereby the proprietorship of the Condon hotel passed from the hands of Mrs. M. B. Baker, who has been conducting this popular hostelry for several months, to Mrs. F. E. Ennor, who recently arrived here from Weiser, Idaho. Mrs. Ennor will be assisted in the management of the hotel by Mr. P. H. Jones, who is an experienced hotel man also from the Gem of the mountain state. Mrs. Ennor took possession of the house last Sunday morning.

Will Hale, a brother of Mrs. R. L. Hunt, of this city, was here for a few days during the week visiting his sister and her family. Mr. Hale is a resident of Fort Wrangle, Alaska, having been in that territory for the past eight years, where he is engaged in the logging business on an extensive scale. He left Tuesday for his old home in Tennessee, where he will spend the winter visiting friends before again returning to the north. His sister, Miss Flora Hale, who has been visiting her sister here for several weeks, returned to Tennessee with him.

After Mountain Coats.

Two Condon men are preparing for an excursion into the mountains of northern Montana next spring, and when they come out of the high places and again return to Gilliam county they expect to be richer in coin of the realm to the extent of $5000 each. Their scheme is one somewhat out of the ordinary but it promises a first rate outing, and demands a degree of fitness in woodcraft which only a few modern hunters possess.

Jack Glasco, one of the pioneer vaqueros of this section of the west, blew in to town the other day possessed of an idea—or perhaps the idea possessed him—and he at once proceeded to hunt up his old time friend, B. K. Seary, to offer him a partnership in the job that is destined to enrich them to the extent of 10,000 plunks, as well as to give them a rating with the administration, second only to that of the president himself, as first rate mountaineers and hunters.

Jack rolled casually into the Buckhorn the other day and after cutting the four month's accumulation of pine needles from his throat with three fingers of moonshine, he asked, in a stage whisper: "Did you hear the news from Yellowstone park?" "No," replied B. K., "what is it?" "Why," said Jack, with a glance around to see that they were not being piped off, "the authorities at the park are offering $10,000 for three young mountain goats—two males and a female—and you and I are the only two living men who can get them. I know where they can be found, in the mountains of northern Montana, and you must go with me to get them. We will go in there early in the spring, make our camp in some convenient place and keep shady until we learn where the goats range, and then as soon as the kids are old enough to wean we will catch them and take them to the park and draw down the mon. It's dead easy." "Y-e-s", mused B. K., with a rising inflection to the word, "but how will we catch 'em, Jack?" "Catch 'em" replied Jack, "why, that's your part of the partnership—to figure out just how to catch 'em. All you have to do is to tell me how to catch 'em and I'll catch 'em all right and you take half the swag."

B. K. has not slept since. He is lying awake studying how to catch the goats and has ordered a copy of Theodore Roosevelt's book, "Hunting Stories of the West" hoping to get a hint from that on the mountains question.

Quinn-Gaffney.

At St. Catherine's church, Mayville, Tuesday, October 10, 1905, Rev. Father Kelly officiating, Mr. William J. Quinn, of Mayville precinct, and Miss Mary Gaffney, of Fossil, were united in marriage in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Quinn, accompanied by his mother and his three children, drove to Condon the same afternoon and went to Portland yesterday where they will spend a few days visiting the fair. The best wishes of many friends will be theirs.

Blake-Burroughs.

A quiet wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening of last week at the Congregational parsonage when Rev. G. W. Riggs, pastor of that church, united in marriage Miss Mary E. Blake, of Cheyenne, Wyoming, and Mr. W. N. Burroughs of Ferry Canyon precinct, this county. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blake, former well known residents of this city, and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Grider, of near town, whom she has been visiting for several months. Mr. Burroughs is a well known young farmer of Ferry Canyon and during the few years of his residence here he has made many friends and taken his place among the progressive citizens of that prosperous and growing section. The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for their home to commence housekeeping. They have many friends who will join in best wishes.

Chas. H. Williams, who arrived from Detroit, Michigan, last Saturday, has secured temporary quarters in the Froust building where he will soon open a fine line of jewelry and silverware. Mr. Williams has been for years connected with the wholesale jewelry firm Ehrlich Bros., of Detroit, as their manager, and he carries first-class letters of recommendation from that firm. He has traveled extensively in the west and northwest and after studying conditions in the Oregon and Washington country for two or three years he has selected Condon as the most promising town in this section and has decided to locate permanently here. Mr. Williams is an expert manufacturing jeweler and promises to give the people of this section of the state first-class service in that line. His new advertisement in another column of this impression will prove of interest.
