COURT CONDON, NO. 34, P. O. MEETS Mondays evening of each month in Armory Hall, Condon, Ore. Visiting brothers are requested to meet with us. A warm welcome awaits you.

President Roosevelt has outlined his ideas regarding financial legislation as they will be brought out in his message to Congress. These plans and suggestions were brought out and discussed a few days ago with Mr. Bryan, the probable Democratic nominee for the presidency, while making a call at the White House. The two great leaders of opposite parties were very complimentary to each other and for once, it is said, agreed on each others remedies for the financial situation. The plans, as are to be suggested by the President, will provide for an emergency bank note circulation, which will exist when there is an emergency, and not cause an inflation at times when no real stringency confronts the the financial world. It is to be an elaboration of the currency portion of last year's message but only more to the point regarding legislation. The President favors an asset bank note currency, in the form of approved securities, put aside for adding to the regular bank note currency only in the time of emergency. He will also suggest a graduated tax, beginning at 5 per cent and increasing to 6 7 and 8 per cent on different portions of the issue taken out by a bank. This, he believes, would bring out the needed circulation in time of stress or to meet the crop movements. Roosevelt favored the plan of the Nebraskan on the idea of Government guarantee on National bank deposits, which would establish confidence where it is most needed—among those who hoard their money because they fear to intrust it to the banks. President Roosevelt's idea as made known, is that the Government should not act as a depository of a permanent guarantee fund to meet losses through bank failures, but that it should act as a clearing house to collect from the banks an assessment sufficient to meet losses as they occur, the Treasury first supplying the cash necessary to give immediate recompense to the depositors of the defunct institution. It can be seen that these plans will insure depositors in all National banks of the country against loss by reason of the failure of the banks and will naturally make the National banks very strong institutions in which the depositors can place great confidence and feel secure.

Secretary Cortelyou's plan of selling bonds to relieve the financial stringency is all right, only the people who have money to buy the bonds don't seem to be the ones who are suffering from the financial stringency.

Turning loose that 50,000,000 cold storage eggs has not resulted in any reduction of price in the real article so far as we have heard.

We trust Secretary Taft will be able to get home before his boom is entirely dissipated!

When speaking of the working classes, it might be well for the orators to indicate whether they mean those who work for a living or those who work those who work for a living.

Mr. Bryan says nine-tenths of the Republicans in the country are really Democrats. Possibly this can be verified, the very next time a genuine Democrat runs for President.

After a record-breaking run the Louisiana delivered ten million dollars in gold at New York last week, but a good many of us are still waiting for our "ship to come in."

Even an off-year election makes a lot of work for the men who try to figure out what the results signify.

There have been no cases reported of anyone refusing the new $10 gold pieces because they lack the time honored inscription.
