Neglected Opportunities.

Mr. Siderer had made his first public speech. His subject was good—the iniquities of industrial economy—and he hoped his treatment had been adequate. He was not sure. He waited for his wife's verdict, but she was strangely silent.

She had listened to him from the gallery of the town hall, and he had half-expected her to meet him at the door afterward, and to say, as soon as they were out of hearing, "Oh, it was simply great, Eddy!" But they were half-way home, and she had said nothing of the kind.

"Well," he began, awkwardly, when he could bear it no longer, "what did you think of my speech?"

"What you said was all right," she answered, with guarded enthusiasm. "But it seemed to me you didn't make the most of your opportunities."

"Opportunities!" repeated Mr. Siderer. "What do you mean, Effie?"

"Why," Mrs. Siderer replied, "you had ever so many chances to sit down before you did."

Mrs. Blondine—My late husband was jealous to the last.

Mrs. Neighbors—Indeed!

Mrs. Blondine—Yes. Just before he died he requested me not to wear mourning for him—and he knew I looked better in black than anything else.

Daintily Expresses.

The author had been dragged fainting from a crowd of shoppers.

"Almost like my last book," he murmured, recovering his senses.

The listeners, being of delicate perception, knew then that the book had fallen dead from the press.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Against Her Better Judgment.

"Ain't you rather young to be left in charge of a drug store?"

"Perhaps so, ma'am; what can I do for you?"

"Don't your employers know it's dangerous to leave a mere boy like you in charge of such a place?"

"I am competent to serve you, madam, if you will make known your wants."

"Don't they know you might poison some one?"

"There is no danger of that, madam; what can I do for you?"

"I think I better go to the store down the street."

"I can serve you just as well as they can and as cheaply."

"Well, you can give me a 2-cent stamp, but it don't look right."—Houston Post.

Our Tendency to Worship Heroes.

The names of many heroes have been preserved for posterity in the nomenclature of places in the United States, evidence of our tendency to indulge in hero worship to quite an extent. We have postoffices bearing the name of every President down to and including Roosevelt. Only two of his predecessors are lacking in the list of counties. Naturally, the favorite in the naming of towns and counties is Washington, and he is the only President for whom a State has been named. But others than Presidents enjoy these honors. Successful soldiers, sailors, statesmen, editors, authors, inventors, the heroes of ancient history and mythology, and even popular actors and athletes share a like distinction. Our list of postoffices is a long one and contains names from almost every language, living and dead, and chosen on almost every conceivable principle or impulse. Two counties in Kansas present a curious association of ideas. Greeley County has for its capital a town called Tribune, and Ulysses is the county seat of Grant.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Difference.

A. H. Kirkland of Boston is conducting a fight against the moth. He has imported from Zurich a great quantity of moth parasites, and with the help of the little creatures he and the people of Massachusetts hope to obliterate the moth completely.

"Our work may succeed," said Mr. Kirkland recently, "or we may err somewhere, and it may fail. It must succeed if we make no mistakes—but then, you know, mistakes are common."

"Mistakes are common everywhere. I heard a lawyer and a doctor taunting one another this afternoon about them."

"You make a good many mistakes, I suppose," the lawyer said.

"You too, no doubt," said the doctor.

"But doctors' mistakes are often buried deep under ground," said the lawyer.

"Yes," said the doctor, "and lawyers' mistakes often swing six feet in the air!"

Speaking in All Candor.

Miss Prachley—Mr. Spoonamore, have I ever given you good reason to think I preferred you to other young men and wanted to marry you?

IN CONSTANT AGONY.

A West Virginian's Awful Distress Through Kidney Troubles.

W. L. Jackson, merchant, of Parkersburg, W. Va., says: "Driving about in bad weather brought kidney troubles on me, and I suffered twenty years with sharp, cramping pains in the back and urinary disorders. I often had to get up a dozen times at night to urinate. Retention set in, and I was obliged to use the catheter. I took to my bed, and the doctors failing to help, began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The urine soon came freely again, and the pain gradually disappeared. I have been cured eight years, and though over 70, am as active as a boy."

HOUSEHOLD DEPARTMENT

Roman Pie.

Boil and drain a quarter pound of macaroni; it will take about twenty minutes. Put half of it in a well-buttered pie dish; take four or five tomatoes, fresh or tinned; two ounces of grated cheese, two hard-boiled eggs, which must be shelled and cut in slices; a little chopped onions, salt and pepper. Fill the pie dish with this, adding mushrooms, if in season; if not a little cold mashed potato, lentils, rice, etc., may be added. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a small saucepan, add a little tomato liquor, or some of the ripe fruit. Mix with a little water half a teaspoonful of flour, a little mustard or ketchup; add this to the saucepan when it boils, stir well and pour over the pie; cover with a thick layer of breadcrumbs and the rest of the macaroni; put on a little butter and bake for an hour.

Cream of Potato Soup.

Pare three good-sized potatoes; cover them with boiling water, boil five minutes, drain and throw away the water. Cover them with one pint of boiling water; add a slice of onion, a bit of celery cut into small pieces, or a quarter of a teaspoonful of celery seed, and a bay leaf. Cover and cook slowly until the potatoes are tender. Press the whole through a colander. Add one quart of milk. Rub together two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour. Add to the mixture and cook carefully until smooth; add a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and press through a very fine sieve. Reheat and serve at once.

Stuffed Haddock.

Take a good-sized haddock, remove fins and tail, leaving the head on, and thoroughly drying the fish. Prepare a stuffing of two ounces of chopped suet, two tablespoonfuls of breadcrumbs, one dessert spoonful of parsley (or mixed herbs), one egg, salt and pepper. Mix well together, and pack it into the fish. Sew up the slit with needle and thread. Place in well-greased baking-tin, and brush it over with egg or milk. Sprinkle with one tablespoonful of breadcrumbs and bake three-quarters of an hour in a moderate oven, basting it occasionally.

Salt-Rising Bread.

Into a pint of scalding water stir two teaspoonfuls of salt and add enough flour to make a soft dough. Beat for ten minutes, then set in a warm place for eight hours. Into a pint of lukewarm milk stir a teaspoonful of salt, add enough flour to make a stiff batter, then work this into the risen dough. Mix well, cover and set again in a warm place to rise until very light. Turn into a wooden bowl and work in enough flour to make an ordinary bread dough. Knead well, make into loaves and set to rise until light before baking.

White Fruit Cake.

Cream a half cup of butter with a cup of sugar, beat in a half cup of cold water and the whites of six eggs beaten stiff. Add a pint of flour that has been well sifted with a heaping teaspoonful of baking powder, then fold in lightly a quarter cup of minced crystallized cherries, a quarter cup of blanched almonds cut into bits, being sure that all the fruit is plentifully dredged with flour. Flavor with rose water, if it is liked, and bake in a loaf tin in a steady oven. Cover with a white frosting.

Green Apple Pie.

One heaping cupful of pastry flour, one saltspoonful of baking powder, one saltspoonful of salt, and from one-third to one-half of a cupful of butter and lard mixed. Mix the baking powder and salt with the flour and rub in the lard. Mix quite stiff with cold water. Roll out, put the butter on the paste in little pieces, and sprinkle with flour. Fold over and roll out. Roll up like a jelly roll. Divide in two parts and roll to fit the plate.

Amending the Declaration.

"My friends," exclaimed the candidate, in a fine burst of disinterested patriotism, "I don't want this office if you think I am unworthy to fill it!"

Here he stopped and took a drink of water.

"And I might add," he proceeded, "that my candidacy is not the result of any corrupt political bargain."

"Yes, you might," interrupted an old farmer in the audience; "but if you did you'd be lyin' like Sam Hill!"

Didn't Mind the Machines.

"I hope," said the renter of room No. 1197, "that the rattle of the typewriters in my office doesn't annoy you."

"No, sir, it does not," responded the crusty capitalist whose office was No. 1199; "but their gabble does annoy me exceedingly."—Chicago Tribune.
